Red River Valley History

By Wm V. Werking

Origin of Thief River Name

In view of the current interest in local history we believe it is imperative that all facts should be set in order and any gaps in the record filled and any inconsistencies cleared up. In the matter of nomenclature this is sometimes difficult. For example, there still is controversy over the source of the name, Itasca.

This introduces further facts about the origin of the name of Thief river. Readers will recall the story of the hidden band of Sioux and its extermination by the Chippewa. They will recall also the Indian name given the river in recognition of the incident, the word meaning "secret place river".

Recently we have been checking other authorities and have decided to quote or at least recognize the historian, Henry A. Castle, in this connection. Castle tells us that the noted explorer of the Red river valley region and North West Fur company trade promoter, Alexander Henry, Jr., referred to the river as "River aux Voleurs", French, or nearly French, for "River of Thieves." The importance of this in the writer's opinion, is that it shows a third translation before the translation in English, first from the Chippewa, then through two forms of French and finally into English.

Henry visited this section and in his journal he also writes of "Lac aux Voleurs", or Lake of Thieves". Stephen H. Long the explorer who traveled down the Red river valley in 1823, probably was the first man to set the name of the river down on a map. But he didn't see the river. That remained for the eccentric Beltrami to do. He, it will be recalled, had an exciting time finding his way back to Fort Snelling from Pembina and on his maps labels Thief river, "Robbers river". But we are more concerned with the Indian names of the stream listed by Castle. He says Beltrami gave the Chippewa and Sioux titles of the stream. We have not been impressed with Beltrami's work, "Pilgrimages in Europe and America", and are surprised that Castle credits him with accurate translation as he appears to do. Beltrami gave "Womans-atpo" as the name given the river by the Sioux and "Towlact-sibi" the Chippewa title for the stream, both presumably indicating "Thieves'," or "Robbers'" river. We do not find either of these accurate translations of the meaning, to say nothing of the words.

There are many other points that need clearing up while we are on the subject of historical accuracy, or perhaps we should say historical detail, for it usually happens that if we probe deeply enough we find elaborations of known facts rather than corrections.

For instance, in our list of geographic names of Pennington county, we had several that either had no source of its name or an indefinite one. There is Hazel, thought to have been named for the profusion of hazel nuts in that vicinity. But perhaps there was a girl honored in the christening. Who can enlighten us? Mavie, the electric railway village in Clover Leaf township had no name source in the list we furnished and even at this late date it should be known to keep the record straight. But this record, by the way, is very good. It is probable that no other of the 87 counties of the state has a better record in Warren Upham's work. Yet the number of names is relatively small.

Other facts that should be definitely known now, especially by school children, are the names and experiences of the oldest living pioneers in the city and community. The Times special edition of Oct. 6, 1932, listed M. C. Burns as the oldest settler in this section with the exception of members of the LaBree family, of which W. J. LaBree, then sheriff, was the only local representative. We should have a complete record of the first buildings in the city, the first business men, the first city officials, first officers of the fire department and the various organizations and also the first doctors, dentists, lawyers, teachers and others. There should be a complete statistical record of the first births and deaths and marriages. Perhaps they are readily available, but they would be more accessible in a historical work dealing with the city and county.

Another matter of importance from a historical standpoint is study of old trails. We have presented some data on trails in this series, but recently encountered additional facts and propose to elaborate them by further research and prepare a sketch of all the old trails in the community. They are significant since they trace different stages of development, from the exploration era, through the fur trade and overland transportation periods, to lumbering, pioneering and the successive periods since then, each marked by roads of which there still are undoubtedly one or two, for each period, in the county.

The writer would appreciate letters from oldtimers and also from school children interested in local history. Perhaps together we can do much to advance local history and study and interest.

Cheap Feeds are not Cheap

When Final Results Are Considered

A feed selling at a low cost will not produce sturdy chicks for rapid and uniform growth. You must have a mash so balanced as to get the maximum growth in the shortest time possible. A feed so balanced should produce one pound of flesh for every three pounds of feed consumed. A broiler nine weeks old fed a properly balanced ration should weigh from 1½ to 1¾ pounds. This growth can never be obtained by feeding a mixture largely of mill feeds and lacking in vitamins and digestible protein. For maximum growth feed

CANDIDATES' TAX VIEWS SOUGHT BY TAXPAYERS GROUP

First Draft of Questions Are Sent Out to County Associations

Tentative questionnaires have gone out this week to officials of 80 county taxpayers' associations from the office of the Minnesota Taxpayers' Association. The questionnaire, as finally adopted, will be submitted to candidates for legislative office in the coming June primary election.

The tentative questions are now being submitted to officers of county groups throughout the state, so that the forthcoming legislative quiz will represent the tax aspirations and needs of all classes as interpreted by these county taxpayer-groups, officials of the association point out.

The Minnesota Taxpayers Association, and the county groups, as a part of the program to inform citizens of the state concerning the tax views of candidates, will submit the questions as finally adopted.

Secretary Norman A. Borgen states that the answers will likely be back by the early part of next week when the final text will be prepared for distribution to prospective candidates. He states that the response two years ago showed the interest of candidates and voters.

In commenting on the plan to interrogate candidates, James P. McDonnell, president of the State Association, said that "taxpayers have a right to know the attitude of candidates beforehand, and the answers will be printed just as the candidates give them."

"The Taxpayers Association has no interest in the race, creed or party politics of any candidate," says Mr. McDonnell, "but co-operation of all candidates will be appreciated. We feel that the information given will be helpful in determining those who are tax minded, and those who will co-operate for tax relief."

Veteran Women's Survey Instituted by American Legion Auxiliary Here

The national convention of the American Legion auxiliary held at St. Louis authorized the making of a survey of all veteran women. The Thief River Falls Unit has been asked to see to it that every veteran woman in Pennington county is listed.

Veteran women are women who served in the World War as army nurses, yeomanettes, navy nurses, or marinettes. These four classes of women veterans were inducted into service and received discharges from the Army or navy just as did the men who served.

In addition to the list of veteran women, a list is requested of all women who served in the World War, even though they were not part of our regular forces. There were many who served as Salvation Army workers, Y W C A workers, ambulance drivers, entertainers, and the like.

It is important to have this record for historical purposes as well as to assist in case of disability.

It is hoped to have this survey completed by May 15th., and urge all women concerned to telephone or write a card to Mrs. Lloyd Alnes, unit president, or to Mrs. A. M. Campbell, publicity chairman, at once so the necessary reports may be completed.

Preparations Made to Fight Fires in Thief and Mud Lake Regions

Due to the fact that the federal and state governments have spent large sums of money in developing Thief Lake, Mud Lake and Red Lake refuges, and inasmuch as these areas have been already partially re-stocked with elk and other game animals and birds, the Minnesota Forest Service will make every effort to keep fires out of those areas. Superintendent Langley, of the Thief Lake Camp, in co-operation with the forest service, will be in charge of the Thief Lake and Mud Lakes areas under the direction of Dick Williams, district forest ranger. Earl Gilthvedt and Alfred Oaks will be put on duty as smokechasers in the Moose River and Grygla areas. These men will have strict instructions to use every effort to keep the fires out of the game refuges and state forest areas. All violators will be apprehended and the maximum punishment imposed.

MUSIC CONTEST HELD SATURDAY AT CROOKSTON

Several Musical Groups from Local School Compete

The annual district music contest was held in Crookston, Saturday, April 21. This contest included all sections of high school musical study such as chorus, glee club, band, orchestra, and smaller groups. The towns participating in the contest this year were Warren, Crookston, East Grand Forks, Thief River Falls, Fosston, Fisher, Alvarado, Stephen, Newfolden, Mentor, Bronson, Bagley, Beltrami and Climax.

The morning contest program consisted of vocal and instrumental groups, all within the limits of an octet. The vocal groups included mixed quartette, girls' sextette, and boys' double quartettes. In the instrumental groups were included stringed instruments, woodwinds, and brass ensembles. In the latter part of the forenoon a rehearsal for the cantata to be sung in the evening was held, with Professor Rowland as director.

In the afternoon all vocal and instrumental groups larger than an octet contested. The vocal groups contesting in the afternoon including girls' glee clubs, boys' glee clubs, and mixed choruses. The instrumental groups were bands and orchestras. For the afternoon contest the competing towns were divided into two classes, B and C. Crookston, Thief River Falls, Warren, and East Grand Forks were included in Division C. Each town contested only with the towns in its own division. After the contest in the afternoon a second rehearsal for the cantata "The Village Blacksmith" was held.

The festival program in the evening was started with a prelude concert given by the Crookston Civic Orchestra under the direction of Mr. Thoreson, the supervisor of music at Crookston. Following this was a concert by the massed bands of Alvarado, Crookston, Fisher, Fosston, Stephen, Thief River Falls, and Warren, directed by Professor John Howard. The selections played by the bands were "Hall of Fame" by Olivadotti; "Anana Overture" by Boyer; "Valse Artiste" by Sibelius; and "His Honor" by Fillmore. After the concert the cantata, "The Village Blacksmith", was sung by all the students participating in the contest from all the schools. The cantata was directed by Professor Rowland. The guest soloists were Miss Helen de Lisle Evans, soprano, and Erling Lodoen, baritone.

Following the cantata the two judges, Professor Hywel C. Rowland and Professor John Howard, announced their decisions and awarded trophies to the winning schools. Professor Rowland judged the vocal groups and Professor Howard judged the instrumental groups. Two trophies were awarded, one to the winning school in Division B and one to the winning school in Division C. Crookston was presented the trophy as being the winning school in Division B. Nearly all of the groups which Crookston entered in the contest were given an A rating. The school winning the trophy for winning in Division C was Fosston. Although they did not have as high a rating as Crookston they ranked very high.

All Lincoln high school groups, except the Boys' Double Quartette, under the direction of Miss Erma Springen, received C rating. The Boys' Double Quartette was awarded a B decision.

The members of the chorus enjoyed their trip to Crookston and thank Crookston for the hospitality shown them.

Geoffrey O'Hara, Famous Composer and Speaker Will Entertain

Friday, May first, is the date set for the last Lyceum Course program. The program, featuring Geoffrey O'Hara, well-known composer, speaker and raconteur will begin promptly at one o'clock.

Mr. O'Hara, a distinguished after dinner speaker, has traveled from coast to coast addressing clubs and schools. Mr. O'Hara says the secret of his success lies in the fact that he sings and talks so that every man, woman, or child in the audience knows exactly his train of thought, regardless of how much music they know.

Although Mr. O'Hara was Canadian by birth, he is a naturalized American citizen. He is recognized as one of our leading composers of songs. "There is No Death," "K-K-K-Katy," "Give a Man a Horse He Can Ride," "Forward to Christ", and "I Love a Little Cottage" are some of the songs which he has composed. He has composed several operettas, "Peggy and Pirate," "The Count and the Coed," and "Rogues and Vagabonds" are among these.

All students are requested to be on time at this program. They will be admitted upon presentation of their assembly tickets.

JUNIOR CLASS COMMITTEES ARE

Hall Will Be Decorated to Represent an Old Spanish Town

"A Spanish shawl, castanets, a guitar and tango music, the most glamorous prom at which anybody ever swished a skirt." This is the goal of the Junior Class Prom committees. Invitations have been sent to the faculty, the Board of Education, and members of the Junior and senior classes. The hall will be decorated like a courtyard in an old Spanish town. Little tables for four or six will be set with bright plaid cloths and centerpieces of fruit and vegetables. A brunette will wear a Spanish dress and sell flowers from her cart. For a special feature between dances, an exhibition tango will be given. Those who do not trip the light fantastic will not be forgotten in the grand Spanish affair, for cards and Monopoly will be available in the roulette rooms.

The juniors urge all seniors, as well as their own class members, to attend. Everyone is assured an enjoyable evening.

Music for the prom will be furnished by Al Duncan's orchestra. Dorothy Soper is chairman of the refreshment committee; Margaret Paquet, chairman of the decoration committee; and Brunell Erickson, chairman of the entertainment committee.

Animals Can Wiggle Ears

Most animals can wiggle their ears, but this ability is highest in "the beasts that roam over the plain"—cattle, deer, antelopes, horses, kangaroos, rabbits, and the like. Their big ears can be erected or flattened or turned forward and back, with as much ease as the wagging of a tail.

Law to Expel Foreigners

From 1798 to 1801 there was an alien law which authorized the President to expel foreigners dangerous to peace.

MUSIC CONTEST

Every year there are held basket ball tournaments, track meets, and declamation tournaments. But that's not all. There are also music contests. In themselves, they are probably the more cultural, if you wish to think of it that way. Nevertheless, they probably require a higher degree of polish before entering.

A group of natural athletes can make a good track team, can form a basis of a good basket ball team. But with declamation and music contests, there must be a natural talent that is smooth. With that necessarily goes practice and lots of it. Tedious practice, too, especially while studying a contest number.

Perfection is reached as nearly as possible. Then the contest. In a music contest, each group sings but one number, usually different from all the other in that group.

There is no way to accurately determine the winner as in track or basket ball; a judge must decide the winners. The only way: fair enough!

Junior-Senior Prom

The climax of the school social year is here. The event so long awaited and about to be given is the Junior-Senior Promenade. Tomorrow evening the Juniors entertain the seniors in a manner that will rival the Prom of last year. They will offer a unique decoration in a decidedly Spanish strain.

Those seniors who helped with the decorating last year will know of the work involved and will probably appreciate it more than the others. However, that is but a memory; this is in the near future.

For those that do not dance, there will be other entertainment such as Monopoly and cards. There will be fun for all! Come and enjoy Spain as only the juniors can put it!

MAKING THE ROUNDS

Washington School

Esther Tungseth was the only sixth grade student who received a perfect score on problem scale sixteen.

Those in the sixth grade to make a perfect score on Self-testing drill twenty-six are Delores Porter, Bernice Lindland, Maxine Marstad, Homer Matheson, and Carol Sponheim.

The third grade students have begun studying composers. This week they are giving reports on Mozart.

The first grade pupils have started studying the art reader. They are also studying common birds.

Lincoln High School

The salesmen for the Prowler have been doing a good bit of advertising, which has resulted in the sale of most of the school annuals. Anne Hermanson leads all other salesmen in the number of annuals sold. Purchasing a Prowler will be a wise way of spending seventy-five cents, for the Prowler contains 48 pages of pictures of Seniors, class picture of the three lower classes, news of football, basketball, track, besides articles on the Junior and Senior class plays.

Just a few pictures have yet to be taken. The Prowler staff expects to send the Prowler in to publication by May second.

Mr. Claffy returned to school Monday after being confined to his home for several days due to illness. The students were glad to see him return.

Prospective students for next year's Normal Training Department are asked to see Mr. Ilse some time this week. Only a special number of students are admitted each year.

Nome, Alaska, "Anvil City"

Nome, Alaska, was first called Anvil City. The name Nome is derived from Cape Nome, first so called on a chart dated 1849, and said to have been a draughtsman's mistake for the query, name, on the original chart.

INTERCLASS IS BEGUN OUTDOORS

Forty-seven Enter Tennis Tourney Started Last Week

Last week the first outdoor interclass activities this year were started under supervision of Mr. Chalmers. Two diamond ball games were played and a tennis tournament was started. Twenty-seven boys were entered in the tennis matches.

The only match result announced so far was the Wood-Alfred Nelson set with Nelson winning 6-1, 6-1. The other boys going into the second round were Arthur Nelson and Adrian Lorentson, both by default. Other matches to be played were between R. Smith and Erickson, Salveson and Holte, Jess Reglund and Lee, J. Stadum and Bredeson, Cosgrove and Stadum, Pope and Jung, L. Nesse and Melby, Shanahan, Parbst, Jaranson and B. Prichard, Booren and Schmeltzer and J. Nesse and Gunderson. If enough time remains after these matches, a doubles tournament may be staged.

Baseball was also scheduled to start Monday with a game between the juniors and seniors.

Mount Vernon Memorial Highway

The conception of a Mount Vernon Memorial highway originated with citizens of Alexandria in 1887. The idea has been fostered by various national organizations and government officials, but no tangible progress was made toward its fulfillment until an act of congress was passed May 23, 1928, authorizing and directing the United States Bicentennial commission for the celebration of the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of George Washington to take such steps as might be necessary to construct a suitable memorial highway and providing funds for the purpose.

GENERAL MOTORS ENTERTAIN WITH MOTION PICTURE

Short All-Talking Movie Is Shown In School Assembly

The General Motors Corporation presented a three reel moving picture on Tuesday morning, April 28. The movie had to do with safety, power and hydraulics.

The first reel on safety demonstrated how everyone is an engineer in his own way, how in every kind of engineering there are rules and regulations which must be observed lest it might cause a life.

In the second reel, the Chevrolet Company presented power. This showed how fuel-using engines were driven by combustion of this fuel in the pistons.

Reel-three was entitled "Hydraulics". This demonstrated and explained how the working of hydraulics were used to work brakes on power-drive engines.

This half-hour movie was thought by all to be both instructive and entertaining.

FROSH DEFEAT SEVENTH GRADE

Freshmen Girls Win at Basketball by Score 24-23

We are beginning to believe that the seventh graders, by the time they are in high school, will be quite a team. They seem to have the pep, vitality, and cooperation needed by their team. Their ability was displayed in the game which they played against the freshmen on Monday night. The high school girls played a good game, which was necessary, and beat their rivals 24-23.

The players on the teams were: Freshmen—Mary Ann Morben, Dorothy Snelling, Leona Beattland, Margaret Altoff and Bernadette Mulry. Seventh grade—Alverta Lund, Stomata Christo, Marjorie Helquist, Hildegard Green, Dorothy Borgen and Ardith Burrell. Outstanding players were Alverta Lund and Dorothy Snelling. Elaine Hoard substituted for Margaret Altoff when she was put out on fouls.

Both teams played a good game and handled the ball perfectly. There are futures for them, both of them, and especially the seventh graders who have more time!

Eight of Last Year's Lettermen Are Back

With the departure of winter, football is again in the air. The Prowlers, under the leadership of Coach Lee, have been in spring practice for nearly two weeks. Up to last Friday, thirty-six suits had been issued, but on the opening night of training, only eighteen reported for drill. This was largely due to the fact that many of the boys were busy practicing for the annual music contest. Since that is over, football practice will get down to a more serious basis.

There are eight of last year's lettermen back this year. They are Milton Nesse, Jack Adkins, Alfred Nelson, Donald Olson, Forsetoy Hill, Selmer Dicken, Loren Stadum, and James Peterson. Blocking and tackling dummies have been made to aid the players in practice. The first game next fall will be with Red Lake Falls.

FARMER DRIFTS OFF IN WAGON BOX IN ADA FLOOD

Ada.—A cry for help floated into Ada recently when the flood waters were making it rather uncomfortable for a good many people. People hurried a mile south to find Errol Smith and his hired man, Tom Clelan, in a wagon box, clinging to a telephone pole to keep from drifting away. While driving through the rushing water that was passing over the grade on Highway 82, the current forced the box off the running gear and took them with it. Rescuers went back to Ada and got a boat, which finally landed the stranded men on dry land.

SUMMER SCHOOL PLANS AT STATE U ARE MADE PUBLIC

First Session to Commence June 15 and Second July 25th

Summer school at the University of Minnesota is to have one of the earliest openings on record, and probably one of the largest attendances, according to the associate director, Professor T. A. H. Teeter. The first session will begin June 15 and the second July 25, thus permitting teachers to finish work before the opening of public schools about September 1.

A full program of the usual course, with emphasis on those especially sought by public school teachers, will be offered in the two summer sessions, which will also present a group of special projects. Child training course in the Institute of Child Welfare, in economics at the graduate level, special programs at Owatonna by the Owatonna Education project, and an unusually complete series of courses in training for social work will be scheduled for the summer.

This year for the second time the forestry station at Lake Itasca will be turned in the second term for the Biological Field Station. Students who enroll will have a chance to study botany, zoology, wild life management and related subjects at a place where actual field experience can be added to class work.

Among many interesting courses to be presented by the department of home economics will be a travel course, consisting of a trip to Scandinavia under the direction of an instructor, Gudrun Carlson. It will provide five college credits as well as benefits of travel.

Courses for athletics coaches will be combined into an intensive week of training in all intercollegiate sports during the first week of the first session. Regular courses in physical education for men and women will run through the first session.

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an examination for the positions of senior and junior stenographer and senior and junior typist.

This examination is being held for appointment in the Eighth U. S. Civil Service District comprising the states of Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota, and South Dakota.

Applicants must be at least 18 but under 53 years of age. Men and women will be admitted to this examination.

Full information may be obtained from G. Legvold, secretary of the U. S. civil service board of examiners at the post office in this city.

A total of 510,214 dozen eggs were produced by hens on 936 county farms reporting. Turkey population on 780 farms in the county was reported as 6,551 as of January 1, 1935, compared to 5,428 in Red Lake county, 9,904 in Roseau, 18,795 in Marshall, and 17,147 in Polk.

SHORT COURSES PLANNED AT N. W. SCHOOL SHORTLY

4-H Club Week Is Scheduled to be Held Week of June 1 to 6

Arrangements are being made for a number of special short course and meetings to be held on the Northwest School campus during the early summer months. Activities will open with the 4-H club week which is scheduled for June 1 to 6. According to District Club Leader H. A. Pflughoeft, about one thousand 4-H club members, together with their leaders, from thirteen northwestern Minnesota counties will be in attendance.

To insure adequate dormitory, dining hall, and class room facilities the short course will be divided into two sections; one group meeting the first three days of the week, followed by the second group the last three days of the week. Instruction will be presented by members of the Northwest School and Station staff assisted by state Club leaders and county agents. Other meetings include the Women's Camp, June 9-11; the Alumni Summer Reunion, June 27, and Crops and Soils Day, July 13.

Registrar J. W. Milnar and Miss Retta Bede will supervise the Women's Camp program, while R. S. McCall, horticulturist, and E. R. Clark, pure seed specialist, will have charge of the Crops and Soils Day meeting. Community clubs and other groups are being invited to visit the station during the summer months.

Twelve Cattle Die From Eating Grasshopper Bait

Twelve purebred Holstein young cattle, owned by M. L. Enright of East Grand Forks, have died during the past few days as a result of eating from a discarded sack of grasshopper poison on a nearby vacant farm, Enright said Friday night. The cattle were valued at approximately $1,000 and ranged in age from one to three years.

ANNUAL CONTEST OPENS FOR RURAL CORRESPONDENTS

Country Home Magazine Invites Entries in Second Annual Event

The second annual contest to find the champion country newspaper correspondent of the United States was announced today by Wheeler McMillen, editor of The Country Home Magazine. Prizes totalling $400.00 will be awarded by the magazine, and the winner also will get a trip to New York and Washington.

The first contest, last year, was won by Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Mahnkey of Oasis, Mo. She received the title of "Ace Country Correspondent of 1934-35", and is now a regular contributor to The Country Home Magazine, which serves the rural sections of the country, as well as continuing her writing for Forsyth, Mo., Republican.

In announcing this year's contest, Mr. McMillen said that "America's open country raises, year after year, talents that should not forever go unrecognized. We know that in thousands of rural communities throughout the country, men and women are doing far better reporting and writing than many city writers do. The quality of the material entered in the first contest was so remarkable that we determined to make the award annually, as the Pulitzer Prize is awarded each year for distinguished work on city papers."

Entries for the 1935-36 awards should be sent to the magazine by June 15. The contest is open to country correspondents of newspapers in cities of 100,000 population or less. Entries may be submitted by the editors, the writers themselves, or by readers, and the awards will be made by a committee of eminent journalists.

Rules of the Contest

All material submitted must be in the form of clippings, with the name and address of the correspondent, the name and address of the newspaper which carried the item, and the date of publication plainly written in the margin or attached to each clipping.

The date of publication must be between June 1, 1935, and June 1, 1936.

Entries must be marked as submitted in one of two classes:

Class 1—Local letters. Sometimes called "news letters" or "locals"; variegated news of a given community, published in successive paragraphs.

Class 2—Country Correspondence Not Published as Local letters. This includes straight news stories, published under separate captions or headlines; news or article dealing with local farm practices and home betterment, interviews, columns of comment or opinion, letters to the editor, and any other form of rural reporting or journalistic writing which is printed not as part of a local letter, but as an item in itself.

Each correspondent may submit, or have submitted by others, five different clippings, but not more. The total of five may include clippings in both classes, or may be all in one class.

All clippings to be considered in this year's award must be in the hands of the judges by noon of June 15, 1936. Entries should be addressed to Correspondence Committee, The Country Home, 250 Park Avenue, New York.

FINAL SERIES OF MEETINGS ON FARM PLAN

Educational Meetings Will Commence Friday In Pennington

ALL FARMERS ARE URGED TO ATTEND

Work Sheets Submitted on Nearly All Farms in County

Progress in the new Soil Conservation program is being made as rapidly as can be expected and work sheets on practically all farms in the county have been submitted, County Agent R. M. Douglass said today.

There seems to be a number of erroneous ideas about the program, he added, no doubt due to the fact that bad roads and weather prevented many farmers from attending any of the educational meetings.

Another set of educational meetings has been scheduled to start on Friday of this week. Mr. Douglass believes that attendance will be much greater now that roads and weather are more favorable. These meetings will give everyone an opportunity to hear the program explained correctly.

It will be to every farmer's advantage to attend one of these meetings and clear up any questions that may be bothering him at this time.

Following is a schedule of meetings, all of which will start promptly at 8 o'clock:

Smiley and Kratka, Friday, May 8, Smiley hall; Cloverleaf and Goodridge, Friday, May 8, Mavie school; North, Rocksbury and Silverton, Saturday, May 9, court room, Thief River Falls; Black River and River Falls, Saturday, May 9, school house, St. Hilaire; Norden and Numedal, Tuesday, May 12, Dimmen school; Highlanding, Tuesday, May 12, Vaughn school; Sanders, Tuesday, May 12, Seaverson school; Hickory and Deer Park, Wednesday, May 13, Lundeen school; Star and Reiner, Wednesday, May 13, Dist 59; Wyandotte and Mayfield, Friday, May 15, Bruggeman school; Bray and Polk Centre, Friday, May 15, Luttner school.

4-H GIRLS LEADER GIVES DETAILS OF ROOM FURNISHING

Eight Girls Already Have Enrolled in New County Project

"The ingenious girl has many ways in which to express her character and ability when she furnishes her room" says Miss Thelma Sohe, girls' 4-H club leader. "In some cases she may have a few fine pieces to start with, or may be able to add a very good new piece, but our most interesting room furnishing problem consists of making the most of what we have and reclaiming old pieces.

"In Pennington County 8 4-H girls have enrolled in the room furnishing project: Naomi Johnson, Myrtle Nelson and Edna Prestby, Hazel, Alice Jorde and Elizabeth Jorde, Northfield, Helen Johnson, River Falls club; Lucille Lindblom, Bray and Polk Centre club; and Isabelle Rosendahl, St. Hilaire Club.

"Every girl in Pennington county is invited and urged to take part in room furnishing or any other 4-H project for 1936 and to get in touch with the county leader or assistant county agent, Mr. Grow.

The prerequisites for the room furnishing project include 3 years of clothing work or the girl must be 15 years old and have done the equivalent of the clothing project.

Each member must complete five articles selected from one unit, writing or reading unit, closet or window treatment unit, and keep a record of work, materials used and the cost.

N. W. SCHOOL MAN TO VISIT COUNTY WEEK OF MAY 11-16

Will Inspect Various Projects Being Conducted by Students

Mr. R. J. Christgau, of the Northwest School, will be in Pennington county during the week of May 11-16 inspecting the various projects in agriculture and home economics which are being carried out on the farm and in the homes of Pennington county students during the summer months.

This work, which supplements the classroom instruction, is required of all students prior to graduation. Students are given an opportunity to select one or more projects from a wide variety of farm and home activities including herd management, purebred production, tractor operation, windbreak plantings, home beautification, sewing, and cooking.

During the first trip of inspection, instruction is given each student as to method of organizing and developing the project, together with the keeping of complete records. The plan of offering six months intensive class and laboratory instruction, followed by six months practical work on the farm or in the home, has been found to be an effective method of presenting vocational education.

BIG AUDIENCE FOR LAST PTA MEET OF YEAR

Donald Chalmers Elected President Succeedings A. M. Senstad

STYLE SHOW BY GIRLS IS PLEASING FEATURE

B. O. Norby and E. M. Bennes Preside Over Bond Burning Rites

The largest audience of the year, taxing the accommodations of the Lincoln high school assembly room, Monday evening enjoyed a varied program presented by the Parent-Teacher association at its final meeting of the spring season.

In the annual election of officers Donald Chalmers was named president, succeeding A. M. Senstad, who served the past year. Others elected include C. E. Hellquist, first vice president; Mrs. T. C. Orme, second vice president; Miss Clara Halvorson, secretary; and Fred Lorentson, treasurer. The names of those elected were submitted by the nominating committee, made up of Mrs. J. S. Nesse, Rev. E. L. Tungseth and Miss Lyda Batten.

One of the most interesting features of the program was a style show in which 100 girls in the home economics department participated under the direction of Miss Inez Lunder and Miss Roane Dahlin, instructors. With accompanying music provided by a four-piece orchestra, the models presented a wide variety of garments of their own handiwork, including sleeping and lounging pajamas, sports frocks, woolen dresses, children's garments, cotton frocks and silk dresses and accessories.

C. W. Pope, head of the industrial arts department, told of the work of his department and said it aims at a closer coordination of mind and hand, and that it seeks to give a general knowledge of tools and materials and their uses rather than a knowledge of a specific line of work.

A bond burning ceremony was staged by President B. O. Norby of the board of education and E. M. Bennes, past president who served in that capacity for many years. One of the collection of retired bonds, which with interest represent total payments of approximately $250,000 since 1919, was burned on the stage, and the remainder was consigned to the school janitors to burn in the furnace.

Mr. Bennes recounted the history of the school district's funded debt, and told how the total outstanding had been reduced from $295,000 in 1921 to $118,000 February 1 of this year, when a $22,000 block was retired. All remaining bonds, he said, are held by the state of Minnesota and are drawing interest at rates as low as three per cent, testifying to the good credit enjoyed by the district. He added that the remaining bonds would be paid off as rapidly as possible without unduly burdening the taxpayers of the school district.

The musical portion of the program included groups of three songs by the boys' and girls' glee clubs of the Knox, Northrop and Washington schools under the direction of Miss Erma Springen. Following the program those present inspected exhibits in the home economics and industrial arts departments, and lunch was served by the home economics girls.

Two decisions of Judge M. A. Brattland rendered in district court in Marshall and Pennington county district court were upheld in decisions handed down by the Minnesota supreme court in actions brought by Roy Wiseth, farmer of the Goodridge community, who was represented by Attorney H. O. Chommie. In one case the high court affirmed a Marshall county district court award to Wiseth of 250 bushels of sweet clover seed harvested by Oscar W. Johnson, or, in lieu, $490 damages. The second case was a replevin action brought by Wiseth to obtain possession of sweet clover seed harvested by Leonard Tenold on another tract which Wiseth had seeded.

HOSPITALS TO BE GIVEN ATTENTION TUESDAY, MAY 12

Will be Anniversary of the Birth of Florence Nightingale

One person out of 15 in the entire state of Minnesota needs hospital care each year, and about one out of five of these is in some hospital right now.

Those figures were compiled from an exhaustive study of the records of the more than 200 hospitals in the state by the Minnesota Hospital Service Association today, in preparing for the statewide observation of Hospital Day, May 12.

"The importance to the public of hospitals is shown very clearly in those figures," Victor Anderson, manager of Abbott Hospital and president of the Minnesota Hospital Association, said. "Hospital Day is being arranged throughout the state by committees from the Hospital Association, and in the Twin Cities, the Hospital Council of both cities is making the arrangements. The Hospital Service Association is co-ordinating all the work.

"Hospital Day is the anniversary in 1820 of the birth of Florence Nightingale, the mother of modern nursing. It is very appropriate that Hospital Day be observed then. All hospitals in the state will hold open house, inviting the public to visit them, go through them, get acquainted with them and their problems.

"The fact that so many persons in the state need hospital care each year shows the important place being taken in the life of the state by hospitals. We hope that the public will see more and more that hospitals are not places to go when desperately ill but places to go to get the last possible medical care and attention so that they may recover more rapidly."

W. C. T. U. News Notes

Evanston, Ill.—A widespread effort on the part of liquor pro- [illegible] actment of prohibition in the nation's capital were charged today by the Washington office of the W.C.T.U.

The W.C.T.U. alleges quotations from congressional speeches were manifestly intended to "whitewash the facts" and that wets, through use of "letters to the press," have sought to create an impression dry petitioners are ignorant of actual conditions in the capital, "which these apologists for legalized liquor claim have greatly improved since repeal."

One of the writers, the W.C.T.U. asserts, is a former secretary to Capt. William H. Stayton of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, who is now director of Repeal Associates, Washington wet publicity bureau.

A survey by the W.C.T.U. lists 1,874 licensed liquor places in the District of Columbia as compared with 267 in the year prior to wartime prohibition, declares that retail liquor dealers have been known to cash relief checks, and claims 20,602 arrests for intoxication were made in Washington during 1935, 22% of them on one week end, and 1193 of them women.

Church Etiquette

1. Come early.
2. Never pass up the aisle during the reading of the Scripture Lesson. You distract others and destroy the effect of the Word.
3. If the sermon has begun, take a seat near the door, even if you are a prominent member.
4. Be devout in every attitude—the church is not a theater. You come to worship God, not to whisper, lounge, or sleep.
5. Be thoughtful of the comfort of others. Never make a hay stack of yourself at the end of a pew and expect others to crawl over you to reach a seat.
6. Help strangers to find and [illegible] church members. Treat them with the same courtesy as you would if they should visit you in your own home.
8. Never put on your wraps during the last hymn they will still be there after the benediction.
9. Never rush for the door after the benediction as though the church were on fire.
10. Remember at all times that you are in the House of the Lord.

His eyes opened still wider when he opened the bill fold and found it to be crammed with currency. That afternoon he was informed that Miljan Engebretson had lost his pocketbook and Moe returned it to that gentleman, so his "thrill" was short lived.

Growing With Your Child

So much has been said and written and felt, during these last years, about the boy and girl who can't find jobs, that I wonder if we aren't dragging down their confidence in themselves, their abilities and their future. Their world has reechoed long enough, it seems to me, to the sighs of discouraged and embittered older persons whose lives have often, it is true, been disrupted through no fault of their own. Adolescents have seen on all sides the chaotic conditions into which older boys and girls than themselves have stepped as they left school. They have come into more or less contact with the whole huge lumbering machine by which relief and public works and alphabetical arrangements and rearrangements have attempted to cope with a problem so difficult and many-sided that it can hardly be envisaged.

But have we considered how all this doleful talk, and these long faces, and the reiteration of our misery may be affecting the boys and girls whose outlook on life itself is just in process of formation? The adolescent is bound to be torn, to a certain degree, between the desire to be grown up, to assume the responsibilities of mature life, and the longing to remain in the comfortable state of childhood and continue to let things be done for him. If he finds the outlook too hard and unattractive, his natural inclination to face the future with enthusiasm and joyous expectation may be swamped in a cynical feeling that the adults may as well keep their old world that they have got into such a mess.

Now there are still chances for youth. Boys still deliver telegrams, and drive trucks, and work canning factories in the summer. They still have paper routes, and jerk soda in drug stores. There are still hardware stores, and groceries, and plumbing shops in which fathers need help. With the increase in the amount of summer vacation travel, there have grown up any number of new kinds of opportunities in connection with tourist camps, overnight cabins, roadside eating places, and so on. Radio in its various branches has brought about many new types of job for as many different types of trainee. There is a demand, summer and winter, for young musicians to play at parties, dances, teas, etc. Law or medical school, as well as college, has been paid for in many a case, by putting aside all idea of personal leisure time satisfaction, and looking away for someone's else enjoyment all through Christmas vacation and every other season popular for parties. It was two boys who were desperate for an idea as to how they could continue to finance their education who first thought up the idea of a diaper-washing service; which idea of theirs has spread all over the country, much to the joy of the overburdened mothers of young babies.

Opportunities still exist, they are a little harder to run down, that's all. But the race has usually gone to the strong, and how is strength acquired except through practice in running! Let's stop discouraging our young people before they ever hear the starting gun, by a pessimistic, defeatist attitude that takes all the ambition out of them.

PHEASANT CRASHES THRU CAR WINDSHIELD

Lindstrom.—A pheasant hen crashed through an open window of a car driven by Almar Alsen of Chisago City last week with practically no damage to the pheasant but causing a mighty dangerous situation for the driver. Alsen was on his way home from Lindstrom when the bird came through the window at a terrific speed. Alsen received the force of the blow on one arm, almost throwing the car out of control. The pheasant was knocked "cold" for a time, but recovered shortly after. The bird, which is suffering from a broken leg, will be liberated with a band on it.

Our Bird Neighbors

By C. B. Hovie

Prairie Chicken

When the snow leaves the ground bare in places as the spring moves along we hear the resonant Boom-Boom-Boo of the prairie chicken or pinnated grouse. This great game bird at times is very abundant in this locality, then practically disappears for a few seasons, to increase again to its former numbers.

Brown and black barred across its back and chest, it has the peculiarity of growing fur-like feathers on its legs and toes as winter comes. In summer and fall the legs are brownish yellow with only a thin feather line. Some have the idea that the bird in summer and the one in winter are of different species but there is no ground for this idea.

Many times I have found their nests with 9 to 14 yellowish white eggs half the size of a small chicken's egg, on the ground in fields or brush lands. I also have seen their dance when a dozen or so individuals bow, strut, run around in circles and by inflating and deflating the large orange colored skin seen on each side of the neck make the Boom-Boom-Boo sound.

Every sportsman and bird lover who makes its acquaintance admires, respects and preserves this grand native game bird.

Potatoes Prove Value in Diet, Asserts State Medical Association

Doctors have now come to the rescue of the despised potato which of late years has fallen into undeserved disrepute. According to today's bulletin from the Public Health Education Committee of the Minnesota State Medical Association, the potato has many important uses in the body's scheme of things. It is rich in vitamins and in energy-producing materials and easy to digest besides.

Those who avoid potatoes under the impression that they are mostly starch and wholly dedicated to increasing the waistline are in great error.

"Diet faddists have condemned the potato unjustly as they have several other good foods, white bread among them," according to the physicians' bulletin. "They dropped potatoes from their lists as deficient in vitamins and minerals, acid producing, hard to digest, favoring gas formation and white.

"It happens that potatoes are actually rich in vitamins, particularly in vitamins C and B and especially when the peel is left on. And they do not lose all their vitamin content even when the peel is taken off. They supply mineral salts, too, as well as starch—which, in itself, is energy producing and useful and they are especially easy to digest. They are so easy to digest, in fact, that they are among the first foods that can be safely given to small babies.

"Potatoes are white, of course. But only faddists and false theorists oppose white foods on general principles. The same people oppose white bread, also without reason. Both should be part of the diet of all normal persons."

GOLFER MAKES FIRST HOLE-IN-ONE FOR YEAR

Fergus Falls—Carl Gunerius, caretaker at the Riverside Golf grounds at Fergus Falls, has the honor of being the first golfer in the state to make a hole-in-one this year. Playing with Frank Shay, R. E. Lincoln, and Roy Martin, Gunerius lashed out a nice tee shot on number eight hole to sink a shot of 165 yards. As well as being the first hole-in-one for the year, Gunerius has the honor of being the first to make a hole in one shot on the Fergus Falls links, the feat never having been accomplished before.

Improper Footwear Is Cause of Ingrown Toe Nails, Doctors State

Nearly three-fourths of the patients operated on for ingrown toe nail are women. This fact reported recently in a study of a large number of operations for this painful condition is cited in a bulletin issued by the Public Health Eduction Committee of the Minnesota State Medial Association today.

The reason that many more women than men suffer this excrutiatingly painful affliction is laid by the physicians largely to the fact that women wear tight shoes with high heels in which the body weight is thrust forward and down into the toes.

Ingrown toenail is not the only painful affliction that follows in the train of tight shoes and high heels. Disturbed body balance and poor posture, broken arches and disfigured feet are even more common. They are the portion of the majority who wear the popular high heeled pointed toed and thin soled shoes.

"The healthfulness and good sense of the modern woman's dress down to the ankle line is in fantastic contrast to the primitive savagery of their footwear", according to the bulletin.

"It is a curious fact which a passing fashion does not wholly explain that women's shoes grow worse, from both a hygienic and economic standpoint, instead of better, each year.

"Thin, narrow, stilt heeled slippers were once reserved for evening parties. Now they are advertised and slavishly purchased for all day wear and that in spite of the fact that in these days the majority of young women have jobs that require them to be about and on their feet during regular working hours."

The Household

By LYDIA LE BARON WALKER

"IF YOU would keep your friend, don't lose sight of him too long. Write when you can, remind him of yourself, and you shall not lose the thread of his life." These sentiments give pause for thought in friendships, where absence interrupts personal social life.

The year is yet young. Did you forget some one when you sent out your Christmas and New Year's cards? Or were you the one to be forgotten? It matters little which was the case, so long as there was the oversight. A letter can fill the gap, and eliminate time and space so far as friendship is concerned.

A short note will keep the light of friendship burning, not as brightly as a newsy letter telling the things he or she would so delight in knowing. Nevertheless the note makes contact. Perhaps your friend will send you a newsy letter once she finds you still hold the friendship dear.

Richness of Friendships.

Friendships are among the worthwhile things in this life. The more we have the richer is our existence. It is not enough that we think sometimes of our friends. Mental telepathy has not yet reached the stage of development where thought transference can do, without words either spoken or penned. We may feel the atmosphere of our friends about us, but this does not suffice as satisfactory communication. We long to have evidence of their remembrance.

So it is that a letter is hailed with joy, not that we really believe ourselves forgotten without it, but that we cherish the thought that some one has the wish to talk to us and hopes to have a response from us. Correspondence strengthens the bonds of friendships. We have it in our power to loosen the bonds or bind them closer through our negligence of, or attention to, writing letters.

Power of Emotions.

Personal emotions run the gamut from the depths of despair to the heights of exaltation. Few persons have the experience of running the whole scale, but enough have for it to be no impossible feat. Some keep chiefly on the gloomy side, with occasional flights into the higher realms of joy. Some have the good fortune to dwell in the upper strata of pleasantness. Most persons, however, live in the middle area, shifting easily and continually from moderate mental comfort to annoyance and depression, never fully happy and never utterly despondent.

It should be the effort of every one to get into the higher atmosphere, and live as happy an existence as possible. It is important to live in this higher realm where the oxygen of emotions is refreshing. Health thrives best there. Life seems more worth living. Existence is not dull. Pleasant adventures in the everyday round of occupations are welcomed. It is worth fighting one's way up into this life where content and enjoyment walk side by side. For family peace and pleasure these things are necessary.

A Mighty Force.

It is a mistake to discount emotions, as many persons are inclined to do in this age. Emotions are powerful. They must be controlled and held in check like any great force. More than that they should be understood.

Children are emotional. They have not learned to manage these elemental forces. By example and precept, by encouraging the best, and helping the little folk to feel the advantages of a firm grasp on the higher emotions, parents can help their children to build a firm foundation for comfort and content, and for a fuller measure of happiness throughout their entire lives.

Rolled Wafers.

¼ cup butter
½ cup powdered sugar
¼ cup milk
⅞ cup bread flour, or 1 cup cake flour
½ teaspoon vanilla

Cream butter, add sugar gradually, and milk very slowly, then add flour and flavoring. Drop by teaspoonfuls far apart on a greased cookie sheet. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until light brown. Place pan in warm place and take off cookies; roll while warm over handle of wooden spoon. If cookies become too hard to roll, place in oven to soften.

Painting Preparation

When preparing to do a painting job, be sure that your paint is well mixed. It's a good idea to pour the paint from one can into another and back again four or five times.

"Did you stay long in New York?"
"No; got short very quickly."

Mysteries of the Mart

"Do you think a lottery might help in meeting government expenses?"

"No," said Mr. Dustin Stax. "It is bad enough for people to gamble on tips from financial touts. It will be even worse if our speculators get to depending on dream books."

Disciplined Joy

"Of course, you want everybody to be happy?"

"Perfectly true," said Senator Sorghum. "And my constituents have been made to understand that for anyone who refuses to be happy some compulsory method of discipline will be found."

"I think so," replied Farmer Corntossel. "His work on the farm appears to have helped him; his personal vocabulary helps about the same as he uses on a mule."

Doris—Not yet, dear. I've told him about your drinking and your gambling and your debts, but I couldn't tell him everything at once.—Stray Stories Magazine.

Tall Tales

As told to: FRANK E. HAGAN and ELMO SCOTT WATSON

Pat Scanlan's Triple Play

THE grandfather of James E. McGrath of Evanston, Ill., was T. D. Scanlan, one of the pioneers who laid the first transatlantic cable out of Hearts Content, Newfoundland. He was also the father of Jim's uncle, Patrick Scanlan.

Pat Scanlan was one of the most powerful swimmers and fishermen Canada or New England has seen. Often he plunged into lakes and swam them with a surveyor's chain in his mouth. And while doing this, Pat always had time to select the likeliest fishing pools.

His finest fishing is family history, handed down to Jim McGrath. It happened in upper New York state and Jim is positive it's true because Pat yelled so loudly it shook the McGrath house, down in Brooklyn.

You see, Pat was fishing in this lake he had seen while nibbling a surveying chain. It was near dusk and he was casting three hooks near the shore for fish he sometimes in shallow water when it gets dark.

Pat cast and hooked a trout. He played the fish a short time, then gave a determined jerk to establish who was boss. As Pat jerked he snared a muskrat on the second hook. That was too much so he whooped and threw the double catch high in air, casting trout, muskrat and line back toward the water with a mighty "swoosh."

And when Pat heaved the line toward the water he caught a humming bird on the third hook. He always claimed it was the only unassisted triple play of that season.

Tenderfoot, Beware!

WHEN a tenderfoot disappears out West some old-timer is certain to shake his head sadly and say: "I reckon a toperito or a tripodero must of got him."

The tripodero has only two legs, arranged like a telescope, so that it can raise or lower itself at will. Its head has a long muzzle with a mouth like a gun barrel. As it lurks among the brush, it raises and lowers itself on its telescopic legs to watch for approaching game.

When the tripodero sees a tenderfoot come jouncing along the trail on horseback, it gets behind a boulder, tilts itself at just the right angle and points its muzzle at the unsuspecting tenderfoot. At the right moment it blows out a clay pellet which shoots the taste right out of the tenderfoot's mouth. One week and three hours later he dies of starvation.

If the tenderfoot is lucky enough to get past the tripodero, the toperite may get him. It is a curious animal with a long rope-like beak which ends in a slip-noose. As the tenderfoot rides singing along the trail past the place where the toperite is lurking, it shoots out this natural lariat, the noose tightens around the luckless Easterner's throat and he chokes to death on the bars of music that stick crosswise in it.

It is estimated that a total of 4,163 tenderfeet have fallen victims to either the tripodero or the toperite in the West since June, 1887.

Beware of Pin Pricks and Scratches, State Medical Group Advises

Many permanent disabilities and deaths by blood poisoning originate in pin pricks and scratches on the finger tips.

These pricks and scratches are therefore the injuries the layman should watch out for especially, according to a bulletin issued by the Public Health Education Committee of the Minnesota State Medical Association.

Broken bones, major cuts and bruises are likely to receive skilled attention in a hurry because neither the accident victim and his friends need any persuasion to call for expert help.

The prick or scratch on the finger appears of no consequence, on the other hand, and is generally neglected, even in industrial plants where first aid kits and instruction to workmen are part of the requirements of the institution.

The result is that hand injuries cause a surprising number of permanent deformities and even deaths among people of all classes and pursuits.

Recent studies made by the University of Minnesota bear out this observation and call for special first aid care for trifling injuries, particularly those that occur on the hands.

They call also for thorough and frequent hand washing so as to rid the finger tips that are so likely to be injured of infection carrying dirt.

Iodine should be applied promptly even to the smallest finger scratch and the injury protected by a small, taped, sterile bandage from further injury and contact with dirt.

"BORROWS" CAR FOR 1800 MILE JAUNT

Fergus Falls.—Someone "borrowed" Dr. M. L. Wright's car recently and after driving it 1,800 miles and stripping it of heater, fan, license plates and robe, abandoned it only three blocks from the Wright home a few days later. Where the thieves had been in the meantime is not known, but from the mileage the car had traveled, it is assumed that they had a long trip to make and preferred to use Dr. Wright's car rather than "hoof it." Apparently the thief or thieves intended to leave the car in front of the Wright home when they returned from their little jaunt, but ran out of gas only three blocks away. It appears that after taking off the heater, the car was run without water in the radiator, and this damaged the engine, but aside from the wear and tear of the 1800 miles, little other damage was done. An attempt to take fingerprints from the car proved futile, as the thief or thieves had apparently used cotton gloves.

NO HERDS OF DEER FOR WORTHINGTON; BUCK DIES

Worthington.—The first attempt to stock the "wilds" around Worthington with herds of deer has been proved unsuccessful. Only one of the two deer ordered by that city survived the trip from Mahnomen; the other died from a broken neck sustained in trying to break out of the crate in which they were shipped. The one which lived was taken to the disposal plant and will be kept there temporarily, city officials said. Both were young animals and it is not known whether or not the city will attempt to secure a mate for the remaining deer. They were shipped from a resort after arrangements had been made with the state game and fish department to permit their transfer to Worthington.

OLD WELL GOES DRY; HORSE FINDS NEW ONE

Lakefield. — As horse stepped through a board covering an old well or cistern and brought to light a hole which had been hidden for 50 years at Lakefield. Art Krueger was driving the team and plowing the garden at the W. W. Child home when one of the team floundered in a hole, its hind leg breaking through a board covering. Upon investigation it was discovered the covering hid a well, about two feet square at the top and widening to about six feet with a depth of over 20 feet and constructed of brick. Mrs. Child's parents had lived there for 30 years, but no one in the family had any knowledge of the well. The accident was a rather fortunate one, for a well nearer the house had gone dry very recently, and if the newly discovered hole can be put into shape it will take the place of the old well.

William Tell Story Liked

Whether the accounts of the heroic deeds of William Tell be based on actual facts or mere tradition, it is a story which is still read and retold with enthusiasm in every Swiss school and every Swiss home. A dignified monument to the gallant archer of Burglen near Altdorf stands in the latter village, but the most beautiful of all tributes to this pioneer champion of Swiss liberty is to be found at Tells Platte, between Brunnen and Flueien, on the spot where Tell leaped ashore from the boat in which he was being carried off as a prisoner by Gessler.

Keep Tree Roots Moist, "U" Forester Advises

Some persons can plant hundreds of trees without losing one, whereas others have difficulty in making even a few trees grow, says Parker O. Anderson, state extension forester, University Farm, St. Paul.

"The difference", he points out, "lies in the observance of a few simple principles of selection and care. Among these are the selection of long-lived, hardy species and the choice of a location well adapted to tree culture. Then the roots should be kept moist until the trees are planted. The hole or trench in which the trees are set should be large enough to permit planting without crowding, and the earth should be packed well around the roots.

"It is best, also, to leave a slight depression around the trees so that the soil will hold and absorb moisture."

The correct methods of planting are described and pictured in a pamphlet entitled, "Planting Process." Advice on selecting trees and arranging them in shelterbelts is published in Minnesota Special Bulletin 168, entitled "Planting the Standard Windbreak." Either or both of these bulletins may be obtained free from a county agent, high school agriculture instructor, or from the Bulletin Office, University Farm, Minn.

Many business and financial institutions in the state, urgently in need of funds to sustain themselves, were benefitted by these loans. The total amount of credit extended by the R. F. Minnesota Requires 50,000 Colts Annually

To provide the replacements necessary to maintain its present horse population, Minnesota needs about 50,000 colts foaled each year, reports A. L. Harvey, University Farm specialist in horses who is secretary of the Minnesota Stallion Registration Board.

In 1935 there were about 750,000 horses on farms in the state. Assuming that the average life of a horse is 15 years, the number of colts needed annually for replacement would be one-fifteenth of 750,000 or 50,000 colts.

Replies to a recent questionnaire circulated among stallion owners indicate that the 1,374 stallions licensed for public service in 1935 bred an average of about 50 mares each, and that about 53 per cent of all mares bred produced live foals. If the same number of stallions are used at the rate in 1936 and produce a corresponding proportion of live foals, the number of colts raised will be somewhat under 50,000 allowing for a further death loss of 15 percent during the first year.

Of the 1,374 stallions licensed in 1935, over half were Percherons, which numbered 785, or 57 per cent. Belgians numbered 505, or 37 percent.

Fever Is Chief Defense of Body when Infection Sets in, Physicians Say

Among the newer methods of medical science for curing disease none is more interesting than fever treatment.

There was a time, according to today's bulletin from the Public Health Education Committee of the Minnesota State Medical Association, when fever was regarded as an evil to be avoided and reduced at all costs.

This conception changed when researchers discovered that fever is the body's chief defense when infection invades it. Measures are taken to reduce fever when it rises too high for safety, of course. But fever destroys germs and it is now generally accepted that the disease, itself, and not the fever should be attacked first.

It was only a short time ago that a daring physician first undertook to use artificially induced fever to treat certain infectious diseases that defied treatment by any other means.

This physician used malaria germs to induce the fever because he knew that he could control malaria fever to a considerable degree by use of a quinine. The results in some cases were startling. But malaria germs and also other means of raising fever by inducing foreign substances into the body proved hard to control and impossible to use in some cases.

Machines that are capable on inducing fever that can be raised and lowered at will have recently proved to be practical and effective in many of these cases.

The use of these machines on actual patients is to be an important feature of the demonstration section at the annual meeting of the Minnesota State Medical Association at Rochester, May 4, 5 and 6.

Huge Lac Qui Parle WPA Project Started; Will Create Big Lake

Work on the $2,250,000 Lac Qui Parle combined water conservation and flood control project began late last week, conserva*tion department officials revealed.* The project, which is being sponsored by the Works Progress Administration in cooperation with the department of conservation, entails the diversion of the Chippewa river into the Lac Qui Parle reservoir, creating a lake about 40 miles long. It is expected the project will require about a year to complete and will give employment to between 1,500 and 2,500 men. Removal of railroad tracks and reconstruction of several large highways are included in the project. Clearing ground and excavating for the dam structure on the Chippewa river began last week.

Sloping Smokestacks

According to one authority, smokestacks were sloped backward to eliminate draft because of the theory that there was less likelihood of air pressure from the top of the stacks; however, marine engineers have found vertical stacks to be just as efficient.

WE ARE NOW BOND BURNERS

The burning of nearly two hundred thousand dollars of paid up school bonds at the Parent-Teacher association meeting Monday night might have justified a community celebration of more ambitious proportions. Retirement of so large a portion of the district's debt in less than fifteen years is an achievement that could be possible only in a solid and substantial community. And if the district continues to retire its debt at the same rate during the next few years, the slate will be wiped entirely clean in the early forties.

There are those who argue that the remaining indebtedness, which draws a low rate of interest, should be spread over a longer period of years. And there is much merit to the idea. The present crop of taxpayers are entitled to relief. A part of the cost of our substantial school buildings might properly be shifted to that coming generation that will still use them.

The one reason for questioning the wisdom of such a policy is the probability that within a short period of time more buildings will have to be erected. Building facilities for the elementary grades are ample to meet the needs of a greatly increased population but the high school rooms are already too crowded and even a slight population increase will make it necessary to provide more room. And when another addition to the high school can no longer be postponed it probably will be well to provide new quarters for the junior high school at the same time, replacing the old Central building.

While these are not immediate problems, they are not so remote that they can be ignored. It is possible that present prospects of the city's growth are being overestimated. Certainly it would be unwise to expand the school system now on the mere prospects of future needs. But the next year or two will indicate quite clearly the direction in which we are moving. The thing to do now, it would seem, would be to continue to improve the financial condition of the district as much as possible so that if it does become necessary to expand in a few years, such expansion will not present a serious financial problem at that time.

But getting back to the pleasant ceremony of Monday evening, it is encouraging to know that as a community we have survived a very difficult period and that we have now reached that stage of development in which we are retiring old debts more rapidly than we are creating new ones. Present taxpayers may have reason to grumble but the coming generation will have no reason to complain about how things were managed in this community back in the twenties and thirties.

According to the 1930 census there were forty-nine million people employed at the peak of prosperity. Of these, twelve million were employed in the production of raw materials such as agriculture, mining, forestry and fishing. Another fourteen million were employed in manufacturing and construction; ten million were engaged in trade, communication and transportation; and thirteen million in clerical, domestic, professional and public service. Of the fourteen million engaged in manufacturing and construction, three and one-half million were employed in construction, leaving ten and one-half million as the peak of employment in manufacturing or what might be called industry proper. It is estimated that eight and one-half million people are now employed in industry. It is obvious, therefore, that when the President declares industry must absorb the ten million unemployed people in the country, he is talking for campaign purposes only.

One of the reasons we are getting less water in the river here is because there is no run-off from the Thief Lake watershed. And it probably will be several years before any water flows over the dam that was constructed several years ago at the outlet of the lake, the water level still being two feet below the top of the dam. That additional two feet of water must spread out over a large territory, and about that time the people in that neighborhood are going to wonder why gates were not provided at the dam so the lake level could be controlled.

Reports indicate that no new processing taxes will be imposed until after election. In the meantime the soil conservation program will be financed with borrowed money. Well, as long as the government's credit lasts we are going to have a lot of fun.

Daniel C. Roper, Secretary of Commerce, suggested the other day that it might become necessary to make a survey of unemployment in the country to determine the number of people out of work and at what kind of work they were employed before the depression. It might become necessary to do that, he said. The new dealers have been accused of many stupidities, but it is difficult to believe that after three years of intensive struggle with the unemployment problem they still have made no attempt to analyze that problem. In the meantime surveys of every conceivable kind have been conducted by the government. But none on the really important problem of unemployment.

Golf has been considered a rich man's game, but it is going to be a comparatively inexpensive form of recreation locally this summer. And judging by the number of people who are threatening to play, the local course is going to be so crowded that on busy days flying golf balls will be as thick as snowflakes in a blizzard. It is to be hoped that this new venture will prove sufficiently profitable for the city so that a slight decrease in light and power rates will soon be possible.

Only about a month ago we spent several sleepless nights worrying about the damage that would be done by the flood waters that would wash down this way when the huge snowdrifts melted. Well the snowdrifts melted but the floods didn't come and another perfectly good worry was wasted.

With the new uniforms and Sam Browne belts the Thief River Falls police force is a snappy looking organization. With this improvement, along with a police car, a new fire truck, a good band and a prize winning drum corps, we should be able to have a parade almost any old time.

TAXING A $500 INCOME

(Duluth Herald)

Word comes from Washington that the treasury department has been studying a plan for a broader income tax base, in other words, for taxing the incomes which escape the present federal limits of $1,000 for the single person and $2,500 for the married. The lower limits proposed are said to be $500 for a single person and $1,000 for a married one, which means that a single person making $600 or a married person making $1,100, would be taxed on $100 taxable income, at the rate for those lower brackets, which would probably be very small.

It is not likely that anyone will push this idea very strongly in the election year of 1936, or even care to talk much about it, but the people can be quite sure that it is on the way, unless a sharp change in spending policies takes place soon.

While it seems pitiful that the United States government should have to consider dipping into such thin purses, there is a wholesome side to it. Suppose the minimum rate were even one half of 1 per cent; a single person making $900 would be taxed $2, as would a married person making $1,400 under the $500-$1,000 exemption plan. And that $2, paid out for nothing tangible, would do more to make that taxpayer conscious of the need of government economy than the dollars he spends every week in concealed taxes.

Nowhere else could a man get so much valuable training in public finance and the need for economy as in getting an income tax receipt, however small.

IF JEFFERSON RETURNED TO EARTH

(Long Prairie Leader)

Thomas Jefferson is the patron saint of democrats and every year leaders and members of the party honor his memory. Yet if Jefferson could come back to earth for a visit, he would very probably repudiate those who parade in his name. Jefferson stood in particular for two things:

Local self government.
Economy in public affairs.

His outstanding contribution to his times was objection to government centralization. He was the leader of the ANTI-federalist party as distinguished from the federalist party that favored strong central government. Few there are familiar with Jefferson's opposition to centralized government and bureaucracy, his actions and his writings but believe his voice would be loudest in condemnation of the actions of present day democratic leaders if he were [illegible].

What would Jefferson have said of an administration that has run the country into the hole more than ten billion dollars in less than three years and rolled up a mountain of debt apparently with little thought of the future? Here is what Jefferson himself said about such a policy:

"To preserve our independence, we must not let our rulers load us with perpetual debt. We must make our choice between economy and liberty, or profusion and servitude."

It does not take a diagram to understand that it embodies the fundamental political and economic philosophy of Jefferson and was reflected time and again in the stand he took on matters of public policy. Jefferson was one of the great men in the early life of the country and it is fitting to honor his memory. However, his memory can be best honored, not by a lip service that in view of the circumstances is a mockery, but by support of the principles for which he stood.

CROW FOR DINNER

(Country Gentleman)

Some of us can't help feeling deeply troubled over the movement, initiated in Oklahoma during the winter months, to label the common crow as a game bird and have him accepted as a table delicacy. The crow is such a noisy citizen, so full of rude and other human characteristics, so adept in the strategy of self protection, that to eat him must be rather like eating your favorite congressman.

The idea that crows are edible was first advanced by a Tulsa physician who invited newspapermen of that city to a banquet, fed them crow meat and told them afterward what they had been eating. The good doctor's belief is that once the crow is established as a game bird, the guns will start booming and presently a pest of first magnitude will be eliminated. Perhaps he is right. Yet one pauses, shuddering a little, on the brink of the thought. After we have destroyed the crow by culinary methods, how can we be sure that some zealot won't ask us to extend the new doctrine to other national pests—the chinch bug, for example, or the coyote or the codling moth? Not to mention the autograph collector and the Japanese beetle!

At any rate, the Tulsa heresy has caught on surprisingly. Throughout Oklahoma and adjoining states sportsmen are holding crow dinners this spring. An Oklahoma produce house reports that it has already sold more than 2000 dressed crow carcasses, chiefly to the hotels, and that the demand is still brisk. Midwestern newspapers are full of praise for the black feathered fellow and the clean life he leads. The thing begins to have the earmarks of a great party movement.

[illegible] the crow doubtless will be given some official recognition. It was in the year 1621 that King James I of England, [illegible] struck a [illegible] roast of beef with the flat of his sword and knighted it "Sir Loin." Stroking a crow across the withers with a sword might not be a bad idea, particularly if the bird selected for the honor happened to be an aged character that [illegible] but in all probability the [illegible] Kings in Oklahoma will take care of the ceremony. There is, however, no dearth of gold medals, or of senators to present them.

No recipe for cooking crow has as yet drifted into this office, but one account the carcass is [illegible] with [illegible] and shaving cream before putting over the fire. It is not for us to deny that the crow is edible, of course, but in case some kind host invites us to partake, we [illegible] we won't think it [illegible].

Capitol News Review

By A. I. Harris

Just when does liberalism cease being "radicalism" and become respectable?

The newspapers have been heralding a Republican state platform which they boasted has a decided liberal tinge. These same newspapers a few years ago—will the citizens forget?—were, figuratively speaking, inciting to lynch law against those persons who dared express liberal political sentiments. They didn't call it liberalism but "Russian radicalism."

Of course, those familiar with politics, those who have observed the conduct of the Republican group in the State Legislature, know how unkindly the reactionaries take to progressive measures. This is the group that for years has fought old age pension in Minnesota—the group which finally was compelled by a Farmer-Labor Administration to enact an old age pension law, and when it was forced to do so, it made the law as obnoxious as possible. And even this law would have contained vastly more obnoxious features had not the liberals fought tooth and nail to eliminate some of them from the bill.

Why not have a little honesty in our political campaigns? Why always deceive the people? The conservatives represent a certain philosophy of government; so do the liberals. No one will contend that the conservative is not entitled to his view. If he believes that the people are incapable of ruling and that government should be controlled by those of wealth, and run in the interest of wealth—he has a perfect right to such belief. If the conservative believes that we should have democracy in form but not in fact, one may disagree with him but not deny him the privilege of his own point of view. But why should a political party, which is grounded in conservative and reactionary principles, make a false liberal appeal because it detects a liberal tendency on the part of the people? The intelligent voter will lose his respect for the Republican party—the party of Hoover and Coolidge and not of Lincoln—when it begins posing as a liberal political party.

Of course, this liberalism is only a pretense; its dishonesty is manifest. The platform says the party would "aid agriculture" but says nothing about the Frazier-Lemke bill. They would remove the state levy on real estate, but what would take its place? The reactionaries do not want a tax on wealth, individuals, corporations, and utilities as the liberals propose. They want a sales tax, the tax on poverty which the Governor vetoed, but they do not want the people to know it. They sense that it would not be a popular thing to let them know it. They do not want the public to know their ideas at all, in fact they go to great lengths to conceal them. Whether this strategy is better than honesty, candor and frankness will be determined by the voters next November. Will the voters peep behind the curtain of sham and hypocritical pretenses? We believe they will.

Whether the new deal is responsible or not, there is a decided increase in new financing of both domestic and foreign corporations, reports Saul Skaden, Commissioner of Securities.

In accordance with the applications for the sale of securities filed with his department during the month of March, there was a decided increase of new financing over the corresponding period of the past year. Has Mr. Skaden [illegible] on the part of people [illegible] in legitimate enterprises.

Immediate financing appears to apply to new enterprises and additional capitalization of old corporations. This is in direct contrast with financing of the past year, which comprised almost wholly refinancing of existing indebtedness rather than putting of new capital at work in existing business.

PUBLIC OPINION

Expressions of opinion on timely subjects are invited and welcomed to this department of The Times. Letters should be of reasonable length, and the name should be signed, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Letters duplicated to other local newspapers are not desired.

Editor the Times:

Professional Politicians

My attention was called some time ago to a certain visit in our city by professional politicians from St. Paul who endeavored to give rural citizens in this agricultural section of our state information as to by whom they ought to be represented in the Legislature of our state and how such representatives of the people, whether in the Senate or in the House of Representatives, should vote on certain issues. It is indeed difficult to take anything of that kind very seriously as it becomes even more humorous than pathetic. It touches upon that which is the chief difficulty with much of present day politics, that professional politicians from the larger centers, not only wish to control their city center votes, but also are determined to persuade the voters throughout the state to fall in line with their particular brand of politics.

I know, of course, that our people in this section of the state are too well balanced to be influenced by any self-seeking politician, whether from St. Paul or from any other distant section of our state. I believe that our people are well enough informed to vote intelligently when it comes to selecting their representatives, as well as to be intelligently able to judge the service of such representatives without sitting at the feet of some professional politician while he is telling his side of the story.

I need not refrain from mentioning any names in this case, I have first of all reference to a certain Mr. Howard Williams. I know Mr. Williams personally and no doubt he is a very fine gentleman with the usual big city background. I have no objections to having Mr. Williams traveling throughout the state. He is at liberty to do that as long as there are those who pay him for such service.

I believe in free speech and no one should be curtailed in their platform orations. On the other hand, I shall also take all liberties that may be within my reach to call the attention of our people to whatever value such criticisms may have. It really is strange that the politicians that speak most about the privilege of free speech would themselves gladly curtail any opponent if they only had the power.

That is the case with some of our publications in this section of our state. They will rave about the liberty of free speech, when on the other hand they flatly contradict themselves by refusing to open their columns to anyone who may disagree with their point of view. That only proves that they are cowards and are afraid of meeting any opposition fairly.

There are not many representatives in our state legislature but that they can be subjected to more or less criticism, even criticism which is fair. It is impossible to work at any job for a long time without making any mistakes and it is impossible to vote hundreds and hundreds of times on all kinds of issues and always be fully and properly informed. I always welcome any suggestions and fair criticisms which my own constituency may have to offer, and I trust that any one of our citizens in this legislative district will always feel free to communicate with me and to discuss with me any issues of importance that must be voted upon in our state legislature. Such contact will prove to be of great value to both parties and I therefore encourage it, but I must emphatically refuse to accept criticisms and comments from professional politicians who know nothing about the actual needs and real problems of our district. It is because these St. Paul politicians have found it impossible to control my vote or to influence me to do contrary to what I believe my people want me to do that they try to get their revenge this way.

Many Forest Fires in Year

There are about 175,000 forest fires in the United States in a year.

The Buffalo Bug

The buffalo bug or buffalo moth is the larva of a species of carpet beetle which was imported from Europe, probably in shipments of carpets, about sixty years ago. The beetle itself is a small black and white one, with a red line down the middle of its back. The eggs are laid among the fibers of the material on which the larva will feed, whether carpet, woolens, furs or cotton. Carpets placed permanently on the floor and allowed to remain undisturbed for a year furnish ideal conditions for the pest. Polished floors and rugs that are easily and often removed will tend to eliminate it.

SO. ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK

(By U. S. Department of Agricultural Economics and Minnesota Department of Agriculture)

South St. Paul, Minn., May 4, 1936 (U.S.D.A.)—Cattle supplies were large today, although not as large as last Monday. The crop included 90 cars of Canadians but native cattle arrived in somewhat smaller numbers. Slaughter steers and yearlings sold mostly steady, although late sales and weighty kinds showed some losses. She stock ruled uneven, but largely steady, quality and waterfills considered. Fed steers and yearlings bulked at $6.50, with better lots making $8.00-8.25, and common sorts selling down to $5.50. Desirable fed heifers earned $6.75-7.50, choice up to $8.00, lower grades $5.00-6.50, butcher cows $5.00-6.00, cutter grades $3.75-4.50, sausage bulls $5.00-5.50, beef heavy weights up to $5.75, and good to choice vealers $7.00-8.00, with choice sorts to $8.50, and common grades down to $5.00. Desirable stocker feeder steers found outlet at $6.65-7.25, thin mixed stockers at $5.00-6.00.

Better grade 140-220 lb hogs cleared at $9.90-10.10, and $10.10 proved the practical top, although a few strictly choice 155 lb weights reached $10.20. Desirable 250-300 lb. butchers earned $9.30-9.70, sows $8.60-8.80, and feeder pigs $10.00-10.50.

Small numbers of sheep and lambs sold steady at this week's opening, medium to good wooled lambs going at $10.00-11.00, good to choice clippers $9.50-9.95, and desirable shorn ewes at $4.25 down.

Heavy Fish Loss During Winter Causes Concern

Requests received by the Department of Conservation for assistance in the burying of suffocated fish indicate that the loss of fish during the past winter was greater than perhaps ever before.

The situation is particularly serious in the shallow lakes in the prairie sections of the state, according to E. V. Willard, commissioner of conservation.

"We have been apprehensive of the effects of the thick ice which formed over the shallow lakes throughout the state," Mr. E. V. Willard said. "But have been hoping that conditions would not be serious. Reports however indicate that the situation is serious in many of our lakes.

"Have all of the fish in any of our lakes been killed because of last winter's conditions? This question cannot be answered at this time. It is certain that the fish in many of our lakes have suffered a terrific drain."

MEANEST THIEF STEALS ORPHAN KIDS' PENNIES

Deer River—The meanest thief in Itasca county has been found in Deer River. Upon the cigar stand at the Miller hotel for the past three or four months, has stood a glass receptacle of the State Children's Home Society. In it were dropped odd pennies or nickles when purchases were made. The cans of [illegible] had been collected last week, when the glass suddenly was missed. A few hours later it was found in a [illegible] back of the [illegible]. The pennies were gone. [illegible] the legend [illegible] and maybe the [illegible] that.

BOYS 'BORROW' HORSES, RATHER THAN WALK HOME

Mahnomen—Stranded miles from home, three young men of White Earth "borrowed" three horses from a farmer to save wear and tear on their own feet. The boys had been left stranded in Waubun when their companions with a car had left them. The took the horses from the [illegible] Nelson farm and rode them within a mile of Ogema, 10 miles away, where they turned them loose. A neighbor saw the horses being taken from the barn, called the owner, and the two intercepted the boys at Ogema. The three young men were taken to Mahnomen and lodged in jail, two of them pleading guilty to grand larceny and being given three year sentences which were suspended during good behavior. The third boy, only 16, was let off on probation in juvenile court.

BEER PARLOR OWNER COOLS HEELS IN HIS OWN VAULT

Detroit Lakes—The Cozy Kitchen at Detroit Lakes doles open until 10:30 one recent morning. The proprietor, "Pop" Vedder, was at hand at his usual time of 6:30, but for four hours had been slightly incapacitated for service. He had been locked in his own beer cooler. When he had stepped into the cooler for his arrival early in the morning, the door slammed behind him and the latch fell. He was a prisoner in the 6 by 6 by 6 foot vault. Knowing that no one would hear him for hours, he sat down and "cooled" waited. The temperature was less than 50 degrees, and wasn't any too pleasant. Besides, the air wasn't any too good in such a small room. In fact, if Vedder had not had the presence of mind to breathe through a small hole [illegible] he would have been affected. Vedder [illegible] up when his partner, Guy Gray arrived for work at 10:30 and discovered his predicament.

CUT END OFF PIPE 160 FEET UNDERGROUND

Isle. The rather difficult problem of cutting off the end of a 10-inch well casing which was 160 feet below the surface of the ground occupied the attention of experts at Isle last week. It seems that in forcing the pipe through stone and hardpan the end was so battered and widened that it was impossible to pull the pipe up. The experts scratched their heads, for it was essential that they get the pipe out in order to try out a special system of separated screens designed to utilize the flow from two veins several feet apart. Cables and blocks were hooked to the pipe, but could not budge it from the ground. It was necessary to go to the cities to have a special cutter made, which was lowered inside the pipe and cut in two above the battered end from the inside.

Attention!
We will take in old hens and old tom turkeys for dressing every Thursday for the balance of this month. This will be on the following dates
May 14, 21, 28
A great many producers are through with their hens now, and should clean them out while they are in good shape. Be careful though in selecting hens for dressing, to see that they are not torn or scratched, as this would cause them to be number 2 when dressed.
Our stocks of turkeys and chick mashes as well as scratch feed are complete, and are made from the best grains obtainable, and of proper balanced rations, for the building of bone and muscle. Come in and look over our display, and see for yourself the quality feed you are getting to feed those young turks and chicks. Try a bag next time you are in town.

Between 2,000 and 3,000 Minnesota high school students will visit the campus of the University of Minnesota this week to take part in finals of the Minnesota State High School Music Contest on Thursday and Friday, May 7 and 8.

In preliminary contests conducted in March and April about 10,000 young people have competed in the fifteen districts into which the state is divided for purposes of the contest. These have represented more than two-hundred high schools. Finalists, who will visit the university, will represent something like seventy five schools.

Scores of busses will descend on the university bringing gaily uniformed boys and girls, members of the bands, choral societies, glee club and orchestra of the successful schools, chaperoned by their directors and faculty members.

A feature of the contest will be the playing of massed bands, numbering perhaps 1,000 players, at the close of the Friday evening program in Northrop Memorial Auditorium. Gerald R. FEDERAL DEFICIT FOR YEAR PLACED AT $5,966,000,000

Treasury Secretary Gives Figures to Congress Thursday

A treasury deficit of $5,966,000,000—the biggest in peacetime history—was forecast by Secretary Morgenthau for the current fiscal year Thursday in urging congressional enactment of President Roosevelt's full tax program.

Morgenthau said prepayment of the bonus was partly responsible for the huge figure by which he said expenditures would exceed income "in the 12 months ending June 30.

In recommending that the senate add to the $803,000,000 house tax bill the temporary processing taxes asked by President Roosevelt, Morgenthau also estimated that the 1937 deficit would be $2,675,000,000.

He said that except for the bonus payment voted by congress, there would have been declining deficits in both years. In his budget message Mr. Roosevelt had emphasized that the treasury deficits were declining.

Morgenthau's deficit estimates were given as he was questioned by the senate finance committee after reading a statement advocating enactment of the chief executive's tax recommendations in order to protect federal credit.

JUNIOR-SENIOR PROM IS HELD FRIDAY NIGHT

Annual Event Draws Large Attendance of Upper Classmen

On last Friday, May 1st, the juniors and seniors of Lincoln high school attended the social event of the school year. The juniors entertained the seniors at the Junior Senior Prom, climax of the social events of the season. The annual dancing party was held at the Sons of Norway Hall at nine o'clock. Music was furnished by Al Duncan's orchestra.

The hall, in the hands of the junior class committees, was decorated to resemble an open courtyard in an old Spanish town. Painted stars stood out against a sky of blue paper streamers and and walls were papered and chalked to represent the outside of an old villa. Drawn up at a table at one end of the hall were a number of Spanish caballeros, the Boys' Double Quartette, who sang several selections. Also included in the entertainment program was a song by Helen Anderson, and a tango by a dancing couple composed of Bob Wessling and Peggy Paupst. In the way of refreshment, punch was served by sophomore girls dressed in the characteristic costumes of Spanish senoritas.

LINCOLN HIGH TIMES

A chorus of oohs and ahs! Glances of admiration and words of praise! Because a famous personage had honored our fair city? No. Because a new building had been finished? No. None of these had anything to do with it, for it was the Junior-Senior Prom that deserved it all. Transformed into a Spanish courtyard that was real enough to touch and a low Spanish sky with myriads of twinkling stars, an orchestra beating out a tango a Spain that would bring words of envy from even a Spanish senor or senorita. But wait—that is only the beginning. A daughter of old Spain with a shawl over one shoulder passes throwing roses to all. And now a Spanish couple show us a Spanish tango gay with the color and rhythm from Spain. Finally eight boys singing good old Spanish songs!

And now all of us amateurs given a chance to strut our stuff on the dance floor. And so far, far into the night!

Our "Funny Bone"

The name "funny bone" is given to the ulnar nerve. It is so slightly protected by the internal condyle of the humerus that it is easily affected by blows on that part.

LAST ASSEMBLY PROGRAM HELD AT AUDITORIUM

Geoffrey O'Hara Gives Program of Musical Entertainment

The last in the series of Lyceum course programs was presented at the City Auditorium on Friday, May 1st. The program, which began at one o'clock, featured Geoffrey O'Hara, well-known composer, speaker and raconteur.

Mr. O'Hara began the program by comparing the composing of songs to the building of a house. It is wholly as essential to have a foundation for a song as it is for a house. He explained that a tune must have decorations or furnishings, like a house, to be attractive. He then proceeded to show, by playing the piano, how new tunes are made, and also how much alike some of our popular songs are.

Although composing new songs that would be popular is not simple, it can be truly said that the majority of folk songs have been composed by people who have not been educated along the line of music. Mr. O'Hara stated that most folk songs originated among the cowboys, negroes and sailors.

Mr. O'Hara completed the program by demonstrating on the piano how K-K-K-Katy, a song of his own composition, would be played in several countries and on different occasions.

After the program the students went back to the high school where they resumed their daily studies.

GRADUATION

In just twenty-two days, approximately one hundred students, or better yet, former students of Lincoln high school will be awaiting their commencement exercises. For many it means commencing to look for a job. For a few it means more and better schooling in a higher institute of learning.

What we have learned in four years of high school could not probably be measured in dollars and cents, but it does help the students form opinions about literature, history, government, and the other subjects taught in high school.

For four years, we have been preparing to either get out and look for a job, or to further our education. Soon we will be pushing out into the sea of discord, called the economic and social world. Then we shall see the value of a high school education, we hope.

SPORTS PARADE

The high school athletic year, September 1, 1935 to May 29, 1936, was an unique one for Thief River Falls. It was not spectacular; it was not deplorable. It was an average year. Yet it was different!

Did you know that all through the regular football, basketball, and into the track season, there has never been a case of ineligibility of any regular athlete? There hasn't! In former years, always present was the problem of ineligible players. Will we have a full line? Or will we be out two or three because of neglect of studies?

That problem became just another forgotten phrase in Lincoln High sports last year; a thing of the past—keep it there!

The alphabetical agencies may have cost the country a lot of money, but not as much as WAR.—Norfolk Virginian-Pilot.

To celebrate National Music Week, which is the week of May 3-10, the musical groups of Lincoln high school Tuesday presented a varied program as detailed in last week's issue of the progress.

GYM GEMS

Ah, and do those jocies ever go for gym class where they can get out on the field and forget their dignity! It must be spring fever or is it, now?

We have heard faint rumors about some sort of a "hobo hike" that is going to be—so that the jocies can make extra points for their "L's" and numerals. It will do you jocies good to hike out in the country with all the other little jocies. So come on out when it is announced.

Just a bit about some of the tourney games that have been played lately. The freshmen played the eighth graders and won in the second tourney game with the sophomores as they did in the first. The score was tied during most of the game but ended 21-17. Victor Jung and Adrian Lorentson refereed. Marion Green was the outstanding player.

Central School High Rankers Are Announced

Last Monday at an assembly at Central School Miss Batten made known the valedictorian, salutatorian, and the next highest ranking eighth grade students. They are Dagny Tungseth, Doris Hostvet, and Loren Jung, respectively.

The graduation exercises will be held Friday, May 29. The entire eighth grade, beside the Boys' and Girls' glee clubs, will contribute music to the program. Several addresses will be given by the valedictorian, salutatorian and the honor student.

The usual spelling award will also be given at this program to the boy or girl making the greatest progress in spelling during his junior high school career.

PROGRESS GETS INTERVIEW WITH GEOFFREY O'HARA

Noted Musician and Speaker Gives Program at Auditorium

Name: Geoffrey O'Hara.
Home-town: New York City.
Hobby: Window shopping.

Favorite mode of travel: Railroad, but if you are planning to cross the continent be sure to go by boat.

How long have you been traveling for assembly programs? Since 1922.

Do you compose your music by the hunt and peck method? No, like most composers I get a clear mental picture of the new song away from the piano. I don't write it down on paper, just think it out. Then I go and play it.

How many hours do you spend on composing a song? They come very quickly or not at all.

How long have you studied music? As far back as I can remember. When I was twelve, I played the organ at church by ear. This summer I am going to teach at Columbia University.

How long does it take you to discover similarity of tunes? I have stacks of music that show the similarity of many tunes.

How many popular songs have you composed? Very few.

How many operettas have you composed? Seven.

Do you like our popular songs? Yes, the good familiar songs, but not jazz.

What was your most embarrassing moment? My first performance. I was in Atlantic City. I lost my voice. Always learn your words to a song. Never depend on words written on paper.

Do you prefer to give after dinner speeches or to talk to high school students? High school students, by far. They catch the jokes faster.

Use "Courtesy Titles"

The custom is for the eldest son of a peer, of the rank of duke, marquess, earl, or viscount, to use, as a "courtesy title," one of his father's inferior titles. In the case of a duke, second and other sons are also known by their courtesy title of "Lord," followed by their Christian name and surname. "Courtesy titles" are not hereditary.

Red River Valley History

Great Northern Railway

This is a banner year for the Great Northern Railroad company and we are not submitting this article with a view to advertising this railroad but rather for the reason that the concatenation of circumstances primarily involved—the fact that the railroad was an important factor in this city's early growth, that it was a dominant force in the upbuilding of the northwest and that "Jim" Hill was the greatest personage the northwest produced—all these tend to make this article topical and highly pertinent.

Many towns in the northwest will celebrate their golden jubilees this summer and the history of every one—except one, Hutchinson, Minn.—shows that the birth of the town virtually was coincident with the advent of the railroad. The writer has prepared material for celebrating towns on the Great Northern all the way from the little village of Mayer in Carver county, near the Twin Cities, to Towner, on the main line of the railroad about half way across the state of North Dakota.

In this vast area we have selected three towns as key cities or strategic points from which to study pioneer development as associated with railroad building. These three cities will figure in a story to be written for Associated press release. There are Thief River Falls, Hillsboro and Towner. The first is chosen because the advent of the Great Northern there about the time the great Hill system was completing its main route to the Pacific coast, about 1890, indicates the many responsibilities and opportunities nearer home. Perhaps the road would have found it more convenient and economical to ignore the needs of new towns in Minnesota and concentrate on its transcontinental span, but this was not the road's policy and older Thief River Falls people will recall the great-to-do that featured the Great Northern's advent here. The city is important in this study also because the Soo Line was started there on its push to Kenmare, N. D., in 1904.

Hillsboro has practical and sentimental reasons for linking its pioneer history with the Great Northern. In the first place, Hillsboro was named in honor of the Great Empire Builder. Another fact, not of secondary importance, however, is that this city was strategically situated about midway between Grand Forks and Fargo. When the line was built between these two cities it reached Hillsboro in the fall of 1880. It was in the Hillsboro district, as is quite generally known, that the Great Northern and Northern Pacific management got into a sort of row that suggested the squabble of a couple of termagants over a backyard fence. This was when the Northern Pacific built a line up from Casselton in the early 80's. The Great Northern countered with a parallel line. Later, the Northern Pacific sold its branch to Hill and the two lines, as we know, were brought together at Portland.

At Towner there is keen interest in the Great Northern's history because Towner is preparing to celebrate its golden jubilee this summer. Towner's Pioneer history is markedly different from that of the other two cities. Both of these were principally immigrant towns and the pioneers were sober, industrious men and women. Many of the men were employed in the railroad construction project and there were relatively few adventurers and undesirables who sought to prey on the workers as was customary when new towns sprang up along the railroad.

At Thief River Falls the affairs of the town were well in hand when the railroad came and there was no chance for the development of a trouble-some underworld even for the short period of the building of the line. However, there were always a few gamblers and others of that ilk as was true at Hillsboro. But in Hillsboro bonanza farming influences were strong and dominated the scene, curbing the effects of underworld activities.

Now it does not follow that Towner was spawned as the product of a vicious concentration of vice on the townsite. On the other hand, local history shows that the leaders here in 1886 were serious, competent men who were stout defenders of law and order. But it happened that there had been many undesirables all along the line and naturally Towner could not escape. But their reign was short and when the site began to fill up with business places the few laggards among the night life folks moved on to greener fields, on with the railroad.

So here we have three phases of railroad development and three direct in which the course of railroad empire held its sway. The facts lend added luster to fame of the great Empire Builder and offer convincing proof of his wonderful executive ability and foresight.

Patrol to Teach Road Workers in First Aid

Seventeen picked members of the state highway patrol completed a special instructors' course in first aid last week, under the supervision of the American Red Cross. These patrolmen in turn will teach first aid practice to groups of highway department maintenance workers throughout the state this summer. The maintenance men will then be able to give intelligent assistance at accidents. All members of the patrol take a first aid course before they become officers, but the special instruction given the picked group last week qualifies them to supervise the training of others. Expansion of first aid instruction in the highway department was ordered by Commissioner N. W. Elsberg who worked out a training program with representatives of the Red Cross. The special instructors' school for patrolmen was held at Camp Ripley under the direction of Dr. H. R. Muirhead of the Red Cross organization.

GENTLEMEN PICKPOCKETS RETURN EMPTY WALLET

Shakopee.—A set of pick-pockets who were gentlemen and ladies above all else, were discovered near Shakopee last week. They believe that their victim is always entitled to his empty purse! Returning from Shakopee to his farm east of there, William Carpenter, riding in a wagon load of feed, was hailed by three well dressed motorists. The driver of the car, a man, held out a road map, pointing to a town thereon and indicating he could not talk. He mentioned Carpenter to get down from his wagon and come over to the car. As Carpenter climbed from his wagon a woman got out of the car, stood beside him explaining they were also people, and wanted to know the way to Mankato. After giving them instructions, Carpenter went on his way, but in a few minutes was halted again by the same tourists. This time they told him he had lost something, handed him his empty pocketbook, and drove on.

Let The Young Ones Stir 'Em Up

"Mix Up a Muffin That Melts in Your Mouth" is the Slogan of this Juvenile Cook Who Chooses Rice and the Easiest Way!

IT'S never too young to learn—to cook! The new rule is "catch em young, tell em everything" they need to know about cookery. They'll find it fun, keep out of mischief, and—if you choose the right recipe — provide some honest-to-goodness results the family can eat.

It's no task that requires a Mrs. Hercules teaching the children to cook. To start your daughter on the way to becoming a perfect wife in later years, let her first try something simple. Rice muffins are simply perfect! They're new and different but so easy to make that "old hands" stir them up as a "quickie" for Sunday morning breakfast.

Little Mary Mix-Ups!

When your own little Mary wants to get in a mix-up make it the sensible cookery kind. Provide her with a bowl of boiled rice—choose the good, long grain American rice of good quality and "fluff" it after boiling—and tie on her apron. Then, with milk, eggs, shortening and some baking powder, she is all set! Here's the recipe, keep it for your own files too—it's a winner.

Rice Muffins

1 cup boiled rice	1 cup milk
2 eggs, beaten	3 tbsps. melted shortening
½ teasp. salt	1½ cups flour
3 teasps. baking powder	1 teasp. sugar

Beat the rice, milk, beaten eggs and shortening together thoroughly. Sift flour, sugar, salt and baking powder into batter. Mix only enough to combine. Bake in greased muffin pans in a hot oven (400° F.) for 25 minutes. Makes 12 average size muffins.

An Odd Law

Incredible as it sounds, there are states in this country in which a father cannot only will away the guardianship of his children—without consent of their mother—but also will away the future custody of an unborn child.—Bessie Lowery, Preston, Texas, in Collier's Weekly.

Capital of the Highlands

More "Mad" Dogs in Winter

More cases of canine madness—known as hydrophobia or rabies—have occurred during the cold months of January and February than during the so-called "dog days" of July and August, according to authoritative records of health departments of large cities.

LABORATORY tests are invaluable in building a better all-round gasoline—so Standard Oil makes 1,500 tests a day on Standard gasolines — distillation tests, sulphur and gravity tests, vapor pressure tests, and many others.

—But when it comes to what mileage a gasoline will deliver, there is no substitute for the road test. And even a road test, conducted by specialists, does not give the answer as to how many miles per gallon an average driver will get under average conditions.

What's the truth about gasoline mileage?

That's what Standard wants to find out. That's why Standard announces a gigantic road test, and invites you to take part.

We want 300,000 "test car" drivers. We want 300,000 midwest automobile owners to drive their cars just as they always do—no differently, no extra miles—but to keep an accurate record of their driving habits for a period of 65 days. Standard will furnish, free, all recording material needed. And then generous awards will be given—in exchange for the gasoline mileage information obtained.

"U" Farm Offers Two New Garden Bulletins

Just in time to help Minnesota home gardeners get started off right, the Agricultural Extension Division at University Farm announces the publication of Special Bulletin 171 on "Vegetable Gardening," by A. E. Hutchins, vegetable specialist of the Division of Horticulture. This bulletin discusses site, location, and arrangement of vegetable gardens; lists the best varieties of garden crops for Minnesota; tells how to plant and care for a garden; discusses control of common insects and diseases; and is an all-around guide to success in growing vegetables for home use.

Another new publication for gardeners is Circular 51, "Culinary Herbs", by A. E. Hutchins and L. Sando. Herbs, such as mint, chives and many other aromatic plants, are coming back into great popularity for use in cooking. The herbs are a very interesting group of plants, easy to grow, and affording a pleasing variety of flavors for foods and drinks. Circular 51 describes many of the more common herbs and their uses, and tells how to grow them in the home garden.

Both of these publications are for free distribution and may be had from county extension agents, high school agriculture instructors, or on request to the Bulletin Office, University Farm, St. Paul.

LaFave, treasurer of the fair society for many years, received the surprising letter and $10 in currency in his mail. Enclosed with the money was a note which read: "This $10 was hand-printed, was signed simply "A Repenting Soul" and was mailed from Minneapolis. It was postmarked on a Sunday. LaFave said he had not the slightest idea who the sender might be, nor in what way he had appropriated $10 from the fair.

WATCH STILL RUNS AFTER 30-YEAR REST IN FIELD

Elbow Lake.—When a watch has been missing for 30 years, one ordinarily gives it up as lost. The first 25 years are easily the hardest. Not so with a watch which belonged to the late Sever Nohre, Elbow Lake, however. While engaged in dragging a field on the home farm in Elbow Lake township recently, Nohre found a watch which his father had lost 30 years ago, in 1906. During this time the watch has remained undamaged. The nickel case is free from rust and corrosion, and the only damage to the watch is a slight dent in the case. What is more, the darned thing keeps accurate time—believe it or not!

News and Comment

By R. W. Hitchcock

The question whether the State Constitution shall prohibit all tax levies on real and personal property for state purposes is not dealt with in the Republican State Platform for 1936, the republican state convention feeling that the matter is now in the hands of the people and that it is for the people to decide by their ballots in November whether or not they want a hard and fast provision to this effect written into their State Constitution.

The Republican State Platform, however, emphatically pledges itself to a "substantial reduction" in the property tax and to the elimination, "as rapidly as possible" of the state tax on real and personal property.

This has been the traditional attitude of the republican party. For fifteen years immediately prior to the present state administration the state tax levy for revenue purposes was held to a remarkably low figure.

Twice in that fifteen year period there was no state levy on property for general revenue purposes in 1921 and 1922.

Once in 1920 the levy was only eight tenths of one mill.

Three times in that period it was 1 mill only in 1916, 1919 and 1926.

The highest state tax rate for revenue purposes in this entire period of fifteen years was 3½ mills levied in 1919, 1923 and 1925.

The average state levy for revenue purposes throughout the fifteen year period immediately preceding 1930 when the present administration assumed control was 1.82 mills.

The state levy for revenue purposes has now risen under the present state administration to 5.7 mills and the entire state levy to 13.57 mills.

On April 1st of this year Senator Elmer A. Benson, endorsed by the farmer-labor party of Minnesota for governor of Minnesota, voted in the United States Senate for the confirmation of Lamar Hardy to be United States attorney for the southern district of New York.

Serious objections had been made to Mr. Hardy both in New York and on the floor of the Senate on the ground of his connection with a mortgage and title holding company whose operations had resulted in the loss of many millions of dollars to widows, orphans and other investors. Notwithstanding these objections Mr. Hardy was confirmed, Senator Benson being one of those who voted for the confirmation. Voting against the confirmation were the following well known Senators: Borah, Bulow, Capper, Frazier, La Follette, Murphy, Norris, Shipstead, Wheeler. Norris and La Follette took the floor in opposition to the confirmation, Senator Norris making an extended argument, the account of which covers several pages in the Congressional Record for March 31st.

Mr. Hardy was one of the promoters and organizers of the State Title & Mortgage Company, one of its directors, its counsel and the chairman of the executive committee. During the first two years of the operation of the company Mr. Hardy received fees from the company amounting to $165,000. After four and one-half years of operation the company went to the wall. It is alleged that "more than a quarter of a million families have lost their life savings in these defaulted mortgages." The president of the company and ten of Mr. Hardy's associates in the company were indicted. Mr. Hardy himself was not indicted.

A committee of investigation appointed by the Governor of New York reported that "the appointment of Lamar Hardy is contrary to the public interest and would seriously impair public confidence in the administration of justice through the high office of United States attorney for the southern district of New York." The press of New York was practically unanimous in the opinion that Mr. Hardy's "selection at the present time is open to grave criticism." The Bar Association at one of the most largely attended meetings in its history, 800 being present, voted 321 to 247 that "the connection of Lamar Hardy with the affairs and management of the State Title & Mortgage Company and its affiliated companies has disqualified him from holding the office of United States attorney for the southern district of New York."

Notwithstanding these facts, clearly established through evidence presented before the subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee, Senator Elmer E. Benson deserted his liberal colleagues in the Senate and voted for the confirmation.

Senator Benson's action is even more strange in view of the fact that his party rose to place and power in Minnesota largely through a vociferous condemnation, in connection with extensive investment losses, of officials whose responsibility, if they had any responsibility at all, was many times more remote than the very direct and certain responsibility of Lamar Hardy.

In almost exactly two years the federal government, under various relief setups, has expended for labor on various betterments at the Minnesota state capitol about [illegible].

Aside from the relief provided, it is difficult to evaluate the benefit of this work to the state capitol building, under the competent supervision of Custodian L. A. Johnson. Storage space urgently needed has been enormously increased, driveways and approaches have been made commodious, urgent repairs, neglect of which was damaging the building, have been made and many improvements have been installed. The state has provided materials and some of this cost has been provided by Custodian Johnson out of numerous economies which he has effected.

Early in February Mr. L. A. Rossman, publisher of a weekly newspaper, the Grand Rapids Herald Review, in Itasca county, made an address before the Central Cooperative Association on [illegible] "The Meaning of Public Debt." The facts presented by Mr. Rossman are of vital importance to every person in Minnesota. A summary of some of the most outstanding of these facts is here presented:

The Minnesota portion of the total public debt, local, state and national, is near to 900 millions or approaching [illegible] $2,000 for the average family.

Minnesota must some day pay [illegible] millions on the national debt.

The Minnesota portion of the total public debt today, local, state and national, is more than one half of the assessed valuation of all the property of all the people of the state. It is more than twice the combined private debt on all the homes and farms of the state. The federal portion alone is more than the total of all private debts on Minnesota homes and farms, plus all local and state debt in Minnesota.

If 10 per cent of all federal revenues were devoted each year to the retirement of the federal debt, it would require 25 years to pay it off.

If every dollar of every income in the United States of over [illegible] for the year 1934 had been taken by the United States government, the total would not have been sufficient to meet the federal deficit for 1935.

Last year taxes took [illegible] of the income of the people. Taxes are increasing. They now [illegible] about 25% of the income of the people. [illegible] of work for the government out of every [illegible], one bushel of grain for the government out of every [illegible] produced, 1 hour of labor for the government from every man for every [illegible] hours that he works [illegible].

"Those who tax the most will [illegible] taxes were principally local. [illegible] day three-fifths of the public debt is that of the national government. "Already that government sends its tax collectors into the most remote communities and into the most humble homes."

DOG SURVIVES 3 WEEKS WITHOUT FOOD, WATER

Ellsworth.—Three weeks imprisonment, without food or water, was survived by a spaniel dog belonging to Charles A. Hurl, Ellsworth. Joseph Sisterman discovered the dog in the tool shed of the St. Mary's cemetery. When he first heard a noise in the tool shed while working nearby, he figured someone was attempting to play a joke on him, but to satisfy his curiosity he investigated. Opening the door to discover a human prankster, he was surprised to see the spaniel happily emerge. The canine was very thin, yet good natured, and allowed Sisterman to pet it. Sisterman decided that the emaciated beast needed milk, and was about to pick it up when the hound spied a snow bank, and made its way, shakily perhaps, to this source of "water" to relieve its thirst. Sisterman allowed the animal its need and then brought it to where it could break its long fast. The dog had been locked in the tool shed by mistake three weeks before, and during that time had neither food nor drink. During the time of imprisonment the weather had been cold, and it is a wonder how the involuntary prisoner found enough reserve strength to survive the ordeal.

DESERTED PUPPY FAMILY FINDS NEW HOMES QUICKLY

Red Wing.—The police of Red Wing were confronted with a puzzle the other day, and so far have been unable to solve the mystery. It involves a case of desertion—this one in puppyland. A telephone call to the police station gave the information that a box containing three tiny dogs of the shepherd variety evidently only a few weeks old, had been left on the lawn of a city residence. They were in an empty cardboard shoe carton. The deserted "babies" were brought to the station and were promptly disposed of, but not according to the usual routine in such cases. Each promptly found a home. Where the puppies came from no one knows.

U. S. STORAGE STOCKS OF PORK AND LARD ARE LIGHT

This country is going into the summer season short on pork and lard, and with no indication of material increased supplies from hog marketings, says the market bulletin issued by the Central Cooperative Association of South St. Paul. Reports from the various storage centers of the United States are decidedly bullish as far as hog prices are concerned, and under ordinary conditions the price effect would be much greater than it is. But with uncertain industrial conditions and purchasing power on the part of the consuming public, the market on hogs is doing well to hold its present levels.

Junior Play Enjoyed

On Friday night the Junior class of the Plummer high school presented its mystery play "The Missing Necklace." The play was greatly enjoyed by [illegible]. The Junior class [illegible] of the performance [illegible] attended [illegible].

Specialties between acts were of high quality too. Crescent Enderle and Carol Ejoe, costumed as sailors, sang a two part song with a catchy and rollicking melody that pleased all. Roy Hayden, the violinist of the Junior Class, accompanied by Miss Swenson played two violin solos.

P. T. A. Completes Season

The last meeting of the Plummer P. T. A. for the current school year was held last Tuesday at the Municipal Auditorium. It was well attended and all enjoyed the program.

The school band organized at the beginning of the year under the direction of Mr. Olmstad played several numbers and responded to the applause with encores. The band has made excellent progress and next year will be a most dependable organization.

The other musical numbers on the program were given by the Harmonica Band of the fifth and sixth grades. This group was also organized only this year by Miss Reed. The band is a most colorful organization with its caps and capes. It played several two part selections which pleased the audience very much.

A group of readings from Miss Micke's room were placed between the musical numbers on the program. All were interesting and well given. The one humorous reading, "The Wind" by Margaret Bergstrom prepared the audience for the humorous selection, Goretopp, the Barber, by Muriel Sorenson.

The play "Elmer" directed by Miss Swenson completed the program. It was well done and the actions and activities of Elmer kept all interested as the story unfolded.

Lunch was served to a large number of the audience after the program.

On Wednesday of last week the faculty of the Plummer Public schools entertained Capt. and Mrs. Ripple at a turkey dinner served by Mr. McCrady. The birthday of Mr. Ripple offered the opportunity and supplied the occasion for the faculty to show their appreciation for the many kindly considerations shown them throughout the year by Mr. and Mrs. Ripple. The faculty extended to both of them their best wishes and greetings of friendship.

NOTED MUSICIANS COMING TO VALLEY MUSIC FESTIVAL

Many Contests Will Feature Fargo Event Week of June 1 to 6

Bringing the total list of internationally famed soloists and judges who participate in the Valleyland Music Festival during the first week in June to six, the management of that affair announced last Saturday in Fargo and Moorhead that Rudolf Ganz will act in the capacity of guest soloist on June 2, and will adjudicate all of Wednesday, June 3. In addition, Mr. Ganz will judge all of the original compositions submitted in the Festival.

Mr. Ganz is added to the list hitherto named, consisting of Sigmund Spaeth of New York, Harold Bachman of Chicago, Peter Dykema of Columbia University, Carl Christiansen of Brookings, and Walter Aschenbrenner of the Chicago Symphonic Choir. The last named will conduct a choir clinic on Thursday, June 4, while the other four will serve as judges and performers.

The Valleyland Music Festival is managed by an executive committee of five men working under the general supervision of the Board of Governors of the Amphion Chorus of Fargo and Moorhead. Festival plans are worked out in conjunction with the officials of the North Dakota Federation of Music Clubs, whose biennial convention and festival will be held in Fargo and Moorhead the first three days of the Valleyland festival.

The Valleyland Music Festival is a combination concert and competition affair. Its official syllabus lists more than three hundred competitions in which representatives of northwestern communities may participate. The accomplishments of these participants in the festival will be credited to their home towns, and the towns that have the best standings in the sweepstakes races will win cash prizes totalling $1,500.00. For further information write Box 153 in Moorhead.

Test Reed Canary Grass for Spring Seeding

Reed canary grass seed should be carefully checked this spring for germination and vitality, warns C. P. Hull, director of the State Seed Testing Laboratory at University Farm. "Much reed canary seed is not germinating satisfactorily this spring, says Mr. Hull, and some of that which germinated all right last fall has not held up well under farm storage conditions."

Purchasers of reed canary grass seed are advised to test the seed at once. Mr. Hull suggests that tests be made by planting 100 or 200 seeds in a half inch of sand or soil in a plate, kept moderately moist and warm and covered with another plate or paper. Waiting to see how such seed will grow after it is planted is likely to prove disappointing.

Consolidated Mutual Insurance Association.

Community Service Association, all with offices at 410 Vanderburgh Building, at 10 South 4th Street, Minneapolis.

Insurance Commissioner Yetka stated that the records of the Department disclose that none of these five companies have ever been licensed to transact business of insurance in the State of Minnesota or elsewhere. The five companies named above have for some time been operated by M. E. Bean, who offices at the above address.

The first two listed above are incorporated under the so called, "Charitable Act", the latter three are operated under no incorporation whatever.

"The public should be warned," said Mr. Yetka, "that purchase of insurance in these companies leaves the purchaser without a remedy, as far as this department is concerned, against any of the companies mentioned because of the fact that these companies are not licensed by the Minnesota Department. They are companies operating entirely without the law."

BOY FINDS $1 BILL FLOATING DOWN RIVER

Red Wing. Curiosity made a Red Wing youngster $1 richer last week when he found a bill of that amount floating down the river on a board. How the bill ever got there is a mystery. It was thought that it may have been blown out of the hands of the original owner and tossed by a freak wind on to the board, where the water acted as a sort of glue and held it firmly to the surface. The bill was found by John Groot, it was reported, who now believes in miracles.

FOUR YEAR OLD SAVES FARM HOME

Norwood—Little Nedra Herrmann, four years old, was a real heroine recently. She saved the farm home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Herrmann, near Norwood, from what would undoubtedly have been a serious fire. Nedra was asleep in the front room on the ground floor when the fire broke out at 7:30, and her parents were in the barn milking. There is a chimney hole in the room where the child slept, and the smoke poured into the room and woke her. She jumped up and put on a coat over her pajamas, a cap, overshoes, and mittens to go warn her father - but the door stuck. And a tiny girl hasn't much chance with a heavy door that won't open. Nedra knew she had to get out some way, so she pulled her little chair to the window, and broke the glass with her mittened fist. She crawled out and ran to the barn and gave the warning. The Norwood fire department was called and quickly put out the blaze, but with the strong wind blowing, not only the house but the other buildings would have been in danger but for the prompt and courageous action of the little girl.

CONCRETE'S RESISTANCE TO SPRING "BREAK-UPS" IS WORTH MILLIONS TO TAXPAYERS EVERY YEAR

WHEN the frost comes out or the rain pours down, concrete pavements "can take it." They're always ready to get you through with safety.

Even after the terrible punishment of the past winter, routine inexpensive maintenance quickly puts concrete back in condition for the heavy summer traffic. There is little or no interruption of service. Aggravating detours and costly delays are avoided.

Make first-hand comparison of pavements and you'll demand dependable, all-season concrete. Concrete is safe, economical, usable—in all seasons, rain or shine, day or night.

Muddy roads, closed roads and restricted roads exact a heavy "bad road tax" from every vehicle owner and every community. Figure it out in your own case, and see how much time, trouble and expense you would save if more roads in your community were paved with concrete.

COUNCIL O. K.'S OVER $20,000 IN BUILDING JOBS

Provide for Five New Homes, Including Four on East Side

TO PROCEED WITH OILING 20 BLOCKS

Many Items of Business Are Transacted at Long Session

In a protracted session Tuesday evening the city council disposed of a large variety of accumulated business, features of which were the approval of building permits for approximately $20,000 of residence construction and the calling for bids on oil for the surfacing of approximately twenty blocks of streets in the city. Additional business will be disposed of at an adjourned meeting Friday evening.

The dozen permits approved include five new residences, four of them on the east side of the river. H. M. Grendahl will erect a home on LaBree av. at an estimated cost of $4,500, while those to be erected on the east side include William Frolland, $2,700; Stanton Dahlen, $4,000; Scandinavian Evangelical Free church parsonage, $3,500; and Lester Ringstrand, $2,500.

Other permits were granted to A. B. Stenberg, remodeling residence, $1,000; S. O. Bergland, addition to residence, $450; H. O. Ness, repairs to residence, $150; Mrs. Mary Syverson, addition, $50; Iver Asseby, basement at 224 Horace av., $800; Martin Bothun, garage at rear of Palm Garden cafe, $175; and O. L. Carny, store front repairs, $125. The application of Fred Forsberg & Son for a permit to erect a warehouse on Crocker av. was laid over for investigation.

Action was taken to call for bids for sufficient oil to treat LaBree av. from Fourth to Eighth sts.; Horace av. from Fourth to Eighth; Atlantic av. from Second to Eighth; Fourth st. from Main av. to Atlantic av.; and Second st. from Horace to Atlantic. The state highway department also was requested to install "No U Turn" signs on six downtown corners on the trunk highways. On the recommendation of Supt. Ole Legvold it was decided to relay a section of sewer on Johnson st. east to Kendall av., as well as to lay 92 feet of sewer tile on St. Paul av. S.

At the suggestion of Poor Overseer C. M. Evenson the council approved the painting of the relief cabins constructed last year, with the work to be done by relief clients.

A petition signed by a group of property owners in the vicinity of Main av. and Eighth st. where a store building is being converted into a service station asked the council to reconsider its recent action in granting a permit on the ground that the establishment would be detrimental to the the residence district. The council decided to secure from the builder a sketch of the proposed improvement and to take action Friday evening.

Elect Mayor in Belfry

All over the country quaint ceremonies are observed to usher in the new mayors, says Pearson's Weekly. At a number of places the new mayor is approved by placing a ring on his finger. This ceremony has been observed for several centuries and seems to have its roots in the idea of wedding the mayor to the chief office of the borough. At High Wycombe the mayor and his aldermen are conducted to the weights and measures department of the borough offices, and there solemnly weighed and measured. At Brightlingsea the mayor is elected in the belfry of the parish church. At Bournemouth and at Hanley, Staffs, the retiring mayor and the new one embrace each other. Feasts play a part in the election of mayors. At Yarmouth it is a sprat feast, and at Peterborough the chief items are champagne and sausages.

Registering Births in England

No proof or sworn statement is required when registering a birth, marriage or death in England. Thus it is easy to record the "birth" of a bogus baby when desiring an increased unemployment allowance, to secure a marriage license when already married, or to obtain a death certificate in a murder case from a credulous physician, as he is not obliged to examine the body and determine for himself the cause of the death.—Collier's Weekly.

England's Chancellor of Exchequer

The duties of the chancellor of the exchequer are concerned with the collection of revenues and the management of the funds accumulated. The chancellor of the exchequer of England holds a position similar to the treasurer of the United States. There is a difference between this and a secretary of the treasury who corresponds to the director of the finance department of England.

4-H Sunday May 17th, State Leader Reminds

On entering their pulpits, Sunday, May 17, pastors of Minnesota rural churches will face many more youthful listeners than usual. The occasion will be the second annual "Four-H Sunday in Church", the observance of which is now being planned by rural pastors and 4-H club groups throughout the state. This day coincides with Rural Life Sunday, long observed by several religious denominations.

The first "Four-H Sunday in Church," originated last year by T. A. Erickson, state 4-H club leader, University Farm, St. Paul, met with such enthusiastic support from Minnesota rural clergymen and local 4-H club leaders that it is being repeated. The movement also bids fair to spread to other states.

"Minnesota local club leaders and extension agents have been asked to cooperate to the fullest extent with the local ministers in arranging for the May 17 worship services, and in urging the boys and girls, their parents and friends to attend," Mr. Erickson says. "Wherever possible, the members and their leaders will wear the national 4-H club uniforms and emblem, and will attend in a group. In many churches they will help to decorate the churches with flowers, serve as ushers, sing 4-H club songs appropriate to the occasion, and otherwise participate in the service."

At Eight O'Clock

By VERA P. ROCKWELL

© McClure Newspaper Syndicate. WNU Service.

"YOUR husband is a very sick man, Mrs. Elliott," Doctor Drummond had said, "these white pills I am leaving are powerful stuff, setting up a poisonous reaction that is counteracted by the eight o'clock medicine. I want to impress upon you the extreme importance of being on time; without the dark pill the action of the white ones would be fatal."

When he had gone, the whisperings began, ceaseless and insidious.

"Here's your chance," they told Hester Elliot, "your way out. Forget the pill at eight o'clock. . . . No one will know. . . . And you'll be free. . . . Free to live."

Hester, no longer young, but aged beyond her years by the constant, relentless cruelty; the battling down of all her individual life; the sapping of her spiritual vitality, by the man who now lay ill, at her mercy.

She looked at him lying there, ugly and cruel, how she wished he were dead."

"But he will live," her bitter thoughts told her, "I shall give him his medicine on time. I'll never know how blessed life might be."

She shrugged and dropped her head in her hands.

"God let me forget the time," she prayed.

She choked back a wild little laugh; asking God to help commit murder!

Twenty six years of living as Bert Elliott's wife, of bearing his children, keeping his house, existing as the automaton he demanded her to be.

All that she had loved he had taken away; little things and big. Why did the memory persist so strongly, of the kittens—little furry, adorable bundles of fur and round eyes and pointed ears?

Did he have to kill them in such a cruel way, growling that they were a nuisance, crushing them half dead beneath his heavy heel, leaving her to the shuddering task of a most merciful finish?

Did he have to shut her door against Rachel, their only daughter, when she married honest, young Howard Person? His objection to the marriage was all pretense; he did not really care; he only wanted to be cruel and arbitrary.

That was four years ago. Hester had only seen little Kenneth twice, each time in dire fear of Bert's wrath. The baby girl, six months old now, she had never seen.

She smoothed Bert's pillow, gave him the fifth white pill.

She visioned her life without him — peaceful, well ordered, happy. Ralph could come back home and run the farm. She had not seen him to talk to since he was twelve years old. His father had beaten him that day with more than usual ferocity and he had left in the night.

Hester had never considered divorce. She had scruples against it. Scruples against divorce and praying God to help her kill her husband. Again the wild laughter welled up and again it was suppressed.

Yes, Ralph could come back. She could go to church on Sunday, teach a class of little girls. How she had always wanted to do that! She could write letters when she wanted to; could plant flowers and love them, knowing that each year they would be coming up in their accustomed places; no unexpected spading up, no ruining, in half an hour, what had taken fully two years to grow.

What was right and what was wrong? Where did duty lie? Was it not her duty to help her son, to give herself a normal life, to know her grandchildren? Why did duty have to lie solely with the man she had married? It was two minutes to eight.

She lay in her little rocking chair, completely relaxing her tired body, her tense nerves. She closed her eyes and prayed without words. An agonized reaching out to the supreme power that rules the universe, "Dear God, teach me what to do."

Only a minute, but when she opened her eyes again the futile miseries and perplexities of her daily life had slipped into their proper proportions. She who had no power to create life, had no right to take it. She knew what she had to do.

With a steady hand she filled a glass half full of cold water, just as steadily she slipped the dark pill into it, dissolving instantly, it colored the water a ruby red. She put her arm beneath the pillow, lifted her husband a little and held the glass to his lips.

"Drink, Bert," she said, softly.

He opened his eyes and glared at her, his mouth set in the cruel curves she knew so well. He raised his clenched fist in the sudden frenzied strength of rage and smashed the glass in her hand.

"Poison, you!" he snarled. "Want to poison me? Where's my white pill?"

Hester stood very still, her eyes going from his hate-distorted face to the fragments of glass on the floor. Her hands were clasped tightly over her heart, in a familiar gesture, and deep in that heart she was saying to God, "I thank you . . . Oh, I thank you!"

BETTER THAN NOTHING

The shadows lay thick beneath the trees, and where they were deepest a figure crouched. Suddenly he heard a sound, a light footfall on the grass.

"That you, mate?" he whispered hoarsely.

"Yes," came the answer.

"What are you doing with that dog?" he muttered, as his burglar partner drew near.

"Why," answered his confederate, "there was nothing worth taking in the house, and it's bad luck to come away without anything, so I pinched the watchdog and those burglar alarms!"—Tit Bits Magazine.

COOKED GRAINS EASY TO DIGEST

Porridges Have Been Common Fare for Centuries.

By EDITH M. BARBER

AMONG the first solid foods which are added to the liquid diet of the infant are strained cooked cereals which are of course only a semisolid. In a few months straining is unnecessary, and before long the ready-to-eat cereals may be added. Cereals are given in the first place because they are easy to digest and add the extra calories necessary for gain in weight. They are kept in the diet of children for the same reasons, and children need plenty of food. They are satisfying and at the same time will carry some of the milk which is essential.

Cereals in porridge form have been used for centuries. Of these oatmeal and cornmeal are historic. The ready-to-eat cereals are modern additions to the variety of our foods. The grains are usually flavored and then toasted in huge ovens. They may be flaked, puffed or "stretched" as they are, for instance, in the case of the wheat biscuits. By these processes they are changed so that they differ from one another in texture as well as in flavor.

Baked Polenta.
- 3 tablespoons olive oil
- ½ cup minced onion
- ½ cup minced green peppers
- ½ cup minced pimientos
- 2 cups tomatoes
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1 bay leaf
- 6 cloves
- 4 cups hot wheat cereal or corn meal mush
- ¼ cup grated parmesan cheese or ½ cup grated American cheese

Cook the onion, peppers, and pimientoes in the olive oil for about 3 minutes. Add the tomatoes and seasonings and cook for 5 minutes. Remove the bay leaf and cloves and mix the sauce with the cereal. Put in a greased baking dish and cover with the grated cheese. Bake in a hot oven (450 degrees Fahrenheit) for about 15 minutes, until light brown.

Cereal Rings.
- 3 or 4 cups of oatmeal or wheat cereal
- 3 tablespoons butter
- ¼ pound shredded dried beef
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 2 cups milk
- 1 pimiento
- Pepper

Pack the hot cereal into a greased ring mold or into small, individual, metal muffin cups and set in a pan of hot water. Melt the butter and cook the beef in it for 2 or 3 minutes. Sprinkle with the flour and stir until well blended with the butter. Stir over a low fire until slightly brown. Add the milk; stir until smooth and thick. Season with pepper. Boil one minute. Turn the mold onto a platter and pour the sauce in and around it.

Crepes.
- ½ cup pastry flour
- ½ cup bread flour
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 egg yolk
- ½ pint milk
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- Grating of ½ lemon and ½ orange
- 1 teaspoon curacao
- ½ cup melted butter

Mix and sift the dry ingredients, add egg yolk and milk. Add the sugar, orange and lemon rind, curacao and melted butter. Mix well and fry pancakes very thin in a hot buttered pan.

Corn Battercakes.
- 1½ cupfuls of boiling water
- 2 cupfuls of cornmeal
- 2 eggs
- 1 cupful of flour
- 1½ teaspoons of salt
- 6 teaspoons of baking powder
- 1½ cupfuls of bottled milk
- 3 tablespoonfuls of melted fat

Stir the boiling water into half the cornmeal. Cool slightly and add the beaten egg. Add the rest of the cornmeal mixed with the flour, salt and baking powder, alternately with the milk, to make a thin batter. Then add the fat and pour onto a hot griddle (ungreased) and fry until brown on both sides.

Maryland Chicken.

Cut up young chicken. Rub with salt, pepper and dip in egg diluted with water. Roll in fine cracker crumbs. Put in roaster in hot oven, 500 degrees Fahrenheit, and when heated put one-half cup melted butter over chicken and cover. Cook until tender, about one hour. When done put on hot platter and make sauce.

To butter left in pan add three tablespoons flour, salt and pepper. Stir until smooth. Add one and one-half cups cream and stir until thick. Strain over chicken.

Sh-Sh-Sh! That's our ACE IN THE HOLE!

YOU can't keep good news from spreading—so the word is out that the handsome Series 40 Buick Special is not only big, but amazingly thrifty to boot!

One fellow, for instance, writes that he is getting three more miles per gallon than the salesman promised—why, asks he, don't we print such important news?

The fact is, we don't advertise specific miles-per-gallon figures because you simply can't set a figure that could be right for all drivers under all conditions.

So, instead of following the popular custom of claiming the world, on such matters we prefer to play safe and "talk small"—leaving Buick's really surprising frugality to be one of those nice things you discover after you've driven one awhile!

It works out fine, too! Owners are constantly coming in to brag about high mileage averages, low costs on oil, long trips without a penny for service or attention.

With all of its style, and comfort, and standout performance—at prices beginning at $765* list—Buick's a winner and its thrift is all plus. Ride in one and see if that's not the truth!

*$765 to $1945 are the list prices of the new Buicks at Flint, Mich., subject to change without notice. Standard and special accessory groups on all models at extra cost.

FRAZIER-LEMKE BILL IS DEFEATED IN LOWER HOUSE

Three Billion Dollar Farm Refinancing Plan Is Crushed

The $3,000,000,000 Frazier-Lemke farm debt refinancing bill, on which was based the biggest "new money" drive of the session, was crushed Wednesday under a landslide vote in the house.

The 235 to 142 record ballot that killed the bill and sent lusty yells ringing through the packed house chaber climaxed one of the most hotly contested battles of the 74th congress, and represented a victory of the house leadership.

Sponsors of the legislation, sent down to defeat after five years of hard work to bring the measure to a vote, tried vainly to swing the tide in its favor by offering amendment after amendment designed to lure more votes. Some were accepted but did not change the final result.

One of these would have permitted loans up to no more than 80 per cent of the fair value of farms, whereas the bill originally had called for 100 per cent. Some backers of the legislation, which would allow the issuance of $3,000,000,000 of new money, had predicted that this would bring in 40 more votes.

In the final balloting 173 Democrats and 62 Republicans joined to vote against the bill. Those who voted in favor of it numbered 105 Democrats, 27 Republicans, 7 Progressives and 3 Farmer-Laborites.

The vote of northwest representatives:

Minnesota—For: Ryan, Andresen, Christianson, Knutson, Pittenger, Buckler, Kvale and Lundeen. Against: Maas.

North Dakota—For: Burdick and Lemke.

South Dakota—For: Hildebrandt and Werner.

Fresh charges of inflation, "printing press money", and "greenback legislation" were hurled at the measure throughout the day's uproarious session. Supporters of the bill snapped back assertions that it would save the homes of millions of farmers and spoke of "poison" prevading the chamber.

Congress Speeds Work With Early Adjournment as Its Objective

The lower house of congress Monday cleared its calendar of major adjournment "must" bills by sweeping to quick passage the $2,364,229,712 work relief-deficiency measure.

The bill now goes to the senate where, with the $803,000,000 administration tax bill, it stands as the principal obstacle to speedy conclusion of the congressional session.

The work relief-deficiency bill, carrying $1,425,000,000 for continuance of WPA administrator Harry L. Hopkins' WPA work program, was passed by the house without substantial change from the administration's request.

Provisions of the bill in addition to work relief:

$458,631,860 for the social security setup, including $265,000,000 for the treasury old age benefit account.

$308,000,000 for continuing the Civilian Conservation Corps at a strength of 350,000 with an average of 2,066 camps.

$39,000,000 for the Tennessee valley authority.

$63,350,000 for a public building construction program.

SO. ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK

(By U. S. Department of Agricultural Economics and Minnesota Department of Agriculture)

South St. Paul, Minn., May 11, 1936 (U.S.D.A.): Semi-demoralized conditions in the dressed beef trade resulted in fresh downturns in the live trade at this week's opening despite smaller marketings here and at other midwestern markets. Slaughter steers, yearlings, and she stock sold largely 25c lower on a draggy market today, and little demand was evident for fleshy feeders. Most sales of slaughter steers and yearlings were made at $6.00-7.00, while a few good lightweights sold upward to $7.65, and plain sorts downward to $5.00. Most fed heifers made $6.00-7.00, plainer kinds $4.75-5.75, butcher cows $4.50-5.25, good kinds up to $5.65, low cutters and cutters $3.50-4.50, sausage bulls $4.75-5.25, fat heavy bulls up to $5.65, and better vealers $6.50-7.50, with a few choice kinds at $8.00-8.50, and culls down to $4.00. Common to low good light stocker steers found ready outlet at $5.00-6.50.

Hogs dropped 20-25c or more today, better 140-220 lb. averages stopping mostly at $9.25-9.35, while a few 140-160 lb. kinds made $9.40, most 220-300 lb. $8.70-9.25, bigweight $8.25-8.65, sows $8.00-8.15, good stags $7.75-8.25, and feeder pigs mostly $9.25 to $10.00.

Slaughter lambs recovered part of last week's losses with an upturn of 25-35c or more, which placed medium to choice woolskins at $10.50-11.25 today, and choice fed lambs with coatskins at $10.15. Slaughter ewes lost 25c, better wooled ewes going at $4.50-5.50 and most shorn ewes at $4.00-4.50. Native feedings lambs sold up to $9.25.

STEEL MAKERS say—"Ford buys the best steel." Other suppliers of materials and parts will tell you—"Nobody checks up as closely on quality and price as Ford."

This means a great deal to you as a motorist. It is our way of safeguarding the interests of every purchaser and it leads to this—"The mechanical depreciation on a Ford is less than most cars, especially after the first year."

This is one sign of the extra value in the Ford V-8. Accuracy in manufacturing is another. (The Ford is made to unusually close precision limits.) And there is a long list of fine-car features that are exclusive with Ford in the popular field.

Have you a V-8 engine in your car? You pay $1645 for it in any other car but Ford.

Does your car have Center-Poise Riding? Ford gives you this modern feature—"a front-seat ride for back-seat passengers."

Does your car have fool-proof Super-Safety Mechanical Brakes? The Ford V-8 gives you this proved design, with 186 square inches of braking surface.

Does your car have a genuine steel body structure? Does it have Safety Glass all around? Ford is the only low-price car that gives you this extra protection without extra cost.

You get these fine-car features in the Ford V-8 because of Ford manufacturing methods and low-profit policy.

A PROPER COMBINATION

National Life Insurance Week deserves recognition, if for no other reason, because insurance, as an institution, receives so little attention from the fault finders. When the machinery of civilization came to a dead stop on the fourth of March, 1933, as our ever modest President has stated it, the country's insurance mechanism continued to function. Thruout the depression insurance has met its obligations. The few small companies that have experienced difficulties have been merged into larger organizations and with few exceptions, if any, policy holders have enjoyed the full benefits of their insurance contracts.

The importance of life insurance as a stabilizing influence thruout these recent difficult years probably is not generally appreciated. During this period more than sixty million policies have been in effect in this country. Insurance company assets of more than twenty billion dollars protect the equities of policy holders who have provided their own social security and the social security of their dependents by this means. The figures are impressive.

This fine record is due to several factors, one of the most important of which probably is intelligent government regulation. There was a time, not so many years ago, when insurance was a racket. In the early stages of its development, life insurance was a refined form of swindle. There were companies at that time, too, that operated honestly but they suffered from the many frauds perpetrated by sharpers and the institution as a whole was considered shady.

Then came the housecleaning. Charles Evans Hughes was the leader in that reform movement and he did a good job of it. Strict government regulation put an end to pirate practices. Experience made possible scientific adjustments of rates and the entire structure was reduced to the precision of a mathematical equation. Under private initiative the lost ground was quickly recovered and at the present time, life insurance, a comparatively recent development of our complex civilization, is a respectable, dependable and highly useful agency of society.

From our experience with life insurance perhaps we can find a sensible solution for the difficult problem of controlling other public utilities. Government regulation certainly is essential. But so also is private initiative. In the establishment of a proper relationship between the two perhaps we will find our greatest efficiency.

Our railroads have passed through a period of wildcat promotion similar to that of insurance. More recently the same has been true in the field of electric power which still is an infant industry. There are those who insist that because these things have been mismanaged by private individuals in the past it will not be possible for private individuals to manage them properly in the future. But it should be remembered that these evils have been a part of the pioneer period of development in nearly every field. To some extent the evils of that pioneering stage seem to be necessary to progress and development. But in all fields we learn from experience. The pioneer stage passes. The bad practices are discovered and corrected and we proceed in a more sane manner, guided by experience.

Progress is slow as we proceed by trial and error. It is also expensive. But we do make progress, thanks to individual initiative, a human quality which certainly should not be suppressed. In a proper combination with government regulation, this quality will continue to drive us forward.

One column of legal notices published in this issue that will be well read thruout the county is the list of names of those who will receive old age assistance. In the neighborhood of a hundred thousand dollars will be distributed among these people in the course of a year, some over sixteen thousand dollars of which will be paid directly by local taxpayers. The fact that in some instances this form of aid will take the place of present relief means that all of this cost will not be additional expense. To those who receive the aid, these monthly checks will be very helpful and, considering the more limited wants of those who are advanced in years, in many cases will be sufficient to provide a comfortable living.

City officials are taking action to make the river at this point both more sanitary and more sightly. Dumping of unsanitary or unsightly refuse into the river will no longer be tolerated and the co-operation of property owners along both shores will be asked in an effort to make the banks more beautiful. This is a program property owners should wholeheartedly support, for such a program certainly will enhance the value of their property. The mill pond still needs a better name and it is to be hoped that it will soon receive the recognition it deserves by being designated as a lake.

Building permits for five more substantial homes were granted by the city council at its meeting Tuesday night. When applications come along in droves of five at a time at this season of the year it is not unreasonable to say that this year's building prospects are decidedly bright.

Dogs are again a subject of complaint in the village. Folks who have gardens seem to object to the liberties taken by the roaming packs that infest the community. Owners of dogs may say such an attitude is unreasonable. Gardens have their points but gardens never wag themselves down the street to meet you. Many logical arguments might be advanced on both sides of the question. Unfortunately for those who prefer dogs to gardens, dogs are more easily destroyed, and when the dog population approaches the nuisance stage we start hearing reports of poisoning. Those who like dogs will save themselves many heartaches later on by doing their bit toward keeping dogs from becoming a nuisance.

Housewives will welcome the news that twenty more blocks of the city's streets will be oiled in the near future. It is our guess that when these twenty blocks have been completed, the demand from other sections of the city will make it necessary to treat all the streets before the summer has passed.

FREE PRESS IN JAPAN
(New York Post)

Japan's press is nothing if not discreet. Should it ever be tempted to throw discretion to the winds, a rigid censorship is on the job to protect publishers from themselves. The kid gloves with which the Nipponese journals handled the army officers' revolt late in February gives an illuminating insight into its methods.

For several days, the nation was racked by a severe internal struggle which would, in a democratic land, have called forth the best editorial efforts of the newspapers. Not so in the realm of the Mikado.

On the day after the outbreak, the English edition of the Osaka Mainichi, the biggest national daily, devoted its main editorial to the necessity of protecting the eyesight. For the next four days it dealt with the burning issues of the Franco-Soviet pact, colonies and the agricultural situation. Not until six days after did it permit itself a cautious comment on the "disturbance," almost meaningless in content.

The Japanese Times, American owned, rushed into print the first day with a careful editorial, thought better of it on the second and on the third day congratulated the government on its "honest, intelligent and liberal censorship." That's something to be thankful for.

UNDER THE ENGLISH CHANNEL
(Boston Transcript)

Fifty years ago Lord Randolph Churchill was foremost among opponents of the plan to construct a tunnel under the English channel. Today his son, Winston Spencer Churchill, is foremost among the advocates of that undersea connection between Dover and Calais. And the son like the father speaks from the standpoint of national defense.

To Lord Randolph Churchill, the tunnel appeared to be in the nature of a postern, a small gate to the castle, which might be rushed and allow an enemy to pour troops into the stronghold, and, perhaps overpower the garrison. It was then not forgotten that in the middle of the century there had been fears of invasion, unfounded, perhaps, but nevertheless entertained, when the Italian policy of Napoleon III disturbed the relations of France and Britain. Ships would have been needed to transport the invaders, but when the threat was recalled in after years there were Englishmen who shuddered at the thought of what might have happened had the troops of the French emperor sneaked through a channel tunnel and forced the gate.

To Winston Churchill, man of the twentieth century, such notions appear fantastic, but there is reality in the picture of the tunnel as affording means of importing needed supplies in time of war and of facilitating the movement of the troops of Britain and her Allies. Therefore he thinks of the tunnel as part of the national scheme of defense and security.

To construct this tube, 30 miles in length, the longest ever bored, and to provide it with a railroad, would cost a huge sum. There would seem to be no immediate prospect that it will be forthcoming. Interest in the subject, therefore, centers in the about-face of English opinion concerning it. Half a century ago it was a menace. Today it would be a protection. So do ideas undergo revolutions in a changing world.

OLD GUARD BEWILDERED
(El Dorado, Kan., Times)

An old gentleman stood on the sidelines at the Republican state convention at Wichita the other day. He was a neatly dressed old fellow, with the marks plainly upon him of having attained a moderate success in his chosen line in some small town.

But he looked bewildered and his feet hurt.

The realization was just beginning to dawn upon him that he is a has-been. Nobody paid any attention to him. A few friends of the same type and of similar age stopped now and then and shook hands. But the main crowd jostled by him . . . a crowd of young and middle-aged fellows, laughing among themselves and intent upon a mission of their own.

Once he was a local king pin. He was consulted on all matters political and had a finger in the patronage. He was the confidant of governors and senators . . . who addressed him with an "Hon." . . . He was elected state representative once or twice . . . He was sought in crowded lobbies and in smoke filled hotel rooms, where decisions were reached on matters that seemed highly weighty at the time. But no more. The towering young bucks of the party have shoved him to one side . . . The young crowd has come on and taken over the leadership for itself . . . The gay young blades want none of him. This is their day, their little hour to strut across the arena. Some time, they, too, will stand where the old fellow is now, looking upon a scene which is strangely the same and yet altogether different.

WATER FOR JERUSALEM
(Rabbi Leon Fram in Detroit News)

Water shortage has been the bane of life in Jerusalem for as long as the place is known to the records of history, and that is for thousands of years. This was always from the military viewpoint the vulnerable spot, the heel of Achilles, of the city. One of the most interesting cities in the world, its attractiveness for tourists was always marred by this water famine.

It is a measure of the progress of Palestine in recent years that this centuries-old handicap now has been eliminated.

Last summer I saw the finishing touches being given the huge pipe line aqueduct that was to bring water to Jerusalem from the Yarkon river at Tel Aviv, 50 miles away. Since my return it has been completed. The problem that baffled Melchizedek, Solomon, Hezekiah, Saladin, the crusaders and Allenby has been solved by the British government, and tourists in the Holy City now bathe and shower to their heart's content.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
From the Times of May 11, 1916

A committee named by the boards of Pennington, Marshall and Roseau counties to select a site for the new tuberculosis sanatorium announced that they had chosen a twenty-acre tract south of the city owned by Martin Bothum. The matter is subject to approval by the state board of control. The Ninth District Federation of Woman's clubs closed its convention at the Auditorium on Thursday.—A report of the state department of education ranked Lincoln high school in ninth place in respect to size among the cities of the state outside the Twin Cities and Duluth. The local school had 222 pupils and 16 teachers.—Captain R. J. McDonald, former janitor at the Central school, died May 6 at the age of 74.—John Holland has accepted a position as traveling salesman for George A. Hormel & Company. A. H. Akre left to visit with relatives at Hanley Falls.

Habits of Ants

That ants possess highly developed senses and the power of communicating with one another has long been known to students of their habits. The insects are guided by light, being sensitive to ultra violet rays and also by scent and feeling. Experiments show that an ant follows her own old track by a scent exercised by the tenth segment of the feeler, recognizes other inmates of her nest by a sense of smell resident in the eleventh segment, is guided to eggs, maggots and pupae, which she has to tend by sensation through the eighth and ninth segments, and appreciates the general smell of the nest by means of organs in the twelfth segment.

Half and Half

"You remember the story of the man who made sausage half and half, one rabbit and one pig. Many starting mashes are made the same way. They have the various ingredients, but not in large enough quantities. When you buy Land O' Lakes Starting Mash you are sure the proper amounts of each ingredient are there, regardless of cost. For example, buttermilk powder costs about $150 per ton and yet the quantity of this essential has not been reduced in Land O'Lakes Starting Mash. We have cheaper mashes to meet competition, but they are cheaper in results too. In buying a mash you want the most results per dollar expended. That is what you get when you buy Land O'Lakes Mashes."

Tall Tales
As told to: FRANK E. HAGAN and ELMO SCOTT WATSON

The Grateful Rattlesnake

C. H. TATHAM, editor of the Sabine County Reporter at Hemphill, Texas, doesn't agree with most people that the rattlesnake is always cold hearted, nor does a farmer friend of his.

This farmer found a rattlesnake caught in a steel trap. Taking pity on the snake, he released it. Upon returning home, he found that the rattlesnake had followed him. The reptile acted so friendly that the farmer didn't have the heart to drive it away and it soon became one of his favorite pets.

That winter the farmer moved from his ranch into town. The snake again followed him and made its home under the house. One cold night it coiled up on the doorstep and looked so pathetic that the farmer allowed it to sleep under the stove in the kitchen.

The next morning the farmer heard a commotion downstairs. Rushing into the kitchen he saw a strange sight. A burglar was trying desperately to release himself from the grip of the snake which was coiled tightly around his neck with its tail stuck out the opened window and rattling frantically. A moment later a squad of police burst into the kitchen door. They had heard the snake's burglar alarm and had come to capture the culprit and lead him away to jail.

HIGHWAY SURVEY SHOWS 2 MILLION DAMAGE TO ROADS

Abnormal Season Sends State Expense Past Three Million Mark

Minnesota's trunk highway system suffered abnormal damage of more than $2,000,000 this spring as an aftermath of the unusually severe winter, according to figures submitted to Highway Commissioner N. W. Elsberg by maintenance engineers of the state highway department.

This total does not include damage to bridges in recent spring floods nor abnormal expense incurred in plowing snow off the roads this year.

Total abnormal expenditures and road and bridge damage resulting from unusual weather conditions since January 1 this year approximate more than $3,000,000, listed by Mr. Elsberg as follows:

Damage to gravel roads	$1,116,000
Bituminous treated gravel roads	965,000
Shoulders, slopes and ditches	110,000
Bridges and culverts	200,000
Abnormal snow removal expense	750,000

"This situation, combined with reduced maintenance funds resulting from lowered automobile license fees, creates a serious situation for the trunk highway system", Mr. Elsberg said. "Federal funds cannot be used for maintenance work, so our expenditures are limited in this field to available state revenues.

"Minnesota's experience with the weather this year should be sufficient proof of the danger in cutting down highway revenues below a reasonable margin of safety. After abnormal cold and snow in the winter, we experienced a spring cloudburst in the southern part of the state. Such contingencies must be provided for or our trunk highway system cannot be satisfactorily maintained."

Anderson Brothers Get Red Lake County Jobs

Figures Out New Way of Evading Auto License

It may have been a "pippin" of a joke to Carl Pippin of Ada when he managed to evade the state vehicle auto license tax for five years by changing the numbers on old plates, but the joke was on him. He pleaded guilty before Judge James E. Montague in Crookston Monday and was sentenced to a year in the county jail. Through an ingenious method of pounding out the "30" on a 1930 license plate and using a piece of wire shaped into a "35" which he pounded into the plate, he "got by" until the secretary of state's office learned there were two cars with identical numbers in circulation. They notified the highway patrol and Pippin's arrest followed.

4-H Club Members in Pennington Co. Asked to Join Tree Project

The junior forestry home nursery project aims to point out simple methods that may be undertaken by the average farm boy or girl which will result in the growing of trees for home and community needs by means of a home nursery.

Any 4-H member may take the forestry project. Each club member must have a small portion of land (¼ acre) on which to delevop a small seedbed and grow transplants. Enough trees must be raised for planting one adequate shelter bed or to restock one or means about one thousand small trees.

Records must be kept as to growth and results, and a summary of activities reported to the county agent or club leader and later to the state club leader and extension forester.

The Red River Valley Development Association offers to aid the 4-H club tree planting project in its area to the extent of paying $100.00 in prizes, this amounts to be distributed as planting stock prizes between the counties.

COUNCIL DISPOSES OF MUCH BUSINESS TUESDAY EVENING

Action on issuance of a dry cleaner's license to Miss Dorothy Erickson was deferred pending investigation when J. A. Narverud stated that to issue a license would be in violation of a special ordinance in view of the fact that the establishment has its cleaning work done outside the city.

Joe Holmes was present at the meeting to remind the council that his long pending claim for flood damages to his property incurred following construction of the city dam some years ago had not yet been disposed of. To investigate the matter and make a recommendation President Emil Griebstein appointed a committee including City Attorney Theodore Quale and Alderman Christofferson, Salveson and Kinghorn.

At the request of Mayor W. W. Prichard the council agreed to defray the expense incident to sending Police Chief A. B. Stenberg on Minneapolis next week to attend the police school sponsored by the League of Minnesota Municipalities.

Mr. Quale was instructed to start condemnation proceedings to acquire for the city title to a number of unimproved lots near the tourist park along the river bank east of Highway 32.

The council voted to call for bids on a number of items submitted by Henry C. Eckland, architect for the enclosed skating rink, including reinforcing woven wire for the concrete floor, hardware, paint and varnish.

A communication from the library board was read announcing the resignation of F. B. Curtice as library janitor and the appointment of Bert Larson as his successor. A petition signed by property owners on Laltree av. N. between third and Fourth sts, asked installation of ornamental street lights in that block. It was decided to defer action until a similar installation can also be made on Main av. S.

A letter was read from Dr. A. J. Chesley of the state board of health objecting to the construction of the proposed WPA bath house in Tindolph park owing to the fact that the bathing beach is above the city water intake, and thus tends to affect the purity of the city supply. He suggested as an alternative that a new intake be installed above Tindolph park, but council members indicated they considered the cost of such a project to be prohibitive, and it was decided to take no action at this time.

The council approved the transfer of a beer parlor license at 219 East Third st. from P. W. Roark to Ole G. Granum. Mayor Prichard submitted his appointment of John Waag as poundmaster, which was approved. The only bid submitted on a fuel oil purifier for the municipal power plant was accepted in the amount of $1,120. Following receipt of proposal from the seller, the council agreed to pay $35 in settlement of a $670 bill for sewer tile purchased a year or more ago, some of which was found to be defective.

RALPH FJELSTAD HEADS CONCORDIA FRATERNITY

At a business meeting of the Minnesota Zeta chapter of Pi Kappa Delta at Concordia college last week, Ralph Fjelstad of this city, was elected president for next year. Other officers are Lucile Oehlke, Enderlin, N. D., vice president, and Burton Smith, Kennedy, secretary.

Paving of Highway 59 Is Resumed Near Ogema

Paving of Highway No. 59, between Ogema and Callaway, was resumed last week, a start having been made on the job last fall. Nelson, Mullin & Webster are the contractors in charge of the project, which will add 11.2 miles more to the strip of concrete on this state highway. The new job will link up with the pavement at Ogema and will run within 2 miles south of Callaway. The cost of the road will be $340,223 and 131,700 square yards of concrete will be poured. There is also 117,642 cubic yards of excavating to be done. This will make continous pavement on No. 59 from Erskine to Callaway. The hope has been expressed that the pavement can be continued to Detroit Lakes in the very near future, thus giving the people from the north an all-weather road.

Appeal W. H. DeParq Case to U. S. High Court

The Liggett and Myers Tobacco Co., appealed to the supreme court to free it from facing a third trial of a $50,000 injury suit by William H. Deparq formerly of Thief River Falls, who was injured 13 years ago while riding in one of the tobacco company's trucks. Deparq, then a university student was paralyzed from the waist down as a result of the injuries. A Minnesota federal court jury awarded him damages but this was reversed by the eighth federal circuit court. At the second trial the judge directed a verdict for the company. On appeal the circuit court reversed him and ordered a third trial with questions submitted to the jury.

WPA IMPROVES 6,000 MILES OF RURAL HIGHWAYS

More Than 300 Projects Located in Nearly Every County in State

More than 6,000 miles of farm-to-market roads have been constructed, repaired and improved since the work program began last September according to a report from the office of Victor Christgau, state WPA administrator, released today.

The road work includes 4,000 miles completed and 2,060 miles now under construction. More than 300 projects located in practically every county in the state are now in operation, Mr. Christgau said. In addition to road construction, 39 bridges have been completed and 43 others are under construction at present. Mr. Christgau said as many as 27,000 WPA employees have been engaged in the road-building activities.

"The WPA program is not primarily concerned with projects to improve the trunk highway system which is already one of the finest in the nation," Mr. Christgau said. "It is the back-country roads which have been neglected because of lack of funds available from counties and towns. These roads, nevertheless, are as important to the farmers and to their trading centers as the main highways, and we hope to continue work on farm-to-market roads on as large a scale as our funds and the supply of local relief labor will permit."

The figures on farm-to-market road construction, Mr. Christgau said, do not include the belt line project west of Minneapolis which involves an expenditure of more than $1,000,000 and is employing an average of more than 1,000 men; or the Point Douglas road east of St. Paul for which $600,000 is required and 500 men are employed.

Paid Labor in Africa

Paid labor was, until the arrival of the white man, almost unknown, to the native of Africa.

FISHING SEASON FOR PICKEREL AND PIKE OPEN FRIDAY

Daily Limits Are Announced by the Game and Fish Commission

Minnesota anglers are anxiously awaiting the opening of the wall-eyed pike season on Friday, May 15. On the same date the season opens for great northern pike, pickerel, sand pike or saugers, yellow perch and muskellunge.

The stream trout season, which opened for the rest of the state May 1, will open May 16 in Lake, St. Louis, Itasca, Koochiching, Carlton and Cook counties.

Bullheads, catfish, garfish, and whitefish (not less than 16 inches) carp, dogfish, redhorse, sheepshead, suckers, eelpout, and buffalo may be taken any time of the year except March and April.

The daily limit for Wall-eyed pike and sand pike is eight with 16 permitted in possession in each case. Pickerel and great northern pike have daily limits of 10 and a possession limit of 20. The limit for muskellunge is two per day; for stream trout 15 per day with 25 trout or 20 pounds allowed in possession.

All game fish, regardless of size, may be retained and counted. All trout, except lake trout, must be retained in possession and counted. Stream trout fishing is permitted from one hour before sunrise until 9 p. m.

Resident fishing licenses are 50 cents per individual and $1 per family. Non-resident licenses are $3 each. It is unlawful for a resident over 18 years of age or a non-resident over 16 years of age to fish in Minnesota without a license.

Hindenburg Zeppelin Reaches U. S. Saturday

The Hindenburg, newest and largest of the Zeppelins, completed its first trip across the North Atlantic Saturday in record time for lighter-than-air craft.

The giant ship was moored at the naval air base at Lakehurst, N. J., at 5:23 a m. Eastern Standard Time—61 hours and 53 minutes after it left its home port of Friedrichshafen, Germany.

Following the shipping lane across the North Atlantic, the Hindenburg did not pass over American land until it skirted Long Island, followed Ambrose channel into New York harbor and cruised over New York City.

It was sighted over New York at 4 a. m., just as dawn was lighting the sky. Thousands of early risers cheered, and ships tied down their whistles.

Red River Valley History

By Wm. E. Watking

More on Early Day Movies.

The writer has received an interesting letter from Homer F. Mussey, San Gabriel, Calif., former Thief River Falls resident. It tells about early plays and the first movies and we believe the best way to present the content to readers is to reproduce the letter in its entirety. Mr. Mussey wrote:

"Your column in the Thief River Falls Times of April 23 was one of real interest inasmuch as it referred to the first movie show in Thief River Falls. By reference to the special historical edition of the News-Press under the date 1908 you will find reference to this same show. Of course, in the historical edition I was compelled to eliminate all explanations, etc. I can remember this "most wonderful exploitation of the supernatural", as it was billed.

"The show was presented in the Hanure hall, later occupied as a grocery by Kennison & Mularky, then later by Mularky alone, and still later by J. A. Swore as a confectionary. (A line written in says there were four acts. We can not read the words clearly but they seems to be "the show was 4 real ordinary acts. Perhaps Mr. Mussey inadvertently wrote "real" instead of "reel", but he can explain after he reads this).

"Early picture stars as listed in the historical reference do not include Pauline Hall who starred in a series of railroad thrillers, "The Perils of Pauline", and her sisters. There was Ella Hall who thrilled young and old alike and many others who might later be remembered.

"The first real 'movie theater' in Thief River Falls was established on East Third street next door to a saloon operated at the alley between LaBree and Horace avenues. The theater was run by Henry Eide and Hans and Carl Angell. Linda Robbecke, later Mrs. Geo. Borgen, sang and played the illustrated song between the one-reel films. Carl Laemmele, until recently head of Universal films, then operated a film exchange in Minneapolis. Mr. Laemmele often came to Thief River Falls on hunting trips and the writer, along with those 'Angel' boys and good old Henry, took him out on many a trip where Mr. Laemmele brought home his legal bag of game."

We interpolate here to direct attention to the next paragraph. Remember, it refers to the hunting trips made here by Carl Laemmele:

"But if the now-famous Carl ever killed a bird it was an accident—and the writer hopes he gets a chance to read this—and he will believe me."

Continuing we read:

"Your reference to plays opens up the doors to many things of interest. Back in the old days home talent plays were a frequent social event. The old Kivel hall, two doors north of Second and LaBree, over the pool hall, was the scene of many. The Evenson hall at the corner of Third and Main; the city hall, later converted into the court house; the old hall in the Great Northern hotel, Second and Main, burned and then replaced by the city auditorium—dozens of places opened any time to the home talent plays—and the fun we used to have!

"Even the old Christmas tree programs in the several churches with Dad Mussey acting as Santa Claus giving out candy bags and presents. Say, there isn't room in one edition of one newspaper to cover all the real, old time stories that could be written—and verified—by one contributor."

We shall reserve the rest of the letter for next week as it deals with other phases of the "theater field" that we wish to present separately. We wish to thank Mr. Mussey for his contribution and suggest that he furnish us more information about the old days, on any subjects he elects to write about. We are sure readers will find his letters highly interesting and informative.

We believe a story about notables who have visited Thief River Falls on hunting trips would be edifying. We happen to know that Ed Bremer, kidnap victim, whose ordeal is linked to the Karpis capture, young Hamm, the other "snatch" principal, Louis W. Hill, Jaffray, head of the Soo line and other so-called "big shots" still come up into this section to try their luck as hunters. We should like very much as a reader rather than as a writer to learn who some of the earlier notables were who came here and what their foibles or their accomplishments, other than those for which they became famous were. If young Louis Hill, the grandson of the Empire Builder, ever becomes famous people up in Kittson county may tell of the days when he hunted there and ran through the fields on a dog hunt for hours at a time. At least one who hunted with him told the writer that.

Which prompts us to wisecrack that if Carl Laemmele couldn't shoot a bird, he knows how to avoid "birds" in connection with motion pictures and also how to shot pictures that have a box office appeal.

But to get back to the early films. We should like to hear from some one in Thief River Falls who saw that "most wonderful exploitation of the supernatural."

I WANT TO KEEP MY VITALITY
I eat BREAD FOR FOOD ENERGY

YOU can look no better than you feel. No undernourished woman has vitality. When tired and hungry eat bread or other wheat flour products for quick energy. Bread is one of the most nourishing foods and it provides helpful carbohydrates for building up vitality and energy.

The desire for buoyant carriage, vibrant good health and sustained vitality is natural to every woman. To achieve this you must be properly nourished.

The eating of more bread at meals—and between meals—is the result of modern woman's new attitude toward diet. She eats bread with everything, —it is the good companion of other foods.

Of these fifty pre-school children, thirty-eight were inoculated for diptheria. This examination, sponsored by the Parent-Teachers Association, is a national health project which aims to rescue children from remedial diseases before entering school. Miss Parsons, local school nurse, was in charge of the clinic.

LYCEUM CONTRACT FOR 1936-37 SIGNED

Series of Six Programs Signed to Appear Here

Mr. Claffy has signed a contract for the Lyceum players for the next school year. The 1936-1937 Lyceum series include six programs. The entertainers are the following: Hanscom players, Davies Light Opera, International Male Quartette, Merton Overing, James Williams, and Jack Konk.

The Hanscom players, a cast of six people headed by the well-known actor, Bob Hanscom, present a variety of plays and comedy drama.

Davies Light Opera Company, directed by William Davies, presents a program of two parts, with intervening reading or piano solos. Part I is in concert form, consisting of solos, duets, and quartettes. Part II includes excerpts from light opera and musical comedy, such as "Of Thee I Sing", "Rio Rita", "The Student Prince" and "Naughty Marietta."

"Music of Many Countries" is the theme of the International Male Quartette. The quartette wants to inspire the students to have greater appreciation of music.

Merton Overing from the Housatonic Hills of the Old Bay State is an impersonator of characters and a reader of poems.

James Williams is a specialist in the field of science with his fine spread of laboratory equipment. He places Kerosene in a tube and solidifies so that it can be used as a candle.

Jack Konk in "The Vienna Express" presents an unusual attraction of one actor in a three-act drama of five characters by means of lighting and changes in costumes.

MAKING THE ROUNDS

Lincoln High School

Two errors were made in the listings of last week's honor roll. Martha Havel should have been on the Alpha honor roll and Vincent Arhart, the Freshman Beta honor roll.

The Mixed Chorus, Boys' Glee Club, and Boys' Double Quartette, all under the direction of Miss Springen, have started practicing the numbers they will sing at the Lettermen's Banquet, and the Commencement and Baccalaureate services.

At a senior class meeting held on Thursday, May 7, all students present agreed to spend Senior Day at Bemidji. This will be held in conjunction with the regional track meet. Victor Jung, class president, will have charge of the arrangement.

HIGHEST CENTRAL STUDENTS NAMED

Eighth Graders' Graduation Exercises to be May 29

Miss Lyda Batten, principal of Central school, has made known the three highest ranking students. They are Dagny Tungseth, valedictorian, Doris Rostvet, salutatorian, and Loren Jung, third high ranking student.

The graduation exercises will be held in the Municipal auditorium Friday, May 29. The principal speaker is, as yet, not definite. Doris Rostvet will deliver the address of welcome, Dagny Tungseth the farewell address, and Loren Jung will give a poem. The entire eighth grade, besides the Boy's and Girls' glee clubs, will contribute music to the program.

The usual spelling award, presented by Mrs. Francis Larsen, will be given at this program to the boy or girl making the greatest progress in spelling during his junior high school career.

Normal Training Department

Last Thursday, May seventh, Senator Tungseth gave a very instructive talk to the Teachers' Training Department on the methods of carrying on business in the legislature. They appreciated this very much.

The students had the privilege of attending the music program at the Central school on Friday. They also were invited to lunch rooms in the Knox, Northrop and Washington buildings.

Two weeks are all that remain of the 1935-'36 school year. For the seniors it means the end of four short years at Lincoln high school; for the others, just the end of another school year.

As freshmen, we entered high school thoroughly frightened, but bent on seeing the next four years go by as quickly as possible. We were the last freshmen group at Lincoln high school to go through an initiation—the last, but not the least in severity!

Then through our sophomore and junior year and finally into, and nearly out of, our senior year with the fading purpose of letting the school years sail by with careless abandon. But, now that it is slipping past, it wasn't as bad as we thought it was going to be.

Here it is May, 1936. We have spent (better yet, invested) twelve years years in an education. What does it get us? A diploma and a long-winded speech on May 29th!

But that's not all. Great men (they go by the name "educators") have decided that a high school education is an essential to modern living. Fair enough!

Nevertheless, it is our opinion that high school training isn't worth the powder to blow it to Hades if the graduate goes out and gets himself a blind-alley job.

For all that, a college education that is wasted is worth not a farthing more! In fact less, considering the time spent.

What, then, is a good way to secure the right kind of training? The best way is clearly a college education, used properly. Well, we, of '36, are open to suggestions and aids!

With this issue of the Progress, the '35-'36 staff retires in favor of the new staff. They will assume all responsibility beginning with next week's issue.

We took the paper over a year ago and tried to make it more interesting and yet uphold the profession of journalism. We may have slipped now and then, but we exerted all that was humanly possible to create and maintain the interest of not only the student body but also all who read the newspaper.

As far as we are concerned, we are satisfied with the work we have done. But to those that are still left in school next year, we say, "Be lenient in your criticism of the Progress staff." It's no song. But it was one of the most interesting of all high school activities. Carry on and bear up!

Northrop News

The third grade observed Kindness to Animals Week by giving talks during the language periods, and in environment periods, habits and characteristics of domestic animals were studied.

Some of the spring poems composed by the pupils follow. These poems were written after Mrs. Miller's, "The Bluebird," was presented during an appreciation lesson.

Song of Spring

Spring! Spring!
Spring is here again,
Spring—let it bring
Flowers with its rain.

Let it rain, let it rain,
Let there be Spring again.
Why have a care?
For it will be fair.

Winter's fun,
But 'tis not like Spring
Then all is fun!
—John Scanlan, third grade

Spring

I like Spring
Because the birds begin to sing,
I am glad for Spring
That cheerful season of all.
—Coreen Strand, third grade.

Birds in Summer

"Cheer up! cheer up," is robin redbreast's song,
I wish you would be my guest.
Oh wren, oh wren, where have you been?
"Caw, caw," I wish you would go,
I'm afraid I'll shoot you with my bow
Woodpecker, woodpecker's, "rat-a-tat-tat,"
I wish you would stop so I won't Have to get up out of bed.

Little red-winged blackbird, what is your rush?
Don't go so fast or you'll fall in that brush.
Whippoorwill, why do you say your name?
Are you proud that you're you?
Are you proud of your name?
—Lloyd Johnson, third grade.

Joan Evenson was the winner in the last spell down held in the fifth grade.

The following fifth grade pupils made a score of 10 on self-testing drill No. 27: Donald Berg, Joan Evenson, Lois Hoard, Orville Joppru, James Magnuson, Jack Melby, Robert Powell, Milton Reierson, and Donald Stenstad.

National Music Week will be observed at the Northrop School on Thursday, May seventh.

Languages in California

More than twenty languages and about 100 dialects were spoken in California in ancient Indian days.

Diameter of Galaxy of Stars

The diameter of our galaxy of stars is estimated at about 200,000 light years. (A light year is 6,000,000,000,000 miles.)

LETTERMEN TO HOLD BANQUET NEXT TUESDAY

Mr. A. E. Smith Will Speak; Mr. Bye to Present Letters

On Tuesday, May 19, all students of Lincoln high school who have participated in some extra-curricular activity will be given an opportunity to enjoy themselves at the Lettermens' Banquet in the Civic and Commerce rooms of the Municipal Auditorium.

In the evening program, Mr. W. G. Claffy will be the toastmaster. Superintendent Morris Bye will present letters to students who have participated and earned a letter in the following activities: basketball, fotball, track, debate, declamation, the three executives of the High School Progress, Chorus, and to any band member who attend the district music contest.

The audience will also be favored with a speech by A. E. Smith of Anoka. He is the executive secretary of the Minnesota State high schol league.

Music will be furnished by the high school chorus, the Girls' glee club and the Girl's sextette.

The home economics department under the direction of Miss Lunder and Miss Dahlen, will prepare food for the event.

AUGSBURG COLLEGE QUARTETTE SINGS

Group of Singers Presents Program to Lincoln Students

On Thursday, May 8th, a group of four young men from Augsburg College was introduced to the student body by Rev. E. L. Tungseth. The Augsburg Quartet consists of the following singers: first tenor, Mr. Myrzito; second tenor, Mr. Helland; baritone, Mr. Blake; and second bass, Mr. Steen.

As the first number on the afternoon program, the quartet sang a negro spiritual. After the other three members had left the stage, Mr. Steen recounted a story of the death of Olaf Trigveson, while fighting three enemy kings in a harbor of Norway. To make the story still more interesting, the group harmonized on a song which dealt with the same subject. At the conclusion of this number, the quartet extended a cordial invitation to all graduating students to attend Augsburg College. The concluding number of the program was "Keep in the Middle of the Road."

During the past year, this group had made a world tour of Europe, visiting France, England, Norway, and other nations of the East.

Before leaving Thief River Falls, the Augsburg Quartet presented a program at the Zion Lutheran Church on Thursday evening.

Knox School

Last Wednesday, the date of the music program, the Knox school had one hundred visitors. After the program, these people visited the various classes.

SENIOR ANNUAL BEING PRINTED

1936 Prowler Goes to Times Publishers for Printing

The 1936 Prowler has been completed and has been sent to the Times office for publishing. The Prowler is expected to be ready for distribution by May 25.

This year the seniors have compiled a bigger and better Prowler as compared with school annuals in the last four years. Besides the individual pictures of the members of the senior class there are group pictures of the other classes. The freshmen, sophmore, and junior classes each have two group pictures.

There are pictures of the football squad, the basketball team, the track team, and accounts of all the games played during the last year. Pictures of the debate squad and declamation team and accounts of their activities are also found in the Prowler. Pictures of the Chorus, Girls' Glee Club, Boys' Glee Club, and the smaller groups from the Chorus are also included. The Prowler staff and the Progress staff will also have their pictures in the Prowler.

Accounts of both the Junior and Senior Class Plays and also of the Masquerade and the Junior Prom are given by the graduating class.

Several pages of the Prowler will be devoted to features. This part of the Prowler is always interesting to the students.

ETIQUETTE

Ho hum, spring is here and everyone is feeling very lazy. Yet, at the mere mention of a weiner-roast or a hamburger-fry, each and everyone is on his or her toes and a-rarin' to go.

On such occasions the event should be carefully planned. If there are to be both boys and girls an even number is the more practical. Should the picnic be a "chip-in" affair, each should be obliged to bring something within his means and yet equal to that of the others.

As soon as a suitable location is found, fire wood should be gathered by the boys for the fire and also for a reserve pile, while the girls lay the food and refreshments a convenient distance from the fire.

After the meal, the place should be cleaned, paper burned, and tin cans and bottles sufficiently disposed of. Games may be played or tramps through the woods may be taken. Before leaving, the fire should be carefully extinguished, taking care not to leave any spark or coal which may cause another fire.

Registration for next fall's classes was started by members of the junior class on Wednesday night.

Plummer School Notes

Last Friday the Scouts held a meeting and laid plans for their camping trip this summer. —All showed much enthusiasm and interest. All scouts who have not yet met all requirements and passed all tests are very busy now getting them out of the way before the close of school. Indications are that quite a large number will make the trip.

The warm weather has made possible having the physical education classes outside. Many kittenball teams have been organized and fancy names distinguish them from each other. Some of the games are close and very interesting but others are "Walk-aways." For instance the "Yellow Jackets" took the "Morlan Fighters" for a ride to the tune of 37 to 8. In spite of close or lopsided scores a friendly feeling persists and all seem to realize that they are playing the games for the fun of it and for the exercise they give.

Last Tuesday, upon special invitation of the local camp of the Modern Woodmen the School band played a short concert before that organization and its visitors. The Band is becoming popular and its members enjoy the public appearances the band makes. All are working hard and this, plus the extra practices they attend, make for rapid progress. Mr. Olmstad is to be congratulated on his accomplishment with the band.

Next Saturday, May 16th, the 4-H Clubs of Red Lake County will hold a Rally Day here in Plummer. Outside speakers and outside 4-H Clubs will provide a part of the program. It is hoped that all 4-H Club members and all interested in 4-H Club activities will attend the meetings that day. —Classes last Friday afternoon were cut to 30 minutes to provide time for an assembly. This assembly was of special significance because the awarding of letters for participation in extra curricular activities with appropriate ceremonies was done at this time. All members of the Basketball Squad, the declamatory group, the band, and the Girl's Glee Club were presented with letters as a symbol of certain achievements and accomplishments.

Miss Swenseid, who was in charge of the Glee Club during the year and Miss McElligott who coached the declam contestants gave short talks on the value of these activities.

The 7th and 8th grade science classes which had conducted a bird house building contest of their own appeared with them. Mr. Adrian was called on and gave a short talk on the merits of the different bird houses exhibited and gave reasons why one was better than another. —The speaker of the afternoon was our new county agent, Mr. Palmer. He spoke on 4-H Club Work and its activities, benefits and rewards. —Mr. Palmer was well received by the student body and all agree that he is an interesting speaker.

Friday, May 15, the Junior and Sophomore classes are giving a party for the Freshmen and Seniors. This is a "return" courtesy in appreciation of the party given earlier in the year by the Freshmen and Seniors.

The annual Junior-Senior Banquet and Prom will be held on May 21. The invitations go out this week. —On Thursday, May 21, the Seniors will have charge of the assembly program. This is the time when the class day exercises will be given. A special program is already under preparation which will undoubtedly prove most entertaining.

BEAUTIFYING OF BOULEVARDS IS UNDER WAY

Extensive Plantings Planned for Approaches to New Bridge

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT SPONSORING PROJECT

Program Calls for Setting Out Nearly 1,000 Trees and Shrubs

An elaborate project sponsored by the state highway department got under way this week for setting out approximately 1,000 trees and shrubs at the approaches to the new bridge and on the boulevards along the Johnston st. parkway. Included also is the seeding of lawn grass on the center islands and boulevards.

The work which is being carried out under the supervision of Harold C. Olson, highway department engineer in charge of roadside development, and A. R. Nichols, consulting landscape architect, is being administered by T. R. Day, project engineer, and H. G. Bowes, landscape architect for the department. The officials expressed themselves as being enthusiastic over the possibilities of the local project.

American elms twelve feet high and with four-inch buttgare being set out on the boulevards along the sides of the highway, while at the ends of the center islands are being placed low-growing Mugho pine, Colorado green spruce, lilacs and hydrangeas.

At each end of the bridge, back from the highway, will be set out groups of Swiss mountain pine and Lombardy poplar to form a highly attractive setting for the structure. Included in the project is the extensive development of the park at the east end north of the bridge and the river bank to the south.

The park at the east end of the bridge is to be developed with a stone fireplace, stone benches and graveled walks for the use of picnicers, with a council ring for Boy Scouts as one of the features.

The east side project, which is being carried out without cost to the city, is the result of whole-hearted cooperation between the state highway department and the park board, which has devoted much time to promoting the undertaking.

Also under way as a city project under the direction of the park board is the development of the park fronting on Knight av. and Third st. A full time man is now in charge, and plans call for extensive plantings of flower beds this summer. While some of the shrubbery set out last year was winter-killed, most of the plantings survived and are in good condition.

Matanuska Colony Had Milder Weather Last Winter Than This City

In a letter recently received locally from Mrs. Carl F. Erickson of Palmer, Alaska, formerly of this city and now a member of the government-sponsored Matanuska colony, she reveals that the Palmer community suffered much less from cold weather during the past winter than did northern Minnesota. While Thief River Falls experienced seven weeks of continuous subzero weather in January and February, Mrs. Erickson writes that the mercury dropped as low as 19 below zero only once, and that most of January the temperature ranged from 3 to 42 degrees above zero. The colony is making steady progress, she states, improvements this year including a hospital, school and depot, while an airport is to be built this summer.

A. M. HOLTE SELLS THEATRE INTEREST TO ST. JAMES MAN

C. A. Larson to Take Over Management of Enterprise June 1

In a transaction consummated Saturday A. M. Holte, manager of the Avalon and Lyceum theatres, sold his interest in the Thief River Theatre company to C. A. Larson of St. James, Minnesota. Mr. Larson arrived here Wednesday and will take over the management of the business June 1. He will be associated in the ownership of the enterprise with Andy Anderson and H. W. Anderson of Detroit Lakes.

Mr. Larson has been an employe of the postoffice department for the past 23 years with the exception of a period of World War service, and held the office of postmaster in St. James the past twelve years. His wife and son will join him as soon as living quarters have been arranged for. He said today that plans are under consideration for the complete reconditioning of the Lyceum theatre at an early date.

Since coming to this city in 1928 Mr. Holte, the retiring manager, has acquired a reputation as an excellent showman, at all times presenting the best pictures available. Under his direction the thoroughly modern Avalon theatre was built in 1931, while the Lyceum was purchased last year. He announced that his plans for the future are as yet indefinite, and his many friends hope that he will continue to be a member of local business circles.

COUNCIL DEALS WITH MATTER OF LIGHT RATE

Discusses Proposed Changes With Civic Group Committee

FAIL TO ARRIVE AT AGREEMENT ON RATES

Purchase 150 Signs for Marking Streets Thruout the City

A meeting of a committee from the Civic and Commerce association with the city council was held Friday evening to discuss a proposed new schedule of electric light and power rates, and this was followed by another conference Tuesday with the light committee of the council without any definite recommendation as to rates being arrived at.

Most of the officials, however, appeared to favor a household rate of eight cents for the first 35 kilowatt hours and 3½ cents a kilowatt hour for all current over that amount. Sentiment also was expressed in favor of a considerably higher rate for commercial lighting than for domestic use, together with a reduced power rate.

Walter Jung, chairman of the association's light committee, Friday evening presented in behalf of the group arguments in favor of reduced rates for both light and power, and urged the establishment of a one-meter system. He cited the $45,000 net profit earned last year by the municipal plant as proof that rates are now out of line.

Mr. Jung submitted for consideration a proposed rate structure that it was estimated would give a reduction of from 20 to 25 per cent below the present schedule. Others speaking in support of lower light and power rates were A. W. Mickelson, A. C. Peterson, Lincoln Arnold, W. E. Dahlquist and Paul Londgren.

The council transacted a considerable amount of other business before taking up the rate question. Following the opening of bids it was decided to purchase from the Lyle Sign company 150 two-way street signs at a price of $2.65 each. At the same time the matter of changing the name of Johnson St. to Third st., and of changing Bridge st. to First st. was discussed, sentiment apparently being favorable, but action was deferred pending determination of the proper procedure.

Answering a petition of property owners in the north section of the city objecting to the establishment of a service station on Main av. at Eighth st., Paul Londgren appeared in behalf of William Gilbertson, owner of the property, and said the building will be occupied as a grocery store with gas pumps in front of it, and added that the structure will be set 36 feet back from Main av. and twelve feet back from Eighth st. and that the result would be an improvement in the appearance of the corner. A motion was carried to lay the petition of the objectors on the table, Alderman Kinghorn voting "No".

The application of Fred Forsberg & Son for a permit to erect a warehouse near Crocker av. S., which had been held up pending an investigation was approved after Mr. Forsberg said the building would be used primarily for a garage.

The council voted to issue a dry cleaner's license to Dorothy Erickson on condition that she first procure a state license to operate.

RURAL CREDIT MEN ASSEMBLE IN CITY FOR CONFERENCE

Officials of State Department Address Meeting Here This Week

A group of forty field men for the department of rural credit in Northern Minnesota assembled Monday and Tuesday for their annual conference in the Legion rooms in the Auditorium.

St. Paul officials of the department who were present to address the gathering included Kent Holen, sales manager; J. A. Jajeski, in charge of farm leases; Mr. Hegberg, head of the collection department; and C. H. Gaarenstroom, attorney.

Other speakers included Delmar deHahn of Washington, administrator for this section of the country of the federal soil conservation program; Harry Muir, state chairman in charge of the program; and J. Nesom, soils expert with University Farm, St. Paul, who discussed the different types of soils found in this section of the state.

Messrs. deHahn and Muir Tuesday morning supplied a detailed explanation of the soil conservation program as it applies to the large group of farms owned by the department. The field men present expressed the opinion that summer fallowing intended primarily for weed control should also be entitled to benefit payments under the act, and Mr. deHahn said he would bring the matter to the attention of Washington authorities.

BAND INSTRUCTOR NAMED BY SCHOOL BOARD TUESDAY

Donald Chalmers and Miss Thompson Resign From Faculty Posts

Resignations of two additional members of the public school faculty were accepted at a special meeting of the board of education Tuesday evening, and at the same time Ronald G. Auxiliary Designates Next Saturday as Poppy Day Here

May is "Poppy Month" in the American Legion Auxiliary. Energies of the organization this month will be centered upon the distribution of the American Legion and Auxiliary memorial poppies to honor the World War dead and aid the war's living victims, said Mrs. M. R. Levorsen, poppy chairman of Elmer J. Eklund Unit of the Auxiliary here. The distribution will take place throughout the country on May 23, the Saturday before Memorial Day.

Nearly 100,000 Auxiliary women will take part in the poppy program, distributing the poppies and receiving contributions for the welfare work of the Legion and Auxiliary. Organization of these workers is now being completed in practically all of the 9,700 communities where Auxiliary Units are located. All will work as unpaid volunteers, every penny of the money received for the poppies going into the welfare funds of the Legion and Auxiliary.

Approximately 10,000,000 paper poppies, made in replica of the wild poppies of France and Belgium, have been manufactured for the Auxiliary by disabled war veterans. This work has been carried on through the winter and spring in sixty government hospitals and poppy workrooms in forty states. It has given employment to hundreds of needy veterans who could not do or find other work and has brought them earnings of approximately $100,000.

Through the poppy, the Legion and Auxiliary give everyone an opportunity to share in their work for the disabled veterans, their families and the families of the dead. The poppy contributions form the principal source of support for the vast program of relief and rehabilitation work carried out continuously by the two organizations for the needy victims of the war. The bulk of the funds remain in the communities where they are raised and are expended in local relief work.

The Thief River Falls Unit will observe Poppy Day here Saturday, May 23, when its members will distribute poppies on the streets in the business district. A large committee under Mrs. Levorsen's leadership is perfecting plans for the day, when they hope the city will cooperate wholeheartedly in paying tribute to the war dead and giving aid to the living victims of the war.

LOCAL FISHERMEN TAKE ADVANTAGE OF SEASON START

Two Parties Bring Back Nice Strings of Lake Trout From Crow Lake

Dozens of Northern Minnesota lakes were visited during the past week-end by eager fishermen from this community, who took advantage of the opening Friday of the pike fishing season. They returned with reports of fair to excellent luck.

One of the biggest strings, comprising forty fine specimens of lake trout, was brought back from Crow lake across the Canadian boundary by a party including H. A. Brumund, Herb Jung, G. P. Hinton and Carl Kretschmar. The lake was frozen over when the group got there early last week, but the ice went out in time to give them three days of fishing.

Perhaps the biggest trophy brought back to the city was a fifteen-pound lake trout landed in Crow lake by Leon J. Kaliher after a struggle lasting more than an hour. A total of 28 trout were taken. With Mr. Kaliher were H. M. Olson, George Mostue and C. W. Mattson, the party staying at Nester's Arrowhead camp operated by Bob Booren, Ed Johnston and Tue Langlie of this city. Three log cabins have been completed at the camp, and work is under way on the fourth.

Auxiliary Notes

Mrs. T. L. Stickney, district president, met with the officers and members committee on Monday evening. Plans were formulated for an intensive membership "roundup" during the coming week. All unit members are urged to cooperate by bringing in membership dollars—this will be much appreciated.

Poppy Day, this Saturday, May 23rd. The manufacture of each paper poppy enabled a disabled service man to earn one cent. Every cent of the money derived from the sale of poppies is used for disabled or needy veterans or their families. The poppy is to be worn on Memorial Day as a mark of respect to our departed service men and as a symbol of the sacrifices of men who died in the service of their country.

Attractive poppy posters have been made by the school children and are on display in the store windows. Appropriate prizes are being awarded by the auxiliary for the prize posters. Regular meeting of the auxiliary this Thursday evening. Delegates to the district convention at Fergus Falls, June 13, 14, and 15, will be elected at this meeting. Be there.

Mrs. Leverson, poppy chairman, urges every member to report at the Memorial room next Saturday to help sell poppies. By selling, as well as by buying and wearing an American Legion Auxiliary memorial poppy, each one of you is aiding in the rehabilitation of disabled World War veterans.

"My message is remembrance.
The word that I would say
'Lest we forget' please buy and wear the bloom of Poppy day."

Dog Is of Ancient History

The dog is truly an animal of ancient history. The many breeds each have a separate history woven about their early ancestry. There's a dog from every country. France has its sheepdog, the Briard; Ireland, the Kerry Blue terrier; Switzerland, its St. Bernard; Spain, its Pointer and Spaniel, and so on.

SURE SHOT

"Do you think women would make good soldiers?"

"If they were as persistent in battle as in argument they would be invincible."

WOMEN'S PROJECT LEADERS DISCUSS CHEERY KITCHENS

Miss Charlotte Kirchner Addresses Three Meetings in County

"Cheerful Kitchens" is the subject of discussion by the Women's project groups this month. Miss Charlotte Kirchner of the University Farm met with the local leaders of eleven groups in Thief River Falls, on Monday, five groups in Goodridge on Tuesday and six groups in St. Hilaire on Wednesday.

Things to be considered in cheerful kitchens are kinds, finishes and colors of floors, floor coverings, woodwork and suggestions for making and hanging curtains. Kitchen equipment is discussed in relation to construction and use as well as principles of selection.

The next leaders training meeting will be June 15, 16 and 17, and the topic for next month is "Cleaning and repairs."

W. C. T. U. News Notes

At The W. C. T. U. Booth

A man came into the booth a pitiful sight, shaking all over. He said he had been drinking for 25 years, and wanted to quit. With temptation everywhere, he said it was difficult. We gave him literature which he took home to study. He said, "I wish you would hurry and get prohibition back, so folks would not be so easily tempted."

A young sailor lad told us how he had been brought up in a strict home, but when about 13, he had been invited to a party where cocktails were served. Not knowing what they contained, he took one and when they wanted him to have another, he said, "No more for me, I am sick enough now." To this day he has let liquor alone. He said, he has seen enough in the navy.

The National Voice is being well received by the public at the San Diego Exposition and we give out copies at every opportunity. Often visitors stand and talk about the National Voice and many say that they listen to Miss Habler over the radio, and think she is doing a much needed work. Many of those are men, and many are moderate drinkers, but will listen to anything you have to say with great respect. The interesting thing is that we have had more men ask for the Voice, after knowing we have it, than women. Many come back for the paper after seeing it in the hands of others.

The night watchman stopped to talk the other evening. We asked him if he ever fell asleep on the job. Then we added: "If you read this paper you will stay awake."

Poem Stilled Strife

By the flow of the inland river,
Whence the fleets of iron have fled,
Where the blades of the grave grass quiver,
Asleep are the ranks of the dead;
Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the judgment day;
Under the one, the Blue,
Under the other, the Gray.

These in the robings of glory,
Those in the gloom of defeat,
All with the battle-blood gory
In the dusk of eternity meet;
Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the judgment day;
Under the laurel, the Blue,
Under the willow, the Gray.

No more shall the war-cry sever,
Or the winding rivers be red;
They banish their anger forever
When they laurel the graves of our dead!
Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the judgment day;
Love and tears for the Blue,
Tears and love for the Gray.

THE first spring following the close of the Civil war found a group of southern women decorating the graves of the soldier dead. They placed their floral tributes on all the graves regardless of the color of the uniform the buried men wore. That these mothers, sisters and widows could remember the northern soldiers with the same tribute of love that they remembered their own dead brought about a feeling of tolerance all over the country. This little ceremony inspired the poet, Francis Miles Finch, to write his poem, "The Blue and the Gray."

Later it was set to music, and the singing and reading of it did more to re-establish harmony than any of the well thought out plans of reconciliation of the diplomats. The second spring after the war, the northern women decorated the graves of the southern men as well as the graves of their own dead.

In 1868 General Logan commanded all the soldiers' graves to be decorated. The same year New York declared Memorial day a legal holiday and state after state followed its example. So one day toward the latter part of May the dead are honored and a just tribute is paid to memories.

Since this day has been largely responsible for establishing harmony between the North and South it is also due to its results that belles from the South and maids from the North now gather in the same social cliques.

An optimist is a fellow who still thinks the tax on beer will pay the running expenses of the government.

He will be accompanied by Theodore Berggren.—Mr. and Mrs. Solmonson and son Ray motored to Crookston on Sunday where they were the guests of their daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Ekre and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rheinschmidt.

Oil Shale

Oil shale, a sedimentary deposit in which hydrocarbons are tightly locked in the rock structure, contains an oil reserve of 80 billion barrels, equivalent to a two hundred years' supply. It would, according to an authority, produce enough gasoline to run all the motorcars in the world for four hundred years. The United States possesses more than a third of this reserve. Chicago is built on such a strata.

Gardeners Are Warned Against Getting Soil Into Deep-Cut Wounds

Farmers and gardners who are busy plowing and fertilizing the ground these days should remember that the chance injuries that tetanus or "lock jaw", as it is popularly known, may be dangerous.

The Committee on Public Health Education of the Minnesota State Medical Ass'n today issues a warning to these spring toilers to avoid such injuries if possible. If they occur, the injuries should be cared for immediately.

There are two organisms, especially, that may cause serious trouble. One is the tetanus organism, the other the gas bacillus.

Both are what are known as anaerobic organisms. They thrive out of the air and they are most likely to cause trouble when they lodge in injured tissue and are protected from the air. Punch wounds that thrust dirt far under the surfaces are the most dangerous and should be attended to immediately. Often the injury itself does not appear to be serious. Trouble comes when the organism begins to grow and manufacture its poison in the wound.

Anti toxins are now available for both tetanus and gas bacillus poisoning. The effectiveness of the tetanus anti toxin was demonstrated, especially during the World War when the death rate from tetanus, to be effective, however, it is fairly known, was cut down tremendously by comparison with earlier wars. To be effective, however, it must be administered before symptoms of poisoning appear. After that the issue is doubtful no matter how much of the anti toxin is administered.

Late studies of gas bacillus poisoning and the anti toxin developed to counteract it show that, in this case also, the anti toxin must be administered early and in adequate amounts.

First Paint in Utah

The first paint made in Utah was made by Brigham Young, records say. In the early 50s the pioneer church leader had a 100-pound keg of lead pigment brought by ox team across the plains. Joseph Hill crushed enough flaxseed to make the linseed oil necessary for making the paint which was applied to the residence the church head was building for himself.

Can You Beat It?

Editor Times:

"Business Week" for May 9, 1936 contains the following items in its "Washington Bulletin:"

"Short Margin Boost." "Federal Reserve's intention, reported last week to boost margin requirements on short sales from 10% to 25%, as against 55% margin necessary to buy stocks, will be announced shortly. Present thought is to raise requirement for short sales to 25%."

Just think of penalizing buyers 55% as against 10% for sellers! That sure is a nice way to help put prosperity back and most of these selling or "bear" operations are sales of stuff the sellers have not got at all, that is they are "short sales". One would naturally think they would have penalized the "bears" more than the "bulls" if they were interested in helping the country to come back and aid in putting some value back into real wealth. If they had required 55% on short sales and only 10% on purchases, there would have been some little sense in it, although short sales are a fake in themselves, and should be outlawed, so as to let the supply and demand law operate freely, except in necessities which are monopolized and should be price controlled by the government.

If the American people do not get rid of this Monster the Federal Reserve System we will have Fascism and lose our liberties in a short time. It is the most insane and unrighteous monetary system ever devised and every conscientious [illegible] should be voted down so we would never again have a chance to misrepresent the people.

The present raising of margins on stock sales to 55%, of course, is nothing but political propaganda to gradually raise prices until the fall election so as to make voters believe that things are straightening out, and thus make them think we better stick to the old parties. But after election, look out.

A National New Party is about the only thing that would have any show to head off Fascism and Communism with consequent dictatorship.

Andrew Tronson.

Three million years ago, according to paleontologists, a little creature about the size of a jackrabbit roamed the plains of North America. LITTLE BOY LOST

Teacher was telling the class about the conquest of Alexander the Great.

"When Alexander had conquered India," she said, "what do you think he did? Do you think he gave a great feast to celebrate his triumph? No, he sat down and wept."

The pupils seemed disappointed at this childish display on the part of a hero, so she hastened to explain. "Now, why do you think Alexander wept?" she asked.

Up shot a hand.

"Please, miss," said Freddie, "perhaps he didn't know the way back."

THE CHASE

A Snag

A farmer visited his son's college. Watching students in a chemistry class he was told they were looking for a universal solvent.

"What's that?" asked the farmer.

"A liquid that will dissolve anything."

"That's a great idea," agreed the farmer. "When you find it, what are you going to keep it in?"—Everybody's Weekly.

The Awful Truth

"You look fed up, old man."

"Yes, I've had a tiring day. That little beast of an office boy of mine came to me with the old gag about getting off for his grandmother's funeral, so just to teach him a lesson I said I would accompany him."

"Ah, not so bad; was it a good game?"

"No, it was his grandmother's funeral!"

Current Relief Work

A humane agent in northern Minnesota was called one day to the country, where a man was reported as not properly feeding his horse.

Said the agent, "Why do you keep that horse, anyway?"

The man answered, "I have to have him to cut the hay."

"Hay for what?" inquired the agent.

"Hay to feed the horse," replied the man.

As Usual

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas were returning home along a moonlit country lane after a long and strenuous day's shopping.

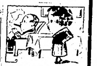
Hubby was on the point of sleeping, but his wife was full of go.

Suddenly she exclaimed:

"Oh, James, what a lovely moon!"

"Yes," murmured James wearily, "I suppose you want it. How much is it?"—Stray Stories Magazine.

MACHINE AGE STUFF



"You told me when I married you that I could have all the new gowns I wanted."

"I didn't know then that there were so many made."

She Had 'Em

Hired Girl—Ma'am, the cat's just had chickens.

Farmer's Wife—Nonsense, Mary, you mean kittens.

Hired Girl—Was them kittens or chickens you brought in this morning, ma'am?

Farmer's Wife—Why, chickens, of course.

Hired Girl—Well, them's what the cat's had.

As Good as Any

Billy's mother looked at him accusingly.

"What have you done with all your money, son?" she asked. "Your little bank is empty."

"Well, mother," answered the boy, "yesterday was a rainy day, so I spent it."

"U" Forester Issues Minnesota Tree Guide

A very practical and informative tree guide for 4-H club members, farmers and home owners, schools, and out-door lovers generally, is a new book by Parker O. Anderson, well known extension forester of the University Farm staff.

Fundamental facts about the formation of trees and their habits of growth and reproduction are set forth, and there are clear-cut instructions on the selection, planting, and care of trees for farms, homes, woodlots, and other uses.

The outstanding feature, however, consists of the descriptions and illustrations of about 50 of Minnesota's more important trees. The illustrations show twigs, leaves, and fruit or seeds of each species along with facts about its habits of growth, its leaves, fruit and bark, the wood and its uses, and its range, or the conditions under which it will thrive.

Mr. Anderson's book, entitled "Trees and Tree Planting," is published by the Webb Publishing Company, St. Paul, and sells at a small cost.

Penalty for Desertion

A man who deserts from the army in time of peace is liable to arrest for three years after the date of desertion. After that he is immune from arrest, provided he has lived continuously in the United States under his true name during the three years following his desertion. He may then apply for a discharge.

Redwood Falls will probably be flooded with applications for teachers this year; five of the "marms" have decided to decline the renewal of their contracts because they are to be married.

Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

"I place economy among the first and most important of republican virtues, and public debt as the greatest of dangers to be feared."—Thomas Jefferson.

Thief River Falls isn't noted as a tourist center but judging from the number of times we have been asked to contribute toward the price of a meal during the past two weeks we are getting more than our share of the collect-as-you-go transients this year. The boys seem to be heading for the harvest fields rather early and of course it is unreasonable to expect professional harvest hands to work when there isn't any harvesting to do. In a couple of months, if crowded, they can get by as snow shovelers. They are a problem. When we do break down and give to them we immediately wish we hadn't and when we don't we keep wondering if they really were hungry. Now that the city owns an acre of cord wood that needs to be reduced to stove length perhaps an easy solution to the problem would be a public saw master to whom these travellers could be referred. Those who are worthy would not object to an exchange of work for food. The others would keep moving as soon as they discovered this is a wood lot town. Directions on how to earn a meal could be posted at convenient places with proper cautions against panhandling.

G-men are receiving much merited praise these days for the effective work they have done in tracking down criminals and putting a stop to some of the most vicious crime rackets. There was a time, a few years ago, when it seemed almost impossible for society to cope with the gangsters who terrorized the country. Local communities and states were incapable of suppressing the highly organized mobs that operated on a national scale, headquartering wherever corrupt politics afforded them the greatest protection. It took a Lindberg kidnaping to arouse the nation to a point where intervention by federal police agencies was demanded. For many years the federal government had had an effective police organization. Its activities had been limited to such crimes against the federal government as counterfeiting and tampering with the mail. But in its limited field it had an excellent reputation. The broader powers conferred upon this organization following the Lindberg tragedy have certainly been justified by the results. Its powers are still quite limited however. A murder machine can still operate within the borders of a city or state without fear of the G-men. Minnesota's crimes will go unsolved unless they are solved by Minnesota officials. Which means that several Minnesota crimes that have attracted nation-wide attention probably never will be solved. Perhaps the power of the feds should be extended a little more. It would be interesting to see what a half a dozen G-men could uncover in this good state of ours.

Having had an Alaskan winter, it isn't strange that we are now having a harvest of Alaskan mosquitoes. If these pests continue to be as active thruout the summer as they have been up to the present time this spring, it's going to be a tough season in the nudist camps.

Members of the Junior Civic & Commerce Association deserve a round of cheers for inducing the council to buy attractive street markers. As a result of the action taken last week, at least enough of the city's streets will be marked to be of real assistance to strangers in finding their way about. Under the new arrangement Bridge Street will be designated as First and Johnson as Third, giving the East Side a uniform tie-up with the streets in the business section. So now we apparently are well on the way toward getting another much needed improvement in the city, one that, for a small cost, will eliminate much inconvenience.

As was to be expected, publication of the names of those who will receive old age assistance provided a subject for much conversation. While the general verdict seems to be that the county board handled the problem fairly well, almost everyone seemed to be reasonably certain that a few mistakes had been made. Everyone seemed to know that some one or two on the list either were well able to provide for themselves or had children able to support them. It is possible that a further, more complete, check of the financial condition of those receiving aid, and the ability of their children to provide for them, as the law intends, would be proper.

American culture again receives recognition. Inmates of a French insane asylum, in expressing their preferences in the field of music, voted unanimously in favor of American jazz.

Did you notice the Thomas Jefferson quotation that heads the column this week? That's a concession to our Democratic friends who, about every other week, get together and stage a Jefferson Day celebration. And Thomas Jefferson was a truly great President, of whom the Democrats have every right to be proud. We know that these quotations, used from time to time as space permits, will be pleasing to those who, on other occasions, have accused us of being a little narrow in our political views.

(Murray County Herald)

The good folk of Alberta, Canada, who have been eagerly waiting for the $25 per month that Premier Aberhart promised them, find not only must they keep on waiting, but that their taxes must be raised because the province is in the red right now. They voted in the Social Credit administration on the promise of the absolute payment to every citizen of $25 per month. They are now thoroughly disgusted, and many of them are very bitter. And yet it is, hard as the saying may sound, the fault of the people that they are thus disappointed. All through human history we have listened to those who promised us something for nothing, and have never yet seen such a promise come to fruition. A man does not have to be an expert in government to know that wealth cannot be pulled out of the air. Whenever he calls for a panacea for his ills which is based on the idea of something for nothing he is doomed to disappointment. Yet people keep on voting for such projects and then profess great wrath when the projects fail—as they must fail.

The Minnesota Public Safety Council are "drunken walking" as taking a heavy toll of life on the highways. [illegible] walking takes a heavier toll. The average highway walker moves serenely along without any realization of the fact that the [illegible] every few minutes by autos coming from the opposite direction. We recall one case of Fergus Falls people where a highway walker was not seen by a driver until it was too late to stop. The driver, rather than strike the walker, swung out, ditched his car and seriously injured himself and several other people. Such accidents occur constantly in all parts of the country. People walking on the highways are not very often drunk, the drunks are much more likely to be riding, but the walkers seem to have no idea of the danger they are in and the danger they are causing others when they walk on the highways at night with no light and not even a piece of light clothing.—Fergus Falls Journal.

SO. ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK

(U. S. Department of Agricultural Economics and Minnesota Department of Agriculture)

South St. Paul, Minn., May 18, 1936 (U.S.D.A.) Improved conditions in the dressed trade and moderate receipts on the local market made for a fairly active and fully steady to 15c higher market on slaughter cattle at the week's opening. Medium to good fed steers and yearlings bulked at $6.50-7.75, and strictly good kinds scaling up to 1100 lbs. scored $8.00. Medium to good fed yearling heifers cashed $6.25-7.50, plainer kinds $5.00-6.00, most butcher cows $4.85-5.50, good beef cows $5.75-6.00, low cutter and cutters $3.60-4.75, sausage bulls $5.15-5.50, best beef bulls $5.75, and better grade vealers $7.50-8.00, with a few to $9.00, and common sorts down to $5.00. Stockers and feeders brought strong to 25c higher terms, common to medium stockers making $5.00-6.25, good to choice grades $6.50-7.50.

Hogs continued to show an improvement as the new week opened, better 180-220 lb. weights making $9.20-9.75, 220-250 lb. $8.90-9.25, 250-300 lb. $8.50-9.00, 300-400 lb. $8.15-8.65, and packing sows $8.00-8.50. A few pig cattle [illegible] $9.25-9.50.

Sharp Upturn in Farm Bureau Cooperative Business Is Revealed

Sharp upturn in the business activities of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation are reported this week by officers of the organization. With moisture conditions indicating efficient use of fertilizer this season, the Farm Bureau's fertilizer manufacturing plant is operating on a 24-hour-a-day basis in an attempt to keep abreast of orders. Thirty additional men have been added to the staff of the St. Paul plant to handle the additional business that is coming to the Northwest's largest fertilizer manufacturer.

The Farm Bureau insurance service also reports an unprecedented increase in business, both in life and automobile insurance. About 400 agents, many of them farmers, are now engaged in writing and servicing Farm Bureau insurance.

The Farm Bureau membership, paid up for 1936, is far in excess of any previous May registration. A total of 17,158 Minnesota farm families have already paid their dues for this year. In some counties more than one-third of the farm families already have affiliated.

URGE WORKERS TO ENROL IN 4-H CLUB CAMP JUNE 4 TO 6

Educational Program Is Arranged for Event in Crookston

June 4, 5, 6 is boy's and girl's 4-H Club Week at Crookston. If those who wish to go have not put in their application to their adult leader, they should do so at once, because they will choose from the applications the ones which they think will best represent their club.

The main purpose of the 4-H club week is the educational opportunities it affords 4-H club members. The first aim of every boy and girl who is planning to attend should be to get as much information as possible in the various phases of farming and homemaking. The entire forenoon will be devoted to instruction. Beginning at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of the first day and continuing on the second and third afternoons, a competitive athletic program will be staged in which 15 counties will compete.

Each county will be permitted to enter the kittenball, volley ball, basket ball, kick ball, horseshoe, swimming and track events. Every member should go prepared to take part in the play program and should take tennis shoes and old clothes for the games.

TURTLE WITH DATE CARVED IN SHELL 20 YEARS AGO

Rochester.—A strange, strange story of a mud turtle that came back is told by W. L. Toogood, real estate dealer at Rochester. As a small boy he and his brother spied and seized a mud turtle which had ventured into the farmyard. Before they let it go they marked the date on the bottom of its shell. Time passed and 20 years later Mr. Mud Turtle came back to visit his Toogood friends. It was the same turtle, for on the bottom of its shell it bore the dates marked a score of years before.

PULLS UP 29 FISH IN SINGLE CAST!

Worthington.—At least one of the fishermen who besieged Okebena for bullheads a week ago was astounded by his luck. He caught 20 bullheads, 3 carp, 3 crappies, and 3 pike in one cast! When his line snagged in some wire he pulled to the surface an elaborate fish trap that had been planted near a culvert under a grade. The catch caused quite a sensation along the waterfront. The game fish were returned to the lake and the trap destroyed. Fish traps in any form are illegal, and the person who planted the trap is subject to arrest and a heavy fine.

FAIR GROUPS MAY NOW OBTAIN FUNDS UNDER WPA SETUP

Associations Are Classed as 'Municipalities' Under New Ruling

Regulations which previously prevented WPA work for county fair associations were removed this week to make it possible for 44 additional counties to receive improvements under the federal work program. Forty-three projects to cost more than $500,000, including 18 in operation or completed, already are in the program.

This was one of the highlights of an address by Victor Christgau, state WPA administrator, before the Minnesota Federation of County Fairs held in the Nicollet Hotel, Minneapolis Saturday.

The announcement that barriers on county fair work had been removed was of particular interest to Blue Earth, Brown and Isanti county associations, where work had been held up because of the regulations.

"Washington has ruled," Mr. Christgau said, "that recent legislation defining 'municipalities' brings district and county agricultural societies clearly within the scope of a 'municipality' for the purpose of WPA project sponsorship."

Discussing the status of fairground projects which have been approved but not yet started, Mr. Christgau said that their future depends entirely upon whether the WPA program is continued beyond June 30, as well as upon the amount of relief labor available in the localities. He assured local representatives of his interest in the proposals, and said he would lean over backward to meet their requests.

Improvements such as construction of 4-H club buildings, laying sanitary sewers, general improvements of grounds and building repairs await final approval from the following counties: Cook, St. Louis, Itasca (Effie), Koochiching, Mille Lacs, Pine, Isanti, Morrison, Hubbard, Ramsey, Freeborn, Mower, Hennepin, Otter Tail, Norman, Becker, Swift, Blue Earth, Nobles, Rock and Murray.

In operation, Mr. Christgau said, are projects at Baudette where workmen are constructing and remodeling four buildings $6,400; at Mahnomen, a new exhibition building is being erected and the grandstand and racetrack are being improved $37,800; at Ada, grandstand and new pavilion $18,000; at Fergus Falls, grandstand improvements $25,000; Fertile, additional grandstand facilities and grading $29,600; at Bemidji, construction of sheds and general repairs $12,800.

"As soon as we have definite word that the program will continue into the next fiscal year," Mr. Christgau said, "we hope to have as many of these county fair ground projects as possible in our new program. We consider them especially valuable to communities of the respective counties they serve."

HIGHWAY PLANNING SURVEY TO COVER THE ENTIRE STATE

Purpose Is to Develop Long Time Road Improvement Program in State

Within the next few weeks field activity in Minnesota's highway planning survey will become general over the state, according to an announcement by the state highway department. The work is already under way on a small scale, but will be expanded rapidly in June and July as traffic steps up to its summer peak.

The Minnesota survey is part of a national highway study being conducted by the United States Bureau of Public Roads in co-operation with the state highway departments.

The first phase of the study to be initiated in the field is the weighing and classification of traffic loads at strategic points on the highways. Parties equipped with portable truck scales, or loadometers, will handle this part of the work, analyzing traffic on state, county and township roads.

Other phases of the study will include a comprehensive inventory showing the condition of rural roads both on and off the state system, a study of the use and traffic importance of specific roads and of general road financing problems.

The purpose of the survey is to provide data for long-term planning of road programs so that the public will obtain the maximum of highway service at a minimum of cost, according to N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner.

Data developed in this survey will supplement the finding of the economic road study made in Minnesota in 1934 under the supervision of the United States Bureau of Public Roads. Forty states are now working with the federal bureau in its planning project.

Money Issuing Power

There is no limit on the money issuing power of a government. Written constitutions in every case vest the legislative authority with full power to issue money and regulate its value. In most cases governments then delegate the money issuing power to central banks or ordinary commercial banks but restrict their note issuing power by requiring certain metallic reserves.

These students were selected because of the local contests held in the past few weeks. As these boys were winners, they will represent Thief River Falls. About one hundred schools will be represented in this contest.

Adviser .... J. K. Montague

With this last issue of the school year a new Progress staff is formed. We hope to keep up all the high standards set up by the outgoing staff. Our main aim is to give the students of Lincoln high school a paper which they may be proud to call their own. Any criticism either good or otherwise, that any student has to offer, will be gladly accepted. With our first issue of the next school year, we will try to include not only the news of the school but also features with that little bit of gossip that you all like so well.

All we know of editing the Progress, we have learned from the members of the retiring staff as well as our adviser. Any success that may come to the Progress next year will be due to everything they have shown us.

To the Seniors—Congratulations, you have gained a victory when you are graduated. Many people start out with just such a goal in mind, but many of them have not, and perhaps never will, reach it. You have gone through twelve years of hard work with just a little bit of fun thrown in. But we're sure there is not one among you who will or can truthfully say that he has not enjoyed at least a part of each and every one of those years. You have labored and learned under the supervision of twenty or more teachers, each of whom has a different idea of teaching. You have had to adapt yourselves to each instructor's method of teaching, and in most cases this has been done smoothly and easily. Those of you who will continue your education will contact more instructors to acquaint yourself with. Those who do not get additional schooling will be your own teachers and will have to get adapted not only to employers but to yourselves in a new working world. This is another task that is not as easy as it might be but you have had twelve years of practice and you will have a "sheepskin" to show for it. So, to the future lawyers, merchants and chiefs of our city, we again offer our heartiest congratulations.

D. O.

Ode to George Washington

"Onward, onward, ever onward!
We'll capture the British in all their force Forward ever, Stopping never,"
Cried the man on the big white horse.

"Boldly fight, bravely fight!
We'll stop their supplies at the source
If we fight with all our might,"
Cried the man on the big white horse.

"Attack, my men, attack!
We're succeeding in our course,
And will not now turn back,"
Cried the man on the big white horse.

Now with the battle won,
And the country's freedom endorsed,
The man who ruled in Washington
Was the man on the big white horse.

—Lois Morell

ME

I'm kind of tattered,
And I'm kind of torn,
But there's a heart within me
That's not half so worn.

I'm kind of humble
And I'm kind of meek,
But there's a heart within me
That's still got a beat.

I'm kind of feeble,
And I'm kind of old,
But there's a heart within me
That still is bold.

I'm kind of passing,
And I'm kind of gone,
But there's a heart within me
That still is warm.

I'm kind of cold,
And I'm kind of weak,
And there's a heart within me
That's going to sleep.

—Margaret Gustafson

The end of school means not only rushing for exams but also a grand rush for the "gym josies" and their instructor. This year leaves us with the tennis tournament, kittenball, horseshoe, track, and the Grad School Track Meet. All are well under way—full account of them next year.

Music groups under the direction of Miss Springen will present several selections at the Baccalaureate Services on May 24. The program is as follows: Chorus, "Praise the Lord", Alexander Koshetz; "The Vesper Hymn", Ludvig Van Beethoven; Boys' Double Quartette, "Dedication", Robert Franz.

ETIQUETTE

One of the most important assets in a social life is the ability to greet a person without being shy or self-conscious. Some person without being shy or self-conscious. Some persons are so timid and self-conscious that they seem totally unable to say a word, either when introduced or when meeting friends. They do not seem to realize that a simple "How do you do?" or the shorter "How Do?" is all that is necessary. Sometimes young people greet each other with a simple "Hello"—and this is perfectly correct if it is said in an agreeable tone.

Shaking hands is not as popular in this country as in Europe. It is, however, the custom to shake hands, especially with someone you haven't seen for a long time, or when being introduced. A man should always wait for a woman to extend her hand before he offers his. If, however, the man errs and extends his hand, the well bred woman will immediately give him hers—this to avoid embarrassment. Do not give a loose, flabby handshake, but remember that it isn't necessary to grip a hand and crush it in your grasp; for after all, a handshake is a sign of friendship — not a proof of strength.

Tall Tales

As told to: FRANK E. HAGAN and ELMO SCOTT WATSON

The Deflated Bear

BRIEF as the deer hunting season is, hundreds of hunters invade the Wisconsin woods every fall.

Two of them established a camp consisting of cabin, supply of food and a spring for drinking purposes.

One day, and this is vouched for by August C. Hennig, American Legion leader in Illinois, the hunters returned to camp and found they had left the door of the cabin open.

Bear tracks were distributed liberally outside and within the cabin, signs of an invasion were unmistakable. Canned goods weren't disturbed, but a six pound bag of dried apples and a two-pound sack of salt were missing.

The hunters sped immediately to the spring and found the bear had knelt there for a long draft to wash down his salty luncheon.

Following the trail again, the hunters discovered Mr. Bruin, growling helplessly and swollen to immoderate proportions. The long drink had made the dried apples swell and the bear's expanding stomach had grown larger and larger until finally his feet no longer touched the ground.

The four-cornered balloon was at once dispatched by the nimrods. Before securing the pelt one of them, who was musically inclined, deflated the bear by inserting a reed instrument in its side and practicing the finger movement for such tunes as "Over the Waves," as the bloat subsided.

When the bear was completely deflated the hunter had become an accomplished musician.

HOMING PIGEON LOSES WAY; LANDS IN MINN.

Park Rapids.—A homing pigeon that was 1300 miles from its home cote was picked up recently by R. J. Story of Hubbard. The bird carried a message contained in a tiny aluminum cylinder attached to its wing, but was "slightly" off its course and appeared very much lost out in the wilds of Minnesota and over a thousand miles off its course. Story forwarded the message the pigeon carried to the party addressed, and a few days later received a message in return from the Hazelton Brick Co. of Hazelton, Pa. telling him the bird was their property and had been released eleven days before from South Orange, N. J. The pigeon was declared by its owners to have been one of their most dependable carriers and used for carrying many important messages. How or why it got off its course and landed in Minnesota is not known. Story returned the bird to its owners and received as a reward two young homing pigeons from the Hazelton concern as a gift.

Sneezing

Sneezing is not always caused by an irritation of the sensitive nerve endings of the mucous membrane of the nose. In many persons a sneeze may result from stimulation of the optic nerve by strong light.—Helmi Sundt, Aberdeen, Wash., in Collier's Weekly.

The Oyster Tree

The oyster tree is really a mangrove, and grows in salt water. It is found on the islands of the Caribbean sea. Oysters attach themselves to the tree as high as the level reached by spray from the waves.

One reason why women can't keep secrets is because they tell them to their husbands.

The Average Vocabulary

Average vocabulary depends chiefly on education and reading habit, says the Detroit News. One authority states that an average individual who does not do much thinking or reading uses only about 1,000 words, while one who is educated, talks well and does a moderate amount of reading and writing should have a vocabulary of 3,000 to 4,000 words. This is the working vocabulary; the recognition vocabulary is given as about three times these figures. A grade school graduate, on the average, can use 1,200 to 2,000 words; a high school graduate 3,000 to 4,000; a college graduate, 5,000 to 12,000.

DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION TO ALTER CAMP FEES

Makes Adjustment of Charges for Visitors in State Parks

Modifying action previously taken, the Conservation Commission at its regular meeting last week passed a resolution establishing uniform fees for the use of state parks and providing for privately-owned refectories in the parks, the state to receive ten per cent of gross receipts.

Under the new schedule for fees for the use of state parks each automobile party will be charged 25 cents per night for camping privileges or for permission to set up tents or trailers. The 25 cent parking fee, voted at a previous meeting of the Commission, has been eliminated. For the use of privately owned boats in waters within state parks 25 cents per day will be charged.

Privately owned refectories in Jay Cooke, Alexander Ramsey, Interstate, Gooseberry Falls, Whitewater, and Fort Ridgely state parks will pay ten per cent of gross receipts to the state. A state-operated refectory will be established at Itasca state park.

Privately owned refectories and bath-houses will be established at Camden, Sibley, and Scenic state parks, with a boat livery at Scenic state park.

Overnight cabins at Itasca and Scenic parks will be rented at $2 per day for one or two persons, $3.50 for three persons, and a maximum of $4 per day for four or more persons. Cabins at Interstate Park will be rented at $2 per day or $12 per week for a period not to exceed two weeks.

EXPRESS OFFICE WORKERS BRAVE 5,000 ESCAPED BEES

Mankato.—Employees of the Mankato railway express office added their names to the honor list of the brave who carry on in the face of danger, when they continued their routine the other day undaunted by some 5,000 bees which swarmed about the office, routing many a customer who decided his mission could well wait until a better day. The bees, part of a shipment estimated at 500,000, escaped from their crates between trains, on their way to Windom. Windows in the office were black with the insects for hours, but no casualties resulted during the day. Bees in the express office, even escaped bees, are not unusual. The event was not unprecedented, tho no one in the office has been stung by one of the usually passive working bees since the 20's. And why, asked the express staff, should they be intimidated by a mere 5,000 bees when they have dealt with anything from a rattle-snake to an uncaged bear in the past?

ANIMAL BREEDING IS BEING STUDIED AT N. W. SCHOOL

Tests Dealing With Sheep and Hog Breeding Are Being Made

A wide variety of problems in animal breeding are being given special attention at the Northwest Experiment Station, Crookston, this year. Investigations now under way include a study of the effect of size in ewes and rams on returns from the finished market lambs; the inheritance of the ability to produce twins in sheep; and the possibility of establishing more productive strains in pigs and poultry through inbreeding.

For the third successive year, one lot of big type ewes mated to big type rams is being compared with sheep of medium type. Records are being kept on the number of lambs raised per ewe, feed costs, and net returns from the finished lambs.

In comparing a group of ewes with predominant twinning characteristics with a single lamb flock, data are being assembled with respect to the possibility of developing strains that will produce single or twin lambs as desired.

O. M. Kiser and A. M. Pilkey are in charge of the livestock and poultry departments at the Northwest Station. Investigation work now under way is being developed in cooperation with the Division of Animal Husbandry at University Farm, St. Paul.

SCHOOL NOTES

Third and Fourth Grade

The Happy Helpful Club held its regular meeting on Friday, May 15. Plans for a picnic were discussed. A program of readings, songs and novelty numbers followed. Light refreshments were served.

The Ocowasin Camp Fire Girls went on their second hike on Wednesday. The girls walked almost to Brooks and took several pictures along the way. After having a wiener roast on the banks of the Hill river they went home by car.

Last Friday night the last school party was given by the sophomores and juniors to the freshmen and seniors A large number attended. The earlier part of the evening was spent in playing games. After the games a short program was given in which the band had a prominent part.

The commencement exercises will be held in the Municipal Auditorium on Friday, May 29. Dr. Breitwieser of the University of North Dakota will be the speaker of the evening. All are cordially invited to attend.

RED LAKE 4-H CLUB RALLY HELD SATURDAY

A very large crowd attended the 4-H Club rally at Plummer Saturday, May 16. The school busses made their regular trips and brought all school children and any others interested in club work to the school grounds early in the forenoon. Others arrived by car and truck.

Kittenball and horseshoe games preceded the program.

The program was begun promptly at ten o'clock with a short band concert by the Plummer school band. Then Mr. Palmer, the new county agent, led the group singing in which all joined most energetically.

A milk testing demonstration by two members of Mr. Grimsrud's class in agriculture, Glenn Grove and Arthur Vague, was next put on.

Mr. Ripple then introduced the main speaker of the forenoon, Mr. Flugheoft, who spoke on the value of club work and showed pictures of former champions.

A picturesque initiation ceremony by the Red Lake Sticker's Club sponsored by Mrs. Remick and a dialog by members of the Happy Helpers' Club sponsored by Mrs. Dennistown completed the forenoon's program.

After announcing the afternoon's program the next meeting adjourned for the main kittenball game of the day, namely Red Lake Falls high school vs. Plummer high school. The game was won by a very close score by Red Lake Falls.

After dinner another short band concert preceded the program. This consisted of group or sectional meetings. All adult and junior leaders met with Mr. Flugheoft, all enrolled in agricultural projects met with Mr. Grimsrud while all girls in other projects remained in the assembly with Miss Beale.

After these various meetings the races were re-run. Lola Hoffus and Marie Wakkal of Plummer won in the girls' races, while Lawrence Page of Brooks and Bernard Remick of Red Lake Falls carried off the honors for the boys.

The pony relay race had three entries, but one of the riders was thrown in the first lap thus narrowing the field to two entries. After a close race Don Robillard up on Myron Smith and Bernard Remick "nosed out" the other entry to win.

This ended the formal program. At four the busses departed with their loads ending a pleasant day for all present.

The 4-H Rally Day will long be remembered and will undoubtedly assist to a very large extent in putting Red Lake county on the map as a good 4-H Club county.

Burials in Arlington Cemetery

It has been the custom to bury the wives of officers and enlisted men in Arlington and other national cemeteries since 1893. The policy was adopted in order to permit husbands and wives to be buried together as is usually done in private cemeteries.

100,000
Skilful and Courteous Telephone Operators at Your Command

Your telephone service is a nation-wide service. It must be nation-wide to meet the needs of all telephone users.

While most of your calls probably are made to persons in your own community, you never know when you may need to call someone hundreds of miles away. It is because you and other telephone users may have need for service anywhere that telephones are connected into a nation-wide network—that you have at your command telephone workers in every part of the United States.

There are about 250,000 workers in the operating companies of the Bell System—100,000 of them telephone operators—local operators, long distance operators, information operators and many others. Operators like all other employees in the Bell System are carefully trained. They take pride in providing you and other Americans with efficient and courteous telephone service.

Back of these quarter million Bell System workers is the advisory staff of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, the scientists in the Bell Telephone Laboratories and the manufacturing facilities of the Western Electric Company.

We can serve you and our other customers better and at lower charges because unified departments of the Bell System supply advice and assistance to all Bell operating companies, carry on research to improve service and to keep down its cost, and manufacture standardized equipment of high quality for the use of all.

Rev. E. A. Cooke, pastor of the Community church, addressed the graduates, speaking on the theme "The Spirit of Truth". Pointing out that there are two great objectives in a person's life: the quest for God and the quest for a living—Reverend Cooke told the young people they will find the solution by seeking God's truth and by facing life's problems squarely instead of adopting the "getting by" spirit so prevalent in the world today.

Musical selections were provided by the Lincoln high school boys double quartet and the mixed chorus under the direction of Miss Erma Springen, who also played the processional and recessional marches. Singing of two hymns by the audience completed the program.

LOCAL ROAD MEN GET BIG PROJECT AT LAC QUI PARLE

Adolphson and Huseth Get Contracts That May Last Two Years

Adolphson & Huseth, local highway contractors, during the past week secured a contract in connection with the Lac qui Parle project near Ortonville that is expected to provide two years work for a large crew of men.

The work, which is being carried out under WPA auspices, calls for the construction of dams with a large amount of excavation work, and will result in a material enlargement of the lake. The contractors will begin work excavating a channel using three draglines and a mucker.

Adolph & Huseth are now completing a large highway project at Ortonville for the state highway department.

OPTION 22 FARMS IN RESETTLEMENT PROJECT TO DATE

Majority of the Tracts Are Located in Pennington County

Twenty-two option agreements had been signed yesterday looking toward the purchase of farms for the federal resettlement project in the Thief River Falls area, J. W. Taylor, project manager, announced today.

Of the tracts optioned, most of which are in Pennington county, four are in the St. Hilaire vicinity, three near Hazel, two at Steiner, seven near Goodridge, two at Grygla, and the remainder in Silverton, Kratka, Smiley and Rocksbury. Only two tracts have buildings on them, but all are under cultivation.

Mr. Taylor said he expected to have 35 or more options ready by June 6, which has been set as the deadline, altho he anticipated that an extension of time would be arranged. The appraisers this week are beginning to work in Eastern Marshall county in the vicinity of Grygla, Gatzke and Holt.

Recent reports from Washington indicate that bath tubs and other so-called luxury features will be eliminated from plans for homes to be constructed next year on the tracts now being purchased, it being felt that the income from the farms will be insufficient to support an expensive type of residence construction.

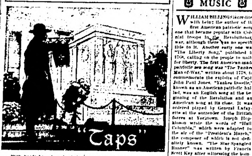
THE NATION BOWS IN TRIBUTE



With heads bowed, and minds at rest, we pause once more to pay our brief tribute to the soldier dead of this great nation. They were ready and willing when their homes needed protection, when the land that was theirs was in need. They have given their all that we today might be free; to them we owe a gratitude greater than we can show. "Greater love hath no man than this—" Let us accord them due honor.

The Household

By LYDIA LE BARON WALKER

THE subject of textiles is of interest to every homemaker. It is she who buys the fabrics for linen closets, for furnishings, for frocks, and all the many articles made from textiles that are used by the household or in the home. Quality, styles, durability, innovations, new developments, etc., are all features with which she wants to be, and should be, acquainted.

In the early days of silk weaving the smoothness of the texture was not satisfactory largely due to the discrepancies in size of the strands of both warp and weft. The struggle to make these strands free from irregularities has been a long one, the filaments, especially from wild silk, refusing to wind and twist with absolute evenness during the spinning of the threads. Most of us are familiar with the irregularities of this sort found in genuine Shantungs. As a matter of fact it is these very discrepancies that are an aid in distinguishing oriental Shantungs from domestic makes—an important matter.

Methods in Variety.

Sizing, weighting and pressure processes have played their part in securing smooth surfaces in silks as well as the present ability to reduce irregularities in silk threads. With all these ways and means, and manifold methods, and processes, of providing smoothness to silken surfaces, today there is a return to old time effects.

Rough surfaced textiles are in the ascendency, and with this vogue comes the reproduction of unevenness in weaving strands. These are imitated in tussahs, pongees, and those silks in which purity of silk threads without smoothing and other finishing processes are most desirable. This return to wild silk weave effects and the accenting of what once were blemishes, and now are modish touches, is another evidence of the cycle of styles.

Non-Crush Treatment.

One of the latest movements in the making of materials has to do with processes that eliminate creases. Noncrushable fabrics range from linens to velvets. In these specific articles mentioned the non-crush feature is especially welcome. Linens ordinarily crease and muss very easily and require frequent pressing to keep them looking fresh and pleasing. Lunch sets and pillow cases, table linens and towels, have the disadvantage of losing their crisp quality quickly because of their wrinkling so readily [illegible] oning is necessary. So it is a fine movement in manufacturing methods that relieves this work, and gets such admirable results.

Velvets are more difficult to restore when they get creases and marks of folds, etc. They have to be steamed either by hanging up in a room with a steamy atmosphere, or in a sheltered spot out of doors when it is foggy or misty. Or small places can be deftly restored by holding the material taut over a bowl of boiling hot water. If very badly creased by pressure or spot marked, they require to go to a cleaners to be restored. So noncrush velvet is a most welcome addition to modern textiles.

Upholstery Fabrics.

Upholstery fabrics that do not crush are a decided innovation and are sure to please homemakers. The non-crush velvets appear at a good time since velvets are among the luxurious upholstery and decorative materials at present. It may be that the fact that velvets can be had that are not crushable, has been one element in fostering their return to style. In the realm of clothes, now is the time to wear velvets, whether crushable or not, but the latter certainly have advantages.

Some mediums react better than others to the non-crush treatments, of course, but all up and down the line of kinds and qualities, the good work of preventing textiles from crushing and mussing easily is progressing.

Age Improves

To make varnish, quantities of natural or synthetic resins are put into a kettle with an oil, such as linseed or tung. The mixture is heated, cooled and a volatile thinner added. It is then filtered and pumped into large storage tanks, where it ages indefinitely. Like wine, the longer a varnish ages, the better it is.

Preliminary

Coat all knots and pitchy places in wood with shellac or aluminum paint before painting.

Muskrat Musk

Muskrat musk is a secretion nature has put in these little animals bearing the name. The musk is found in two small sacs on the belly. During the spring of the year these sacs contain several drops of thick, sweet smelling fluid. It is a very powerful, sweet odor, and it is attractive to all fur bearing animals. It is not found on the animals during the fall months.

"Not much," answered Senator Sorghum. "He said of course he'd take his chances, but personally he wasn't looking for trouble."—Washington Star.

OUR PATRIOTIC MUSIC

WILLIAM BILLINGS is credited with being the author of the first American patriotic song, one that became popular with Colonial troops in the Revolutionary war, although there was no specific title to it. Another early one was "The Liberty Song," published in 1768, calling on the people to unite for liberty. The first American-made patriotic sea song was "The Yankee Man-of-War," written about 1778, to commemorate the exploits of Capt. John Paul Jones. "Yankee Doodle," known as an American patriotic ballad, was an English song at the beginning of the Revolution and an American song at its close. It was ordered played by General Lafayette at the surrender of the British forces at Yorktown. Joseph Hopkinson wrote the words of "Hail Columbia," which were adapted to the air of the "President's March," the composer of which is not definitely known. "The Star-Spangled Banner" was written by Francis Scott Key after witnessing the bombardment of Ft. McHenry in 1814. The air is from a song by the English composer, John Stafford Smith, entitled "Ode to Anacreon." The words and music of "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean," equally well known as "The Red, White and Blue," were written by Thomas a Becket, an English actor playing at the Chestnut Street theater in Philadelphia in 1843. It is used in England with suitable alteration of the text, as an army and navy song. Samuel Francis Smith, a Baptist Clergyman and poet of Boston, in 1832 wrote the words of "America," which were sung to the air of the English "God Save the King." "Battle Hymn of the Republic" was written by Julia Ward Howe after visiting the Army of the Potomac in December, 1861.

"The Battle Cry of Freedom," by George F. Root, was to aid President Lincoln's second call for troops, and "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp" was by the same author. "Marching Through Georgia" was Henry Clay Work's song, and "When Johnny Comes Marching Home" was written by Patrick S. Gilmore.

Medical Association Makes Suggestions to Hay Fever Sufferers

Hay fever begins in spring for some people; in mid-summer for others and late summer and fall for still others. In either case, the first step in a relief from symptoms, according to today's bulletin from the Committee on Public Health Education of the Minnesota State Medical Association, is to find just what symptoms are causing the trouble.

Minnesota hay fever sufferers are more fortunate than others, according to the doctors, because there is more complete information, thanks to studies made by Dr. C. O. Rosendahl of the Department of Botany of the University of Minnesota, about the pollens flying in the air at any given time in Minnesota than anywhere else in the country.

People who have hay fever generally have an "allergic constitution", the doctors point out in the bulletin. They are sensitive, usually to more than one pollen and often they have other allergic troubles, like eczema or hives, as well as hay fever.

The only way to give them any real relief from their hay fever is to test them with all of the pollens that are in the air when their hay fever symptoms appear and have the extracts to be used in the desensitizing process on the results of these tests.

If the hay fever patient is sensitive to grass pollens as well as to ragweed pollen, he won't get any real relief if his treatment is confined only to ragweed pollens.

Treatments based upon University of Minnesota findings have shown exceptionally good results according to studies lately reported. Hay fever sufferers who must stay in the region where their pollen enemies are polluting the air should be urged to avail themselves of the assistance that this new exact knowledge offers.

Minnesota University to Train Public Officers

The University of Minnesota next fall will become the third major American university to provide definite graduate training in preparation for public service. At the May meeting of the board of regents a gift of $86,000 was received from the Rockefeller Foundation under which a program will be financed for five years. The university will receive $20,000 annually for the first five years, and smaller amounts thereafter. Steady increase in the number of office holders in the federal, state and municipal governments of this country has aroused national concern over the efficiency of these office holders and over the standards by which they are selected. Universities are endeavoring to do their part by offering special facilities for training people.

Growing With Your Child

AREN'T YOU EVER GOING TO BE HOME?

The child who asked this question recently is not the forlorn and neglected child of a poor working mother, as you might guess, but the son of a woman so widely known and depended on in her community that she is away from home almost as much as though she had a steady job.

Now she certainly does not neglect her household, in the sense of allowing things to get slack. She always manages to set a good meal before her family, too, for she is so adept at planning that she can be out of the house by ten in the morning, and not back again before five, and have things so well mapped out that she has a fine hot dinner on the table at six, and is unflustered and unflurried, to boot.

Because she has learned to run her house with such ease, and so much enjoys the work in connection with various clubs and organizations, Mrs. Blank was taken aback the other day when her son came out with his questions. He made it in connection with instructions she was giving him in the morning. "You'll find your lunch ready on the table," she said, "but I'll be at a committee luncheon." His dreary look as he asked, "Aren't you ever going to be at home?" set his mother thinking. After she had kissed the eleven year old good bye and sent him off to school, she sat down by the window and watched him disappear down the street.

Could it be that he really felt that she was away from home too much? She had tried hard not to be the over-solicitous mother whose hoverings she felt were so disastrous to the growth of self-reliance. She had deliberately tried to interest herself in things outside her home, in order not to have too much time to spend on her children, too much mother-love to wrap them in. Of course, once she got into various activities, there were always more crying out for her competent ministrations. She was always being told, if she said she was too busy to take on anything more, "Oh, but it's the busiest people who get things done! You're just the one to do this!" Perhaps, in her enthusiasm for causes, her interest in people, and her ambition to do as well as possible any job that she set her hand to, she had lost her perspective.

But how odd that Bob should suddenly need her. She had so many times had the feeling that he didn't know or care whether or not she was in the house; he had so many interests, one always crowding on the heels of another, she had often felt superfluous, as she called down, when he came in after school, to know if he was hungry. Lately she hadn't been doing that. More and more, meetings had kept her, with a bridge party thrown in now and then, so that it was a rarity for her to be at home when Bob burst in after school.

Had she become too much engrossed in her committee and club work? Had her "importance" there, her feelings of prestige and pride in achievement, made her neglectful of the importance of her place at home? In her anxiety not to be the apron-string mother, had she gone too far in the other direction? Was she losing out on bits of comradeship that would soon be lost to her as her "baby" grew up into adolescence, and no longer had any need of her to confide in or ask help of? Had her well-meant efforts not to be the narrow and over-attentive mother somehow proved to be a boomerang? At least she had been brought to her senses now! That Bob wanted her, she realized, gave her a lift of the heart that made up for the "importance" of a dozen meetings.

GRYGLA

Funeral services for Mrs. Sophia Hawkins was held from the Grygla Lutheran church Saturday, May 23 with the Rev. S. T. Anderson officiating. The church was very beautifully decorated for the occasion and a very large audience was present to bid the last farewell to a highly respected and beloved friend. Special singing was furnished by the Lellevold girls and Olaf Anderson.

The deceased was a fine christian lady who won the respect and confidence of the whole community. She was born in Varmeland, Sweden, Feb. 21, 1856. She came to America 54 years ago, was married to Olaf Hawkins at Minneapolis in 1884 and made their home about 50 miles northeast of Minneapolis where they opened a store and postoffice known as Carmel. In 1901 they took a homestead east of Grygla, when they transferred the Carmel post-office and store.

In 1919 Mr. Hawkins passed away and Mrs. Hawkins moved to Grygla where she resided until her death. There are 8 children to mourn her death, Mrs. J. T. Peterson of Le Sueur, Mrs. O. J. Peterson, Grygla, Philip of Thief River Falls, Harry of Crookston, Levi of Buxton, N. D., John and Herman of Minneapolis and Mrs. Chas. Ekberg, Kenmare, N. D. 3 children preceded her in death. She also leaves 27 grand children and 6

Mrs. Aron Anderson of Gonvick is visiting relatives in this community and was in attendance at the Hawkins funeral.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Holbrook from Warren spent the week end visiting the folks here.—Clif Lunde went to Shelly for a few days last week on business.—Mr. and Mrs. Haugtvedt and Philip Moe of Oklee spent last Thursday visiting at the Elmer Hylland home.

Alf. Oaks who has been employed by the state in the capacity of patrolman on Forestry returned to his former duties with the government at Alwood on Tuesday.

J. C. Wilson and Ted Dahn were Thief River visitors on Monday.

Mrs. John Gonnering and daughter Miss Gladys visited with her husband last Saturday and incidentally took in the play Saturday evening.—Mr. and Mrs. Ed Shanley former residents of the village, now of Warren, where Mr. Shanley is custodian of the Court House, spent last Sunday visiting friends and relatives here.

Over 300 people were in attendance at the hall last Saturday evening at the presentation of the play given by local talent. Very favorable remarks were heard relative to the merits of it and the players and the instructors deserve many compliment for their efforts. Too bad that the small limits of our hall is not large enough to accommodate all the people lately coming to the attractions here. Should this not be the next forward movement in the upbuilding of our village?

John Hawkinson and wife of Minneapolis, Levi Hawkins and wife from Buxton, N. D., Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hawkins from Crookston, Philip Hawkins and wife and the Misses Rhoda and Eudora of Thief River Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wentz of Grand Forks and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rustad and [illegible] were all in attendance at the Hawkins funeral last Saturday.

Rev. S. T. Anderson and son Olaf attended the church dedication at Torgeson last Sunday.

Especially do we thank our pastor Rev. S. T. Anderson for his comforting words and for the beautiful singing of the Lellevold girls and Olaf Anderson.

Ever Faithful

There's a study in devotion here, as this loyal veteran snaps on his drum in preparation for what may be his last march. Even as he answered the bugle when his country called, so now he will not fail when comes the time to pay homage and respect to his fallen comrades. He'll march today with the last remnants of what was once a great army, faithful in peace as he was in war. May his spirit never perish from the hearts of men.

Where Our Troops Stopped

A RUGGED monument of war implements, mortar and stone, marking the extreme point of advance of the American army during the World war, still stands on a hill east of Buzancy, France.

The monument not only marks the farthest advance of the American army on the western front during the World war—it also marks the ground where at least four major wars of history have ended.

The monument is composed of German war weapons, including helmets, rifles, bayonets, swords, barbed wire, gray pieces of uniform, and two small field guns. Encrusted in mortar, the enemy's arms of war were permanently "bound," symbolizing American victory.

This spot has always known strife. In 1870 Moltke's Prussians crossed the Meuse near here and humbled the French under Napoleon III on this ground. That battle ended the Franco-Prussian war.

Battle cries echoed in the hills of Buzancy little more than a half century earlier when Napoleon was terrorizing central Europe. Only a short distance away is Waterloo.

Richelieu, dictator of France in 1641, was crushed on this noted battlefield by a combination of French and Spanish forces, and the Swedes journeyed to this battle ground at an earlier date, ending a bloody conflict with the Franks.

Arlington Inscription

On the monument to the soldiers and sailors of the Spanish-American war is the inscription: "This monument is dedicated in sorrow, gratitude and pride to the soldiers and sailors of the United States who gave their lives for their country in the war of 1898-1899 with Spain by the National Society of the Colonial Dames of America, in the name of all the women of the United States, 1902."

Last Rites Held for Ralph David Hunt

Last rites were held for Ralph David Munt Monday at the Catholic church. Mr. Munt was born in 1890 and died May 21 at a local hospital from a heart attack. Surviving his death are his wife and one daughter Genevieve and one son Ralph David, also four step-children John, Raymond, George and Margaret. One brother Vernon of Kensal, N. Dak. and two half-sisters Angeline Munt and Mary Linderman and his mother also survive his death. Mr. Munt was employed on the Soo Line as a conductor and was one of the best liked men on the road.

40 Year Resident of Red Lake County Dies

Asmund Brekke, for 40 years a resident of Red Lake county, died May 26 at his home in Equality township. He was born in Norway in May 1852. Funeral services will be at Rolland, Minn. at the Clearwater church with Rev. S. Fladmark officiating. In 1886 he was married to Marget Hylland in Norway. They came to America in 1893 and settled for a short time at Neilsville, then Fosston and finally in 1896 they filed a homestead at Rolland where they have since made their home. He is survived by his wife, five sons Stene, Torvald, Willie, Elmer, Selmer all of Oklee, and one daughter, Mrs. Oscar Lofthus of Goodridge.

Surviving his death are his parents Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hruby and five brothers James, Jerry, Ludvick and Frank all of Mavie and Bouhmil of Erie, and his sisters Mrs. Ernest Smith of Borup, Mrs. Albert Ptacek and Mrs. Charlie Habbedank. TWO CHIMNEY FIRES RESULT IN NO DAMAGE

The fire department responded to two chimney fires during the past week, no damage resulting in either case. The first alarm was turned in Friday afternoon from the Joseph Peterson home at 601 East Eighth st., and the second from the H. M. Lotze residence at 311 Arnold av. S.

'U' Farm Judging Event to Bring 500 Students to Compus June 1, 2, 3

Nearly 500 students representing about 75 high schools are expected to take part in the fifteenth annual Minnesota High school Agricultural Congress at University Farm, the first 3 days of June. This estimate is based on entries received up to May 18 by the general chairman, V. E. Nylin, agriculture instructor at Hopkins.

Two new events have been added to the program, one being a meat identification contest and the other a showmanship contest. Significant changes are also planned in the regular judging of horses, beef cattle, sheep, and swine. Whereas formerly the high school judges have merely been asked to rank four animals in each class in the order of their superiority, this year they will be asked to select and rank three of the best animals from a class of seven. Another class in each kind of livestock will require identification of breeds, estimating weight and market classification.

A crops identification and judging contest will be a prominent feature in which the Minnesota Crop Improvement association for the first time will award medals to the members of the three best teams. Other awards for various events will be provided by the Agricultural Education Club and the agronomy staff at University Farm, The Farmer, and Alpha Gamma Rho, agricultural fraternity.

220 Men Employed on Bronson Lake Project Located in Kittson Co.

With a large crew of men clearing the area and another crew at work excavating for the 30 foot dam, things are going right ahead at the Bronson Lake project, says the Bronson Budget. Three caterpillar tractors are used in excavating together with a number of men shoveling.

The Ferry bridge has been removed to make room for the dam which will also serve as a bridge. By installing culverts and building a road thereover a temporary road is open across the river, which will take care of any traffic there may be until the dam is completed.

With approximately 220 men at work there is considerable activity at the camp which with its row of tents gives the appearance of an army encampment.

The mess hall has a seating capacity of 212 with a table arrangement and mark of cleanliness that must be seen to be appreciated. With a large kitchen in connection completely equipped with modern baking ovens a staff is busily engaged continually turning out fresh, tasty things to eat.

Memorial Day

By Cy Warman in the Indianapolis News

Gather the garlands rare today,
Snow white roses and roses red;
Gather the fairest flowers of May,
Heap them up on the graves of clay,
Gladden the graves of the noble dead.

Pile them high as the soldiers were
Piled on the field where they fought and fell;
They will repose in their new place there
To-day, as they walk where the fragrant air
Is sweet with the scent of asphodel.

Many a time I've heard it said,
They fell so thick where the battles were
Their hot blood rippled and running red,
Ran out like a rill from the drifted dead
Staining the heath and the daisies there.

This day the friends of the soldiers keep,
And they will keep it through all the years,
To the silent city where soldiers sleep
Will come with flowers to watch and weep
And water the garlands with their tears.

Tall Tales

As told to: FRANK E. HAGAN and ELMO SCOTT WATSON

The Patriotic Hen

JIM FITCH, a former resident of Manchester, N. H., remembers it just as well as if it had happened day after tomorrow. He was riding in the cab of a locomotive on the Boston and Maine railroad with his Uncle Ira, the engineer. North of Concord, a gray and white speckled hen started across the track. Uncle Ira tooted his whistle and the hen started running up the track. A moment later she disappeared.

"Too bad," said Uncle Ira, "but she ought to have made up her mind about crossing the railroad sooner."

Jim was pretty sad about the fate of that hen. But imagine his surprise when they slowed down for the next stop, the brakeman went through the train calling out "Plymouth! Plymouth!" off the cowcatcher jumped the hen and she went clucking away as much as to say, "Of course, I know when it's time for me to get off!"

Suddenly she began cackling and made a dash up the street as though looking for something. As the train pulled out the last thing Jim saw was the hen stooping down and creeping into a small dog kennel in a back yard.

Three weeks later Jim went back to Plymouth to its Fourth of July celebration and he heard some more about her. That morning the patriotic hen, who traced her ancestry back to Plymouth Rock, hatched out three chickens. One was red, one was white and one was blue. But all three had bow legs because the kennel into which their mother had stooped to enter had been built for a dachshund.

Meighen Democrats Open Headquarters in St. Paul

Primary campaign headquarters for the so-called "regular Roosevelt slate" of Democratic candidates headed by Fred A. Curtis of South St. Paul for governor, this week was opened in the Hotel Lowry, St. Paul by the Democratic state committee of which John F. D. Meighen of Albert Lea is chairman. The headquarters was opened by Meighen's committee on behalf of the slate of primary candidates endorsed at the state convention of 5,000 delegates held in St. Paul on April 21. In addition to Mr. Curtis, others on the state slate who are seeking Democratic nominations in the statewide primary June 15 are Patrick J. Delaney of St. Paul, for U. S. Senator; A. C. Knudson of Detroit Lakes, for lieutenant governor; Thomas Gallagher, Minneapolis for attorney general; Carl Henneman, St. Cloud, for secretary of state; Ida McCabe Kayser of St. Peter for state treasurer, and C. H. Jacobson of Fergus Falls, for railroad and warehouse commissioner.

Six Cylinder Sentences

By DR. JOHN W. HOLLAND

A pleasure unshared is half missed.

Character is like iron: heat makes steel out of it.

A good way to help others: Manifest your gladness, muffle your sadness.

When people harm you, write it in dust; when they help you, cut it in stone.

When the judging of sinners is done by the sinless, we shall have few harsh judgments.

A kind heart will make any face beautiful, even though it may be seamed and scarred with age.

"U" President Defines Equality of Education

"If democracy is to offer equal educational opportunities for all children, it must provide those opportunities so that each child can profit by them in terms of his abilities, interests, and desires," said President Lotus D. Coffman, of the University of Minnesota in a radio broadcast Monday, May 18 on "The North Star School" program under the sponsorship of the M. E. A. But "these chances can equal only insofar as youth are equal in their interests, their desires, their willingness to work, and their ability to take advantage of the opportunities offered them."

Dr. Coffman stated that "within a few years the majority of our high school graduates will probably continue their general education through the sophomore year of the junior college." At this point the training for social civic and political responsibilities should end for the majority of these students, leaving the colleges and universities free to "devote their resources to the training of superior youth—capable of extending the frontiers of knowledge through scholarly effort." The purpose of educating youth, according to Dr. Coffman is not that they be enabled to earn more money, "but that they might be more effective leaders and followers in their communities."

Paul Bunyan Exposition at Brainerd June 24-27

With June 24th to 27th set as the dates of the Paul Bunyan Exposition at Brainerd, Virgil C. Escher, chairman of the exposition committee, early this week extended an invitation to all communities throughout the northwest to send their musical organizations to Brainerd during the celebration.

"I Love a Parade" will be Brainerd's theme song throughout the exposition, as daily parades of drum and bugle corps, brass bands and other musical groups will be held for cash prizes put up by the Brainerd Chamber of Commerce. More than 50 bands are expected to enter the competition.

"Judging from the statement of George H. Bradley, director of the Minnesota Tourist Bureau, that 1936 may be a record tourist year," Mr. Escher declared, "the Paul Bunyan exposition is very likely to draw 200,000 visitors to Brainerd during the four days of its run. Last year, with a less attractive entertainment program, we drew 150,000."

In the last game preceding the opening of the league season, the Plummer baseball team Sunday defeated Garnes 14 to 11 at Garnes. The game was close and hard-fought for the first seven innings, but in the eighth and ninth both teams made a succession of errors, with the result that the last two frames were a rather wild affair.

Restore Automobile Fee to Normal Basis, A. J. Rockne Advises

Senator A. J. Rockne of Zumbrota has come out for a restoration of motor vehicle license fees to the level existing prior to the reduction made by the 1933 legislature. In a statement in the Zumbrota News, pointing out that the state cannot continue indefinitely to issue highway bonds to match federal aid, Senator Rockne says in part:

"After all is said and done, however, one thing must be done and that is to put back the license tax on automobiles where it was so that cars and trucks will pay somewhere near a tax equal to the tax now levied upon real and personal property. There is undoubtedly about 400 millions of taxable value tied up in automobiles, busses and trucks and if this property was to pay taxes as other property is doing today, they would pay a tax of about 24 million dollars instead of about 9 or 10. We fully appreciate that the large automobile associations will fight this tax, but there is no reason in the world why an automobile owner should not pay taxes along the same line that the little farmer and home owner is doing. We will, of course, hear the argument of the gasoline tax, but all we need to say as to that tax is that the good roads on which the average automobile now travels more than pay in distance travel and wear and tear on the machine to equal the tax."

Inherited a Calendar

The Greeks inherited their calendar from Babylonia, which gave them many a problem in juggling time counts, trying to fit moon months into years.

The Grenadines

The Grenadines are a chain of about 600 islets in the Windward Islands, West Indies. Cotton and cattle are the chief exports.

Needs of Farmers Are Supplied by Production Credit Associations

Cheered by the improvement in farm income and liberal loan terms, 4674 Minnesota farmers borrowed $1,900,000 from production credit associations during the first 4 months of the year in order to finance their 1936 crops and livestock on a cash basis.

In announcing the total loans, President George Susens of the Production Credit Corporation of St. Paul, said the number of farmers getting loans through production credit associations this spring was more than 30 per cent larger than last spring, and that cash financing, through the 28 associations covering Minnesota is at the highest level so far recorded. The amount loaned was 17 per cent greater than in the first 4 months of 1935.

The average loan in the state was about $435. President Susens said many farmers are financing crops and purchasing farm supplies and machinery for cash this spring for the first time in several years.

Organized early in 1934 these farmers' short-term lending associations have advanced a total of over $10,200,000 to Minnesota farmers to grow crops, finance dairy production, purchase fertilizers, farm supplies, machinery and work stock. Operated by farmers on a cooperative basis and supervised by the Farm Credit Administration, the production credit association are partly owned by the borrowers, and have offices or representatives in every county in Minnesota.

BIRDS QUALIFY PASTOR AS SAFE, CAREFUL DRIVER

Isle.—When a garage mechanic lifted the hood of Pastor Willard Vetter's travelworn sedan to squirt a drop of oil here and there, he found tangible evidence that the minister must be a careful and safe driver. At the rear of the motor, carefully entwined among the curves of the exhaust pipe, was a perfectly appointed sparrow's nest ready for occupancy. During some period when the car was idle, unknown to the owner, the birds had come thru from underneath the car, bringing in leaves, twigs and feathers, and completed a full-grown nest. While the bottom layer of material was a bit scorched from the exhaust pipe, the rest of the nest was undamaged. No eggs have as yet been deposited, so it is presumed that the birds had not been living in the car a very long period.

THE DEMOCRACY OF THE DEAD

John J. Ingalls

"In the democracy of the dead all men at last are equal. There is neither rank nor station nor prerogative in the republic of the grave. At this fatal threshold the philosopher ceases to be wise, and the song of the poet is silent. Dives relinquishes his millions and Lazarus his rags. The poor man is as rich as the richest, and the rich man is as poor as the pauper. The creditor loses his usury, and the debtor is acquitted of his obligation. There the proud man surrenders his dignities, the politician his honors, the worldling his pleasures, the invalid needs no physician, and the laborer rests from unrequited toil.

"Here at last is Nature's final decree in equity. The wrongs of time are redressed. Injustice is expiated, the irony of Fate is refuted; the unequal distribution of wealth, honor, capacity, pleasure and opportunity, which makes life such a cruel and inexplicable tragedy, ceases in the realm of death. The strongest there has no supremacy, and the weakest needs no defense. The mightiest captain succumbs to that invincible adversary, who disarms alike the victor and the vanquished."

A light rain brought much encouragement to the Northwest last week. Several years of dry weather have resulted in a friendlier feeling toward water and every little shower is gratefully received. Folks hereabouts wonder if the river will ever be a river again. Even as recently as 1929 there was a steady flow of water in the channel, enough to produce nearly a million and a half kilowatts for the city, and the hydro plant operated every month of the year, carrying the entire load of the city the first eight months. Now we are lucky to get a few weeks of water power following the spring thaw. How long will this dry spell last? Government weather observers can't figure it out. Something happened back in 1930 and according to the weather bureau, since that time we have been passing through "the longest and wildest maniacal rampage of climate in the records" of the department. If we do not soon reach an end to this period of extremes we may find the government reversing its policies, encouraging production instead of curbing it.

Baseball is being revived again this year on a strictly home talent basis. Which is as it should be. There is good talent in the community and as far as we are concerned we get more of a bang out of watching a game played fairly well by fellows we know than we do from a slightly better performance by strangers. We hope the venture will be reasonably successful and that over a period of years baseball can be brought back again to its former status as one of the important forms of community recreation.

To the graduates, congratulations. Why not? They have made satisfactory progress in the courses of study prescribed for them. The things they were told to do they have done. Thy have earned their diplomas and they deserve a word of praise. Congratulations, too, on their good fortune in being graduated from school at a time when jobs are not plentiful. The prospects for the immediate future of most of them are not particularly bright. This fact is no doubt discouraging to them at the present time. In some cases it may mean a little hardship, but a little hardship isn't a bad thing when it comes early in life. The extra effort they will have to put forth in order to make a little headway will be excellent preparation for the important problems of their later life. If their present difficulties are the worst they will ever be forced to encounter they will indeed be fortunate. And so we congratulate them and wish them well. In the future, as in the past, there will be an abundance of opportunities for those who are prepared to take advantage of them.

Eastern industrialists are pleased with the administration's reciprocal trade treaties. They should be. Certainly the treaties are in their favor. In exchange for lower tariffs on food products shipped into this country, other nations are making concessions to our manufacturers. Industrial trade journals admit "slight disadvantages" to American agriculture. From where we sit it appears that both the industrialists and the administration are short sighted in their attitude on this subject. The agricultural regions of the United States certainly are a better prospective market for the products of our factories than the agricultural regions of other parts of the world. Foreign trade can be obtained only by two means, one by an exchange of commodities, which means that one group of Americans must suffer in order that another group may prosper, or by extending credits. We should have had enough experience by this time to know that buying foreign trade by the credit method is not profitable. The administration evidently recognizes this fact. It is using the only other method, the exchange of commodities. And the American farmer is on the short end of the exchange. While the operation is being performed the pain is being deadened by a potent anaesthetic in the form of checks from the national treasury.

Fortunately the inevitable fire truck accident did not result in death. It was a close call for the one victim but reports indicate that he will survive without permanent disability. This being true, the net result of the accident probably will be beneficial. It should bring about saner driving practices. Considering the short distances to be travelled, there is no reason for racing the fire truck through the streets and at all times it should be under control when entering an intersection. And when returning from a fire there is no good reason why the truck should not conform to all traffic regulations, eliminating the need for the use of the siren. Another traffic problem that needs attention is the bicycle. Youngsters should not be permitted to use the streets of the business section as a playground and we shouldn't wait to enforce reasonable safety regulation until tragedy forces us to action.

Advices direct from leading fashion centers state that red flannels may now be laid aside and that in the Thief River Falls style zone well-dressed men will start wearing straw hats this week. This is the long-looked-forward-to ultimatum that severs definitely all relations with the realm of Winter.

Landscaping of the approaches to the new bridge is now well under way and during the coming week the plans will be developed sufficiently to give us a general idea of what the final effect will be. Blueprints of the plans justify high expectations. Those who speak with authority on such matters tell us that with proper care and attention this boulevard and water front will be one of the beauty spots of the state.

An observer points out that during the past ten years more land has been lost because of excessive taxes than because of mortgages. The politicians are not concerning themselves about the high taxes however, this being an evil of their own making.

"If we can prevent the government from wasting the labor of the people, under the pretense of taking care of them, they must become happy." Thomas Jefferson.

Motorists Are Asked Not to Stop at Scene of Traffic Accidents

The Minnesota public safety committee today asked motorists to assist in reducing the accident toll by refraining from stopping at the scene of mishaps. The request is prompted by numerous reports of secondary accidents resulting when curious motorists create additional hazards by blocking the highways in the vicinity of mishaps.

"Motorists approaching a scene of an accident should drive slowly, but should not stop when it is obvious that the injured are being aided sufficiently," C. H. Zealand, director of the committee, said.

Reports of further mishaps caused by jammed highways following an accident are coming with increasing frequency, from members of the state highway patrol and police and sheriffs, he said.

At the same time, Mr. Zealand announced that offers of free booth space for safety exhibits had been received from officials of many fairs throughout the state. The Minnesota public safety committee will provide a portion of the exhibit for the fairs, he said.

Ada Slayer Sentenced to Life Imprisonment

Lorene (Larry) Riggers, 22, Ada, was sentenced to life imprisonment in Stillwater penitentiary when he pleaded guilty before Judge James E. Montague in district court Friday to a charge of slaying John Keninger, 44 bachelor farmer. Riggers admitted he killed Keninger in a robbery which netted him only $10 and a few pickles. Sheriff John Krogstad will take him to Stillwater Saturday morning. Riggers did not change his story to officers of how he rapped on the door of the farmer's home about 12:30 a. m. May 1, shot him twice in quick succession, then left with Keninger's purse, which he found in a pantry.

HE KNEW

Mr. Parrott wanted the picture hung to the right of the mirror; Mrs. Parrott wanted it hung to the left. For once he proved the victor, and Joseph, the gardener, was summoned to hang the picture according to his orders.

Obediently Joseph drove in a nail on the right, as directed. This done, he also drove one in the wall on the left.

"What is the second nail for?" Mr. Parrott demanded.

"To save me the trouble of fetching the ladder tomorrow when you come round to the missus' way of thinking," said Joseph. — Stray Stories Magazine.

"I s'pose that was his finish?"

"No. He got the boss thinkin' the same way an' he's thinkin' 'bout takin' Josh into partners."

Moderated Assumption

"When you are fighting for office," said the student in politics, "you are supposed to assume that you are superior to people, are you not?"

"No," replied Senator Sorghum; "it is becoming customary to be satisfied with convincing people that, whatever your faults may be, they are nothing compared to those of the other fellow."

WOOL POOL READY TO FUNCTION WITH GRADER NOW HERE

Manager Hans Anton Predicts Heavy Receipts During Current Season

The Thief River Falls agency of the Minnesota Cooperative Wool Growers association is now prepared to receive deliveries of wool from growers thruout Northwestern Minnesota, Hans Anton, manager, announced today.

Numerous shipments have been received during the past week, and with the arrival Friday of Neil Huddleston of Wabasha, who is serving as wool grader, a continued large volume of receipts is anticipated.

Stating that an advance price of 17 cents a pound for top-grade wools has been established, Mr. Anton expressed the opinion that in view of market prospects it would be profitable for growers to sell their wool on a pool basis this year. As in past years checks for advance payments are issued at the local office located on Atlantic av. at Fourth st.

Fergus Falls Making Elaborate Plans to Entertain Convention

With the Ninth District American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary Convention to be held at Fergus Falls, Minnesota only a few weeks away nearly six thousand Legionnaires and auxiliary members are busily completing plans for one of the biggest and best conclaves in the history of the district. Fergus Falls anticipates more than 12,000 visitors during the three convention days, June 13th, 14th, and 15th.

Drum and bugle corps, bands, and other musical organizations from all over the district, the Twin Cities, and North Dakota are rehearsing diligently in anticipation of this event. The 59 posts in the district have plans for floats and other specialties for the mammoth parade Sunday afternoon which is expected to be more than three miles long.

The "40 & 8" torchlight parade Saturday evening is but one of the many attractions that are expected to attract a record attendance. MANY USING NEW TAX PAYING PLAN TO RETAIN HOMES

Taxpayers Group Endorses Plan for Paying Taxes in Installments

That many delinquent taxpayers have found a new incentive to pay up accumulated tax bills, an incentive growing out of the opportunity to pay in ten annual installments appears to be the case. Publicity given the new law by the press of the state has to a large extent been instrumental in bringing the encouraging news to the attention of distressed property-owners, according to a statement issued by the Minnesota Taxpayers Association.

Many sections of the state are sending in favorable reports due to rising interest in the plan. Word from St. Louis county reveals that nearly a hundred citizens there have already refunded their old tax bills under the Ten-Year plan, and have made the first years payment.

Under the plan, the delinquent taxpayer makes a contract with the state and agrees to pay back taxes in ten equal installments over ten years time. The state in return remits all accumulated interest and penalties. Current taxes from year to year must not be allowed to lapse, however.

"The plan, established at the recent Minnesota legislative session, is intended to give hope to taxpayers who have been unable to save their property. It is one form of relief to taxpayers, and it has considerable possibilities of raising revenue for the state and its subdivisions, if sufficiently large numbers of those in arrears are informed of its provisions, and take advantage of the law," comments James P. McDonnell, president of the State Association.

Taxpayers have until Nov. 1, 1937 to come under the new law which has possibilities of beneficient and practical results.

Six of the bridges will eliminate railroad grade crossings. The 18 counties are: Aitkin, Beltrami, Cass, Carlton, Goodhue, Hennepin, Isanti, Kanabec, Kandiyohi, Lake, Lincoln, Mower, Norman, Olmsted, Redwood, St. Louis, Stearns and Washington.

Mother, 92, Is Ordered to Support Son, Age 66

"Young man, go back home and tell your mother she must support you."

County Judge Michael S. Sheridan of Milwaukee, spoke these words Friday to Fred G. Werner, 66, of near Caledonia, Wisconsin, explaining to Werner that no old age pension could be granted his mother, Mrs. Anna Werner, 92, because she has a clear title to the 71-acre farm on which they live.

The judge told Werner state law says parents must support their children if they are able, and dismissed the pension application when Werner said he believed his mother would not give the county a lien on the property, which is assessed at $7,970. Werner is the eldest of 10 children, and unmarried.

33,539,000 Telephones in the World Last Year, Annual Survey Reveals

Since the beginning of the 20th century, the population of the world has increased by approximately 33 per cent. During this period telephone service, which was less than a quarter of a century old in 1900, has increased over 2100 per cent in extent. A survey of the world's telephones just completed by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company shows that there were 33,539,890 telephones in the world on January 1, 1935, the latest date for which comparable statistics are available.

Thirty-five years ago telephone communication was restricted to comparably short distances. Today it is possible to talk around the world. Telephone subscribers in the United States can be connected with any one of more than 17,000,000 telephones in this country, and any one of some 16,000,000 telephones in foreign lands; in all, the American subscriber has access to 93 per cent of the world's telephones.

The survey shows that 16,868,955, or more than one-half of the world's telephones, were located in the United States on January 1, 1935. Europe at that date had 12,028,750 telephones, or approximately 36 per cent of the world total. Canada and Japan each had over 3 per cent of the world total, with 1,193,729 and 1,068,244 telephones, respectively. The remaining 7 per cent of the world's telephones were distributed over Asia, Africa, Oceania and South and Central America.

State to Improve 2,400 Miles Black-Top Roads

Approximately 2,400 miles of bituminous surfaced trunk highways will be given re-treatments this summer by the state highway department, according to an announcement by N. W. Elsberg, highway commissioner. Bids have been called for June 2 on 6,318,000 gallons of bituminous material applied to the roads. This amount will retreat 1,200 miles of highways, constituting half of the total program planned. Contracts for the second half of the program will be let shortly after the first.

BROTHERS MEET, STAGE FAMILY CAR ACCIDENT

Kiester.—If one must have an auto accident, perhaps it would be safe to keep it right in the family and not go out among strangers for someone to run into. At any rate, that's what hapened to two brothers of the Walters community, near Kiester, recently. Orville Meyer accompanied by Maynard Waeholz, collided with a car driven by his brother, Alfred Meyer, on the road near the George Meyer farm. They met at the peak of a sharp hill. Both were evidently driving in the middle of the road, as the shoulders are soft at that point. The front wheels of Alfred's car caught the rear wheel of Orville's auto, throwing the latter sidewise into the ditch. The ditch is narrow and deep, and his car rolled down the hill, with the rear part of the car on the outside bank, and the front part on the road bank. It turned over several times but the two boys were thrown out through the top on the first turn. Both were generally bruised but not seriously injured.

HERE'S A GOOD SPUD STORY FOR THE BOOK

Bagley. Imagine digging last year's potatoes out of the ground the following May and finding them in perfect eating shape! That's what happened last week in Rice township near Bagley. L. V. Larson dug up last year's potatoes and is using them in the kitchen. The spuds were in perfect condition, he said. They had not been affected by frost or freezing, nor had they started to sprout yet, but were firm and smooth.

News and Comment

By R. W. Hitchcock

There seems to be some change of political sentiment in Minnesota.

The Minnesota iron ranges plumped about three to one for the candidates of the farmer-labor party in 1934. On April 22nd of this year republicans staged a dinner meeting at Virginia at which Martin A. Nelson spoke. Reservations were made for 500 but 650 came. Two weeks later, May 9th, a widely advertised farmer-labor rally was held at Virginia at which Attorney General Harry H. Peterson, Dr. Paul Hartig, candidate for secretary of state, and John Bernard, endorsee for Congress, were speakers. A banquet attendance of 500 was advertised with more than 1,000 scheduled for an arena meeting later in the evening. Seventy-one persons, including the speakers, were at the banquet, and the arena meeting was abandoned.

Figures taken from the market reports of the Toronto Daily Citizen and the Minneapolis Journal livestock reports betray a rather odious comparison. On November 18, 1935, when President Roosevelt signed the Canadian Reciprocal Trade Treaty, steers were selling at Montreal from $4.40 to $5.50 a hundred weight; on the same day they were selling in South St. Paul from $7.50 to $9.50 per hundred weight. On April 28, 1936 the same steers were selling in Canada for $5.75 to $6.00 a hundred weight and in South St. Paul from $6.50 to $7.50 a hundred weight. Evidently the Canadian Reciprocal Trade Treaty raised the price of steers in Canada and lowered it in the United States.

The Minnesota supreme court has gained in public esteem recently from two very different sources,—the praise of high judicial authority and the attacks of certain politicians. The attacks of the politicians are almost as conclusive as the more reasoned commendation of unprejudiced authority. In view of both the praise and the criticism the court is enjoying an interesting and a wholesome period of spotlight.

Analyzing the opinions of state supreme courts on points of evidence law over a period of eight years, John H. Wigmore, dean emeritus of the law school of Northwestern University, the most eminent authority in the world upon the rules of evidence, places the Minnesota supreme court in the first and highest group.

On April 24th of this year the supreme court handed down a decision to the effect that the so-called "corporate excess" tax law of 1878 had been repealed by implication by the subsequent enactment of three other laws covering the same items of corporate value—moneys and credits, mortgage registry and income tax. The decision was a 6 to 1 decision, Chief Justice Devaney dissenting. It has been severely criticised by farmer-labor politicians.

In September 1934 the identically same court handed down a unanimous decision in which it held that an act passed in 1917 had been repealed by subsequent enactments. The language of the decision, concurred in by Chief Justice Devaney and all other members of the court, is as follows: "We think that the trial court correctly held that the 1921 enactments superseded or repealed by implication the 1917 act. While the two acts are not in express terms repugnant yet the later act seems to cover the subject matter of the earlier. It does not purport to amend it. It seems to us that it plainly shows an intention to substitute the same for the earlier act." Board of Education of Duluth vs. Borgen et al 192 Minnesota Reports page 367.

Farmer-labor politicians did not at that time find the decision a political one or a manifestation of judicial autocracy.

The state supreme court has again brought Attorney General Harry Peterson up short. This is about the steenth time. Not so good. The attorney general of the state is supposed to know the law. It begins to appear that either the present attorney general does not know it or does not want to enforce it in accordance with his oath of office. There is some doubt whether, if all the attorneys general in the history of Minnesota pooled the times they have been found in the wrong by the supreme court, they could muster as many reverses as Attorney General Harry Peterson has suffered.

It was Judge Albert H. Enerson of the district bench who set the attorney general down hardest, however; after the supreme court had upheld Judge Enerson's refusal to recognize the attorney general's affidavit of prejudice against him, he withdrew from the case saying that he did not feel it necessary "further to witness the peculiar notions of the attorney general in regard to the ethics of this profession." This is proper judicial language, of course. What Judge Enerson probably meant was that he is tired of the attorney general's monkeyshines.

The ballot which Minnesota voters will cast at the primary election Monday June 15th is known as the "Consolidated Primary Election Ballot." It involves a principle for which there has been long and persistant agitation. Both the primary election law and the consolidated primary ballot, which insures absolute secrecy in voting, were enacted by what the opposition says were 'republican controlled' legislatures. It seems a bit strange that "reactionary legislatures" in Minnesota have enacted labor legislation which the farmer-labor party, when it was in control, refused to pass, and that all of Minnesota's forward looking legislation, in which Minnesota has set the pace for nearly every state in the Union, has been the work of these reviled "republican controlled" legislatures.

It will pay the voter to be careful how he marks his "Consolidated Primary Election Ballot" on June 15th. All candidates of each party appear on the one consolidated ballot, and the voter is warned in big black letters at the top of the ballot, "You cannot split your ballot. If you vote for candidates of more than one party, your ballot will be rejected." The consolidated ballot represents the conventions of three different parties—farmer-labor, republican and democratic. The voter can attend and take part in whichever convention he pleases, but not in more than one of them. If he attempts to vote in the farmer-labor convention for one candidate and in the democratic convention for a candidate for some other office, he will get thrown out of both conventions.

Many people find it difficult to understand that a primary is not an election, but simply a nominating procedure in which each party has the right to nominate its own from other parties.

Fantasia, Musical Composition

A fantasia is a musical composition which is not restricted to any formal design or theme, but is freely constructed according to the composer's fancy. Examples of fantasia are found in the works of Bach, Brahms, Schumann and other composers. The term is also applied to medleys of popular airs.

Day of Memories

FEW now survive from among those for whom Memorial day was particularly established. The ranks of the Grand Army of the Republic are shattered. Younger men, veterans of later wars, take the place of those who wore the blue or gray from Bull Run to Appomattox, as symbols of the nation's strength in arms.

Forms of observance change with the times, but the underlying spirit of thankful remembrance remains ever fresh and unalterable. To those who first thought of setting apart a day each year for patriotic remembrance such an event as that now staged annually in various cities, the baseball double headers or the highways crowded with pleasure-seeking motorists would have been as inconceivable as the radio to an aborigine. But one likes to believe that these manifestations of American life do not in the least modify the nation's sense of devotion to the memory of those who have borne her arms to victory.

There is needed in these diverting and troublous days some special occasion when minds shall turn to the men who have dared to bare their breasts to an enemy in war, who have seen in their country's flag something more than a piece of bunting and been convinced that a nation worth founding was worth defending even at the expense of life and treasure. One hears much in these days of pacifism, of oaths solemnly taken never to bear arms in war, of the supposed mockery of popular government, the rise of dictatorships and the smashing of treaty pledges. One hears too little of the innumerable thousands of staunch American hearts which still believe in national honor, the Constitution and the causes for which men in the past have been proud to die.

A people ready to observe Memorial day is not one to give way to despair. Today we honor the patriotic dead. We honor, no less, the living who are inspired by the example of those whose graves they decorate.

DUST CAUSES LOSS OF SIGHT IN EYE

Long Prairie—Dan Lunceford returned to his home in Long Prairie last week from St. Cloud where he submitted to an operation for the removal of his right eye, due to dust particles lodging in that organ. Last month a sudden dust flurry on the main street of Long Prairie resulted in some particles being lodged in Lunceford's eye. Treatment proved of no avail, and a visit to St. Cloud found physicians doubtful if the sight of the optic could be saved. Last week it was learned that unless the eye was removed, the sight of the remaining eye might be impaired, and as a result Lunceford submitted to an operation.

Cardinal Compass Points

The employment of the cardinal compass points was a part of all of the most ancient civilizations, and there is no telling where or at what time man first began to guide his footsteps by their aid, having taken his directions from the sun and stars. Even the compass itself was known to the Chinese as early as 2634 B. C.

BEAR TEARS UP SHEEP AND SHED

Roseau. James Perry, farmer southeast of Roseau, never did have any reason to like bears, and after his experience with a big black fellow recently his love for them hasn't increased. It all happened before Perry was aware of it at all. A huge black animal had come up to the farm in the night and located the sheep shed. He crawled up on the roof, and fell in. Inside were the sheep, and in the course of the struggle Mr. Bear tore up six ewes badly. However, he must have become frightened at his own terror, so he decided to leave. He didn't have the time to look for the door, either, and just ripped away a section of the wall and scooted for the woods.

Each one made a kitchen color scheme poster and also brought a picture of an attractive kitchen which was discussed. Hostesses were Mrs. W. Johnson, Mrs O. Wickland, Mrs. L. Ellingson, Mrs. O. Johnson and Mrs. A. Fanrit. The next meeting will be held June 17, at the home of Mrs. Henry Hjelle. The subject for the next meeting will be "storage places throughout the house."

FALLS OUT OF BED BREAKS HER THUMB!

Luverne.—Miss Katherine Suffer is sheepishly nursing a fractured right thumb this week as the result of an accident which would make anyone blush. She broke the digit when she fell out of bed one morning! Just what caused Miss Suffer to fall out of bed is a matter of conjecture because she prefers to keep the details to herself, but one guess is that she must have been riding one of those wild night horses we hear about.

HATCHERY HAS FOUR THREE-LEGGED CHICKS

Farmington.—The four legged chick hatched at Lakeville hatchery, near Farmington, two weeks ago is still alive, according to Manager G. W. Tulloch. He is going to get a photo of the chick if it ever quits kicking. The hatchery now has a four-legged and three-legged chick, and they are planning to turn out double-breasted chicks for the benefit of those who prefer that meat before long.

Red River Valley History

By Wm. E. Wedding

Early Day Amusement

Continuing a discussion of the letter recently received from Mr. Homer E. Mussey, San Gabriel, Calif., former Thief River Falls resident, we present this paragraph:

"Your reference to the plays, 'Charlie's Aunt' and 'Way Down East', was somewhat inopportune inasmuch as those plays were unheard of in the days when the early-day home talent plays were presented."

We apparently do not date back far enough to get these theatrical facts in the proper chronological order. We had thought that the two plays mentioned were fully old enough to qualify, but we bow to a greater authority.

"The first minstrel shows," Mr. Mussey writes," appearing in Thief River Falls had many potential movie stars, but the time was too early for many of them to acquire the acclaim of stardom. The writer can remember only two, Billy Bennet and his daughter, Belle Bennett. They appeared in the old Oddfellows hall, second floor of the I. O. O. F. hall, corner of Second and LaBree.

"Old Billy—and he won't resent the 'old'—was a man of many faces and his impersonations through a screen always brought down the house. His daughter Belle, who has recently gone places in the movies, was an able adjunct."

We recall hearing much of Belle Bennett as a Minnesota girl who made good in the movies a second time about a decade ago, or perhaps the interest was caused by the fact that she was well known to the theater goers of an earlier day. Anyway, we remember hearing about and, if we are not mistaken, she was the wife of the "hard boiled" father in "Wild Geese", which we saw along about that time.

The former local man also gives his attention to other amusement features. He says:

"Early circuses and carnivals are really entitled to a whole column of reminiscences. The writer spent an entire summer with a carnival troupe and many of the early recollections and references would be most interesting to some of those who think that 'primeval' entertainment was 'a matter of course'."

He promises to write about some of his experiences in this field and we herewith urge him to do so. Certainly there is much of interest in connection with carnivals. This writer also spent a summer with a carnival company. We started out many years ago, first as advance man at $35 a week and expenses and later as assistant manager and finally as part owner. While our first love always has been newspaper work, we yielded to temptation this time because a young fellow who operated a summer resort amusement park at Clear Lake, Ia., hired us to ballyhoo for a fat man. This man really was fat, weighing about 600 or 700 pounds. We made seven dollars a day which was big money in those days, so we joined the carnival at Albert Lea and started out over the country finding booking spots. It was a great life.

There are facts about the carnival business that every reader should know. For instance, it is impossible to beat any of the carnival games unless the operators wish you to do so. There is the so-called test' of skill called the swinging ball. A law of physics is encountered in trying to beat this game. If the ten-pin you are supposed to hit with the ball is set up straight you can't possibly hit it, but when the operator wish to have some one win he places the pin so that it slants a little and can be hit. This is done by having the bottom planed off an angle slightly greater or less than a right angle with the sides of the pin. A mark unnoticeable to any one but the operator shows him where to grasp the pin to set it as he wishes.

Then there are the "roll downs" where you seek to win prizes by rolling balls down certain grooves. The winning numbers are so grouped that you can't win unless the board is unobtrusively tilted a bit. You can win on a money wheel but the trouble is when you get to going good the dealer can "jinx" the wheel and "gyp" you.

But the great attraction about carnivals and circuses is that there is an appreciable "walk away". That is the money left by people buying tickets. The ticket box is called the "ducket box" and the writer has sat or stood in one and sold tickets a couple of hours, making change as carefully and conscientiously as possible, to find that he had as much as $14 more than the sold tickets called for. It is impossible to get this change back to the right parties unless they call for it which very seldom happens, so the ticket seller is entitled to it.

But we don't recommend carnivals to young people. It is a hard grind and in the long run pays little.

TAX DISCOUNTS TO END JUNE 30, AUDITOR WARNS

Bargain Settlement Period Expires This Month, Says Senstad

ALLOWS BIG SAVINGS ON DELINQUENT TAXES

Lands Long Delinquent to be Forfeited to State Next October

County Auditor A. M. Senstad today issued a statement calling attention that the privilege of paying delinquent taxes at a discount will be withdrawn June 30 when the time limit expires. He also cites a law under which lands on which taxes are delinquent for 1929 and prior years will be forfeited to the state next October.

Mr. Senstad's statement follows:

Attention of owners of tax delinquent property is called to the fact that Chapter 387, laws of 1935 expires on June 30, 1936. This is the so called tax discount law and the opportunity of discounting delinquent taxes for 1930 and prior years will be lost if not taken advantage of this month. This law results in substantial savings to the property owner as the discount ranges from 80% to 20% of the original tax, the percentage being determined by the first year delinquent.

Notice of expiration of time of redemption has been served on all real estate descriptions that are delinquent for the year of 1929, and prior years and these lands will forfeit to the state this year unless the taxes are paid. The forfeiture date in Pennington County is October 8, 1936; however, the discount law ends June 30. The schedule of discounts are as follows:

1922 and prior years through 1925 can be paid at 20%, 1926 to 1934 inclusive at 50%.
1925 or 1926 through 1934 can be paid at 50%.
1927 or 1928 through 1934 can be paid at 60%.
1929 or 1930 through 1934 can be paid at 80%.

The above list of discounts is on the original tax, all penalty and interest being waived. However, the law provides that in settling a delinquency under discount the whole delinquency must be taken and for cash. Property owners must remember that the discount law ends June 30, 1936.

While lands delinquent for 1929 and prior years will forfeit to the state this year, October 8 in Pennington County, taxes delinquent for 1930 will not forfeit until 1937. Notices of expiration of time of redemption will be served on 1930 delinquency some time this summer. Persons wishing to buy certificates under the discount law must proceed according to law and give one years notice before taking possession of the land.

For those persons who do not have the necessary cash to take advantage of the discount law, their attention is called to Chapter 72, 1935-1936 Special Session laws. This law provides for cancellation of all penalty and interest when the owner, or anyone who has the right to pay the taxes, confesses judgment for the whole amount of original tax, and pays down one tenth of the amount due. The balance on the unpaid balance and the current tax must not be allowed to go delinquent while the installment contract is in effect. Any delinquent land which will forfeit this year can be saved by making use of the installment law.

Any property that is delinquent for 1933 or a prior year may be placed under the installment law.

Where the 1934 tax is the only one delinquent there is no discount and must be paid in full along with interest and penalty.

Speaking on the subject "Watch the Signs," Paul Lundgren drew an instructive analogy between road signs and markers along the highway of life. The purpose of the schools, he said, is to train for all phases of life, not only for work. He concluded by saying that if the rising generation observes the "Go" sign, this nation will work its way out of its present difficulties as it has in former similar situations.

A. M. Senstad presented the American Legion award to Wayne Bredeson, and Mrs. B. O. Norby conferred the auxiliary award to Marguerite Simonson, while the spelling award was presented by Mrs. Frances R. Larsen to Clifford Vigness.

JUDGE L. ARNOLD RULES VS. BARBER SHOP ORDINANCE

Can't Regulate Hours Under High Court Decision, Ruling Holds

Basing his ruling on a Minnesota supreme court decision handed down in 1934 in a similar action instituted in Minneapolis, Municipal Judge Lincoln Arnold held Wednesday that that section of the recently enacted barber ordinance regulating the hours during which the shops may remain open is invalid.

Judge Arnold's decision followed the bringing into municipal court recently of Leonard Ness, local barber, on a charge of operating a shop beyond the hours specified in the ordinance. Citing the Minneapolis ordinance which was held unconstitutional, a memorandum of the local court stated that the defendant had committed no public offense.

Judge Arnold held further that a law enacted by the Minnesota legislature in 1935 authorizing municipalities to fix barbershop hours does not affect the status of the decision in the Minneapolis case, since legislation violating the state or federal constitution has always been held by the courts to be invalid and unenforceable.

Mr. and Mrs. Ole Sundsdal are Feted on Golden Wedding Day

Mr. and Mrs. Ole Sundsdal, who recently moved into this city after residing more than thirty years in the Erie community, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary May 24 at their home on Crocker av. N. in company with a large group of relatives and friends. The actual anniversary was April 8, but the celebration was postponed to permit relatives from a distance to be present.

Present on the occasion were Miss Minnie Tollefson of Thompson, N. D., and Mrs. Ole Hanson of Oklee, both of whom were in attendance at the wedding of the venerable couple in 1886. Ten years after their marriage in Grand Forks county, N. D., Mr. and Mrs. Sundsdal moved to the Thirteen Towns community near Fosston, and in 1904 they came to the Erie community and built up a fine home there.

Ten children were born to the couple, all of them still living. They include Olaf, Duluth; Knut, Highlanding; Herman, Oklee; Theodore, San Diego, Calif.; Otto, Stephen; Henry, John and Immanuel, Erie; Mrs. George [illegible]pas, Grand Forks; and Mrs. Lawrence Baker, Racine, Wisconsin.

A feature of the anniversary was the serving of a sumptuous dinner, following which those present bestowed a gift on Mr. and Mrs. Sundsdal.

H. S. SENIORS GET DIPLOMAS FRIDAY NIGHT

Auditorium Is Packed for Annual Commencement Exercises

SCHOLARSHIPS ARE AWARDED TO SENIORS

Schools Teach Cooperative Spirit, Says Dr. Fred Engelhardt

In impressive commencement exercises at the Auditorium Friday evening 103 members of the senior class of Lincoln high school received diplomas from B. O. Norby, president of the board of education, while Supt. Morris Bye, who presided, conferred teachers' certificates on fifteen students in the teacher training department. Every seat in the Auditorium was filled for the occasion.

Dr. Fred Engelhardt of the college of education of the University of Minnesota, who delivered the address to the graduates, said that school activities teach the valuable spirit of cooperation, and said the world is in need of more people who are willing to work together for a common end. At the same time, he added, in cooperating with others one need not lose his individuality.

The speaker warned his hearers against placing the dollar sign on education in appraising its value, and stated that if the educational system is to be justified the graduates owe it to society to return something for what they have received.

The program opened with the playing of the processional march by Helen Granum, Robert Douville and Miss Erma Springen, followed by the salutatory, ably delivered by Victor F. Jung, songs by the high school boys' glee club and the mixed chorus under the direction of Miss Springen, and a well prepared valedictory by Arthur W. Nelson. W. G. Claffy, high school principal, presented members of the senior class, and Miss Alice Stapleton, head of the teacher training department, presented her group of students.

UNIDENTIFIED MAN IS FOUND IN RIVER UNDER SOO BRIDGE

Transient Had Apparently Stepped From Freight Car Into River

After being discovered by a group of boys late Monday afternoon, the body of an unidentified man, evidently a transient, was taken by police from the Red Lake river pool under the Soo Line bridge. The man, about 50 years old and five feet ten inches in height, was of medium build, had a red moustache and wore two pair of overalls and a practically new blue mackinaw.

The condition of the body indicated that it had been in the water for about a week. In the garments were found a Chicago paper dated May 24, $1.94 in cash, a towel, soap, razor and jackknife. An upper plate of false teeth was found to have the name Haley scratched on it, but the only dentist of that name in the state informed police here that it was not his work.

The police theory is that the man rode into the city on a box car, and that when the train stopped on the bridge he stepped out in the darkness and fell into the river. Substantiating that theory is a report that a cry was heard coming up from the river the night of May 23 while the freight train was on the bridge. A bread wrapper found in his clothes and bearing the name of a Bemidji bakery indicated that he had made his way here from that city. No inquest was held.

C. & C. GROUP TO STUDY EXTENSION OF WATER INTAKE

Dr. Melby Advocates Extension to Point Above Swimming Pool

An extension of the city water intake pipe to a point above the Tindolph park swimming pool was advocated by Dr. O. F. Melby, city health officer, at the Civic and Commerce association luncheon last Thursday noon. Dr. Melby stated that, in addition to eliminating possible contamination of the water supply during the summer months, the extension would also probably have the effect of improving the supply in winter.

At the same time he stated that the pool had not been closed to swimmers, the only step taken being the suspension of a WPA grant for the construction of a new bath house. On an association committee named by President W. L. Carlisle to study the proposed extension were Dr. Melby, Dr. L. G. Culver, Alf Berry, Theodore Quale and N. A. Anderson.

Postmaster Andrew Anderson told of a district meeting of postmasters to be held in this city next Tuesday, and was assured of the cooperation of the association in preparing the program.

N. W. ELSBERG GUEST IN CITY OF CIVIC GROUP

Highway Chief Guest of Road Committee and City Officials

INSPECTS ROUTES OUT FROM THIS CITY

Members of Highway 59 Association Also Guests at Meeting

While in the course of an inspection tour of highways in Northwestern Minnesota, N. W. Elsberg state highway commissioner, was the dinner guest Monday evening at Evelyn hotel of the road committee and directors of the Civic and Commerce association as well as city officials. Accompanying him to the city were A. O. Torgerson, engineer in charge of the Detroit Lakes division; R. C. Craig, maintenance engineer at Crookston; Mrs. Elsberg and Mrs. Torgerson.

Tuesday morning Mr. Elsberg was taken by members of the road committee over the section of Highway 59 from this city to Erskine, back on Highway 32 thru Red Lake Falls, and east from this city on Highway 1, concerning the improvement of which road there has been much agitation.

Other guests at the dinner Monday evening included members of the Soo Line Scenic Highway association from Bronson, Lancaster, Halma, Brooks, Plummer and other communities. W. L. Carlisle, presiding, first called on Mayor W. W. Prichard, who introduced the guests and welcomed them to the city.

Ray R. Swanson of Bronson, president of the highway association working for the improvement of Highway 59, commended Mr. Elsberg's department for the various projects undertaken on the route to the north of this city. Senator F. L. Tungseth added that the state could find no more competent official than the present commissioner.

W. E. Dahlquist stated that in view of its strategic location the size of the city of Thief River Falls does not reflect fully its business importance, and asserted that this community creates more tonnage for the highways than other comparable cities in the northwest.

Addressing the gathering Mr. Elsberg said that he hopes to have the section of Highway 59 from this city to Erskine included in the federal aid system, but that he was not so optimistic about the remainder of the route to the border.

Stating that with a present income of $13,000,000 from state sources, all but $1,000,000 is expended on fixed charges and maintenance, he declared that the state should have $20,000,000 available for highway purposes each year in order to carry on a proper construction and maintenance program.

The matter of restoring the former scale of motor vehicle license fees should be urged upon the legislature, he said. Pointing out that the tourist business should be worth $400,000,000 a year to Minnesota, Mr. Elsberg stated that the legislature also should provide ample funds for the support of the tourist bureau. In closing he forecast an ultimate state highway system embracing approximately 30,000 miles.

The Household

By LYDIA LE BARON WALKER

THERE are two seasons of a year when it is a good plan to see what refurnishing and refurbishing can be done. One is in the first two months of the year, and one in mid-summer. There are excellent reasons for choosing these times. It is then that stores offer inducements to buy. Clearance sales to make ready for the coming season's merchandise are necessary. Furniture occupies a great deal of space in showrooms, so the stock must be moved either by selling or storing. The former is preferable. So it is both to the advantage of shops and of homemakers to have these semi-yearly refurnishing and refurbishing times.

Advantages of New Things.

It is in mid summer and mid-winter that a house gets to look a bit stale. It needs little touches to dress it up, just as one's wardrobe requires refurbishing with new neckwear, and dainty touches. It is stimulating to buy some new article for the home, a new footstool, a side chair, an occasional table, a change of window curtains, a good picture, a scatter rug, etc. It is surprising what one new thing does to spur the homemaker to fix everything to accord with the new article. It acts on her spirits and strengthens her energy. It is like a good tonic.

When to make purchases is unwise because of the family purse, the homemaker can do a bit herself, as for instance in the making of novel pulls for the window shades. These can be crocheted over rings of several strands of the rather coarse medium, and have tassels pendant from them. Or they can be of rings covered with sealing wax, in plain or ornamental style. Or the refurbishing can be a wall picture in stitchery, a handsome table cover, or anyone of the many things she can fashion with her own hands and at small cost.

Sofa Cushions.

Sofa cushions are continually needing new covers in order to keep them spic and span. It is a delight to be able to go to a store and pick out just what you want for this purpose. It is when the cushions are shabby and the purse is low, that the homemaker has to consider how to have new covers at little or no cost. Let me suggest some successful ways.

What about that velvet dress that has badly worn places?—Wouldn't the good parts make a cover? One ingenious friend made a smart cover for a sofa cushion, and had enough left from the frock to cover a large footstool besides. The ensemble was very attractive.

The piece bag supplied the goods for another top. Sapphire blue velvet was used for the main part. A wide strip of changeable gold and blue drapery fabric was used across the center of the top. This material was strong, but too lightweight to use without the firm backing of the velvet. The lace box contributed very narrow gold lace which was used to edge the gold strip. And now a stunning cushion adorns the davenport. Narrow fancy gimp could have been substituted for the gold metal lace and other combinations of materials could be used with equal success.

The acquisition of the footstool added a note of luxury to the organ pipe upholstered easy chair.

Blooming Prairie.—Not satisfied with shooting the best consistent game of golf at the Blooming Prairie Country Club, Roly Rye goes in for fishing as another recreational sideline while tramping the fairways. Last week while he was walking across the bridge which crosses the creek hazard at the golf grounds, he spied a large sized sucker swimming along with the current. Bringing his trustie driver down with a bang, Rye knocked the fish out cold and fished it out of the water. Besides working up an appetite, he also helped fill the larder for the Sunday meal!

Pals

By WALDO L. CLEMENT

© McClure Newspaper Syndicate. WNU Service.

IT WAS all Dad's fault, anyway, so the family said. He had wanted a companion on his hunting and fishing trips, and kept egging her on trying to make a boy out of her. Otherwise she might have married some harmless chap in the neighborhood and lived just around the corner.

Billie was a willing pupil. At an early age she contemptuously discarded dolls and took to climbing trees and pursuing the neighbor's cat over the garage roof, Dad helping her with pertinent suggestions. Uncles, aunts, cousins and lesser relatives united in head shaking and prophesied that she would come to some bad end. Dad grinned and showed her how to wind a bamboo rod and cast a trout fly against the wind.

When Billie was sixteen Dad took her to his camp on the Arrowhead. There were heated objections by the family. It was Mom who fired the last shot in the pessimistic assertion: "All right, go up there and live with the spiders and bugs. It'll cure you. Ha! Both of you'll be mighty glad to get home inside a week. You'll see."

Billie tramped ten miles from the railroad with a twenty-pound sack on her back, up over jagged mountains. She drew in a deep breath and stretched out her arms, saying, "Oh, Dad, isn't it wonderful. Let's stay here forever."

At noon she reached the camp well ahead of Dad, who was puffing and secretly wiping sweat from his neck. Dropping the sack she unlimbered her rod and ran to the stream. Twenty minutes later Dad found her with feet braced and rod bent double, wrestling a two-pound trout with her line snarled about a boulder.

For two years they visited the camp whenever they could invent excuses.

At eighteen Billie was as tall as Dad. Her slim, graceful body was straight and strong as a steel rod. Her full-lipped mouth was the color of wild sumac and her hair glowed with the rich brown of autumn leaves in a sun-lit pool. Good to look upon was Billie, and men desired her.

They came and went; doctors, lawyers and candle-stick makers. They told her she was beautiful, glorious, divine. They proposed marriage and promised to lay the world at her feet, and none of them could understand how she contrived to say no without damaging their self esteem. Billie was that way.

Dad and Billie were puttering around an open fire in front of the camp, planning a swimming pool and preparing supper at odd moments. The sun was just dropping down over the mountains when a young man came wading down the stream with a rolled blanket on his back and a slender rod in his hand.

Catching sight of Dad and Billie he stopped and waved his hand, and Dad beckoned him over. "Have supper with us," he invited in his offhand friendly way. "We're just going to eat."

Billie smiled and the young man did not hesitate a moment. "With pleasure," he said, flinging his hat on the ground and emptying quarts of water out of his boots. "May I introduce myself? Name is Roscoe Turner—friends call me Ross." He grinned, "Hadn't occurred to me I was hungry till you mentioned supper. Ravenous now."

They sat down to the rough pine table and Billie poured coffee and dished out a heaping mound of fried trout, sizzling hot. Ross closed his eyes and sniffed the aroma. "Fried in cornmeal," he murmured reverently. He glanced around at the brawling stream, the red sun dropping over the mountains and the pine woods billowing in the wind. "Worth ten years of any man's life." He nodded his head and smiled at Billie.

"Only the favored few," Billie quoted, and blushed as his eyes clung to hers.

Ross ate hungrily. "Engineer," he told them between mouthfuls. "South America next month to build steel bridges for the railroads pushing in from the coastal cities. Dad's chief engineer," he added proudly. "Says maybe I'll get enough of roughing it down there."

Ross stayed with them a week. Dad insisted on it though the young man needed little urging. They roamed the hills together. They spent nights under the stars and days climbing mountains. Even Dad could find no fault with him.

The day before he left Dad sat on the porch and heard them talking. He heard Ross say, "Billie, it's a wild country; mountains and unexplored rivers . . . Primitive people . . . Snakes, spiders . . . Climate mighty hard on white folks . . . Expect to stay four years."

Silence. Then Billie's voice, eager, thrilling: "Oh, Ross, I'd love it."

The stakes marking the site of the swimming pool shone white in the dusk. Dad pulled them up one by one and tossed them into the stream. He glanced around wistfully and filled his pipe with fingers that trembled a little. "If I were young," he muttered. "If I were young . . . Darned if I wouldn't go with them."

A Shout for Bellow

AROUND Horse Cave, Kentucky, the natives will tell you somewhat pridefully that you'll never get the best of Herman Bellow.

Herman's knowledge came from a study of nature in the numerous caverns of his neighborhood.

Once an Englishman visited Horse Cave, so the story goes, and engaged in argument with Herman. The result was a bet, the loser to be the man who couldn't answer his own question.

Said Herman: "Why is it a woodchuck leaves no dirt when he digs a hole?"

"That's your question," retorted the Englishman.

"Because he starts to dig the hole at the bottom instead of at the top," replied Herman proudly.

"But how does he get to the bottom?" the Briton wanted to know.

"That's your question!" cracked Herman Bellow.

Trichinosis Is Peril During Summer Season, State Physicians Say

Picnics and summer parties end up now and then in an outbreak of trichinosis. Members of the committee on public health education of the Minnesota State Medical Association warn summer outers today to look out for their cold luncheon meats, sausages particularly, to be sure that they are protected against trichinosis.

Trichina infestation appears most frequently in uncooked or insufficiently cooked sausage meats.

The trichina worm infests about 75 per cent of all the rats in this county, it is estimated. Hogs eat the rats or other refuse and the trichina worm, after a period of activity becomes encapsulated in the muscle and is consumed by human beings with the meat. If the meat is well cooked, the encapsulated worm is killed and harmless. If the meat is insufficiently cooked, then the worm goes through a new cycle of activity in the intestinal tract of its new human victim.

Embryos circulate in the blood stream and then lodge in the muscular tissue. The disease in humans is characterized first by intestinal distress and then by severe muscular pains and high fever. Recovery takes a long time and the death rate is high.

The only sure way to avoid trichinosis is to avoid eating uncooked meat, particularly pork. Many home made sausages are made of pork that has been smoked but not well cooked. These sausages are likely to be infested since at least five per cent of all hogs are known to be infested with the trichina worm.

Herman Larson at the Fellman home in River Falls township and at the church in St. Hilaire. Interment was made in the East Side cemetery at St. Hilaire. One sister preceded her in death. Surviving her death are her parents Mr. and Mrs. John Fellman; her brothers Carl, Harold and Winton all at home; and her sisters Mrs. Axel E. Larson of Clearbrook, Mrs. Nelson D. Armstrong of Huron, S. Dak. and Mrs. Ernest Ulrick of Red Lake Falls. $140,000,000 Land Bank Loans Closed in State

Coupled with a 6.2 per cent increase in the acreage of land in farms in Minnesota during the last 5 years, has gone an increasing volume of credit obtained by Minnesota farmers through the Farm Credit Administration for buying farms. From May 1933 to the end of 1935 this amounted to $14,506,000, according to President Roy A. Nelson of the Federal Land Bank of St. Paul. According to Mr. Nelson statement about 10.2 per cent of the money loaned in the state by the Federal Land Bank and the commissioner during that time was used to purchase land, including a relatively small amount to re-acquire farms lost through foreclosure. Loans closed in the state aggregated $140,824,000 for the period.

400 State Road Workers Will Get Safety Awards

More than 400 employes of the state highway department who have operated trucks and other motor equipment for five years without a preventable accident will be honored at a series of safety meetings to be held in the various maintenance districts during the next few weeks. Each man with such a record will receive a special certificate for the accomplishment from N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner. Maintenance District No. 3 with headquarters at Bemidji is this year's winner of the departmental safety contest held every year by highway employes. For a six month period the Bemidji district had a perfect record of no motor equipment accidents. The Mankato district ranked second and Willmar third in the contest.

HAS 82 GRANDCHILDREN, GETS OLD AGE PENSION

Fergus Falls.—If you can boast of more than 82 grandchildren and three great grandchildren you are in a position to challenge the record of Ferdinand E. Reger, Leaf Mountain pioneer, near Fergus Falls. Reger is the father of 16 children, 13 of whom are still living. Reger was in Fergus Falls last week to appear before the county board in connection with his application for old age assistance. The board granted him a small monthly allowance. He is 74 years old. A native of Bavaria, Reger came to this country with his parents in 1868. They spent a year in Stearns county and then moved to Leaf Valley in Ottertail. The elder Reger pulled logs by hand a distance of three-quarters of a mile to build a crude log cabin. It was so small the family had to set up their cook stove outside, and whenever it rained they had to go without the next meal.

Rise in Alcohol Use Has Mounting Effect on Uninsurability

Excessive use of alcohol shows an increase of 13% since a year ago as a cause of uninsurability among people under 30, and an increase of 183% for the same age group since 1932, according to the experience records of Northwestern National Life Insurance company. For all ages the increase in rejections involving overindulgence was 8% over last year and 35% since 1932, the report shows.

Moderate and occasional drinkers show a steady increase also, according to the report. Examination of the company's accepted applications discloses an increase of 21% since a year ago in the number of insurance applicants reported to be moderate or occasional users of alcoholic beverages, and of 110% since 1932. The increase shown among applicants under 30 is 17% in the past year, and 178% since 1932.

Noteworthy phases of the increased alcoholic consumption during the past year, the company observes, have been the growth in the use of alcoholic beverages in the home, both for entertaining and in private, and the increasing trend on the part of business men and white collar workers to stop for refreshments on the way home from work.

In the spring of 1932, 8.2 per 100 applicants under age 30 used intoxicants, the company's records show, while in the same season of 1935, the proportion for the same age group was 19.5 per 100, and in 1936, the proportion in this age group is 22.8 per 100.

TOO MUCH HEAT IS FATAL TO CHICKS

Warmth of Brooder Must Be Closely Guarded.

By H. H. Alp, Poultry Specialist, College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.—WNU Service.

Dead or unhealthy chicks always mean financial losses for the poultryman, but they mean greater losses when feed prices are high and the outlook for poultry raising is favorable.

One of the common causes of unhealthy chicks is the overheated brooder house. It often leads to death of chicks through cannibalism, and lowers the vigor and health of the birds. The effect of a hot, stuffy room will be reflected in unthrifty chicks with poor appetites and ruffled feathers.

A general hover temperature of between 90 and 100 degrees Fahrenheit is recommended. However, the room temperature outside the hover should be about 70 degrees. Crowding of the chicks near the stove indicates too low a temperature, while their hovering at some distance indicates too much heat.

Not only is it important to handle the chicks so that they will utilize high priced feeds to the best advantage, but it is also necessary to protect the feed to prevent losses before feeding.

Dampness reduces the value of feeds and, in some cases, introduces sickness among the birds. A waterproof covering should be spread over the poultry feeds while they are being transported from one place to another in the rain, and they should be stored in a dry, clean room.

Poultry diseases are often spread by feed that has been stored in the chicken house or brooder. If no separate room is available for storage, large-sized garbage cans with close fitting covers make good storage bins.

The American Jack

The jack was the first animal domesticated by man for carrying burdens. Jacks were bred and raised by King David. In 1787 the king of Spain presented George Washington with a jack and jennet. American jacks developed from the five principal breeds imported from other countries. These are: the Andalusian from southern Spain, Maltese from Island of Malta, Catalonian from Pyrenees mountains in Spain, Majorca from Island of Majorca, Poitou from province of that name in France. American jack is 15 to 16 hands high, weighs 1,000 to 1,200 pounds, heart girth 65 to 72 inches, cannon bone 8 to 10½ inches. Color, black.

WE MUST PAY THE BILL

The visit to this community by N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner, was greatly appreciated by local citizens who have taken an active part in promoting good roads in this section of the state. This was only one of many communities visited by the commissioner on this trip. And in every community, according to his statement, he found that present roads were inadequate and that extensive improvements were desired. Most of the requests were reasonable insofar as the need for better highways is concerned, he agreed, but in few instances did he meet with due recognition of the fact that highway improvements are expensive and that there is a limit to what can be accomplished with the funds that are made available from year to year. More rapid progress will be possible only as more money is provided for road building purposes, he pointed out.

The first responsibility of the state is to maintain the roads already built. With its greatly increased mileage that must be maintained, the highway department has little money left over from funds provided by the state for new construction purposes. In recent years new construction has been possible only because of federal aid, matched by the state with borrowed money. To put the new construction program on a cash basis, automobile owners will have to pay higher taxes. Whether they want better roads or lower automobile taxes is the question the people of Minnesota will have to decide.

Considering the fact that automobiles are now exempted from all other forms of taxation, the present license fees are low. If automobiles were taxed as personal property the owners would pay a great deal more than they are now paying. The demand that these fees be restored to their former levels therefore is not unreasonable.

Another suggestion made by Mr. Elsberg was that communities should work together in their road problems, adopting a five or a ten year program that would best serve their common needs. We can well imagine that such a program in this territory, providing reasonable adjustment of the many conflicting claims, would be very welcome to highway officials who are harassed by ambitious committees from every community and in some cases two or three competing committees from one community.

A rather interesting slant on the future of Minnesota's trunk highway system was the opinion expressed by Mr. Elsberg that the system eventually would include about thirty thousand miles of the state's roads or about three times its present total. That would be one way of shifting a portion of the present burden of taxes from real estate which is still paying a large share of road costs. It would mean further increases in license fees and gas taxes but there certainly is no injustice in asking those who use the roads to pay for them.

Thief River's baseball team got off to a good start by winning its first game and on next Sunday afternoon local fans will have their first opportunity to see the boys in action on the home grounds. Those who saw the game last Sunday tell us it was good baseball. A lot of customers at the first home game will not discourage the team or its sponsors.

It seems rather strange to read about five people being killed in a forest fire in the state of New Jersey. We laugh at the occasional easterner who expresses surprise at not finding Indians camped in the suburbs of Chicago. Perhaps our ideas of living conditions along the Atlantic coast are just as warped as theirs are of ours.

It is to be regretted that more people were not present to hear the Memorial Day address delivered by Rev. E. A. Cooke at the Auditorium Saturday. At any rate his talk appealed to us as being just about what a Memorial Day address should be. Proper tribute was paid to those who had sacrificed in order that we might enjoy our present liberties. There was a suggestion that such sacrifices might be necessary again if we are to retain those liberties. In other words there really are a few things in life that are worth fighting for and not all who have given their lives in past wars have died in vain.

Publication of the primary ballot in this issue reminds us that another election is just around the corner. Up to the present time the campaign has developed very little heat. Which isn't strange. There are few offices to be filled locally and as far as the state and district offices are concerned there are no issues to get excited about. Each party has its own selections to make. There is enough rivalry within each party to provide interest and few voters will yield to the temptation to wander over into the enemy's back yard as they have in some elections. Once the primary is out of the way, however, things will be different. By that time the national fight will be under way and party lines will be formed within the state. From then until November it will be a catch-as-catch-can fight and no holds barred.

RED CROSS SHOWS THE WAY

(The Washington Globe)

When, back in the Mississippi flood days, Herbert Hoover objected to congress making an appropriation to the Red Cross and insisted that that humanitarian organization be kept free from all government strings, he established a precedent which we may in future years be thankful for. It is true that congress will undoubtedly appropriate large amounts for the reconstruction of the recently flooded area, but it was the Red Cross that rushed into the distressed sections with food, clothing, shelter and medical attention, carrying on its great tradition of aiding the suffering and softening the blows of calamity.

And this great humanitarian work was done not with millions in official government funds but with voluntary contributions coming direct from the hearts of millions of Americans.

In these days when good samaritanism is regarded as a government function rather than a responsibility of the individual citizen we are in grave danger of stifling all incentive to carry out our own acts of charity. What is more, institutionalized government charity is in danger of growing to such immense proportions that it will swallow both the spirit and the ability to give when fellowmen are in distress.

If we ever succeed in turning our steps back again from cold official charity to voluntary localized giving it will be such organizations as the Red Cross and the Community Chest that will show the way.

EVERYBODY WILL PAY

(Montevideo News)

Senator Robert LaFollette has been trying to get Congress to agree to an amendment to the tax bill for the purpose of broadening the income tax base. Chances of getting his amendment adopted are slim. Until after election Congress and the President prefer to have the mass of voters think a few "Fat Boys" will be made to pay all the increased taxes.

Something like what La Follette proposes will one day have to be adopted. He wants to reduce from $2,500 to $1,500 the amount of money a married man may earn without paying income taxes. The exemption total for a single man he would reduce from $1,000 to $800. And then, it is the belief of the Wisconsin progressive, raise the tax rate from four per cent to six per cent on smaller incomes; and step them up all along the line to $10,000.

If the national government's word is to be kept good, it will be up to the income-earners, big and small, to keep it good. That means stiffer taxes for thousands of people in thousands of small towns and modest homes.

TWO SETS OF FIGURES

(Mankato Free Press)

Here are two sets of figures: American army battle casualties in the World War: Killed, 37,568; died of wounds, 12,942; wounded but not mortally, 182,674; total 233,184.

Accident casualties in the United States in 1935: Killed, 99,000; permanently injured, 365,000; temporarily injured, 9,100,000; total 9,564,000.

In the most recent year of peace, accident claimed the lives of 271 Americans every day, eleven every hour, one every six minutes.

Congress is considering ways and means of avoiding future American battle casualty lists. Is the average citizen taking thought of how to reduce that peace-time casualty list?

THAT RECIPROCAL TRADE PACT

(The Commercial West)

It begins to look as though livestock and lumber interests of the Northwest had pretty solid ground under their feet when they protested against provisions of the United States-Canadian reciprocity pact as it related to their products.

A report just released by the division of statistics and research of the United States Bureau of Customs reveals these interesting facts:

Beef cattle of 700 pounds, or over, amounting to 7,931 head, were shipped from Canada into Minnesota. Into North Dakota, one of the Northwest's chief cattle-growing states, 9,185 beef cattle were exported by Canada.

Minnesota, apparently, has lost a large market for its famous seed potatoes to the extent of 7,962,000 bushels shipped to New York; 90,000 bushels to Michigan; 327,563 bushels to Massachusetts, and 320,325 bushels to Maine and New Hampshire. To Virginia in the South, a potential customer for Minnesota's seed potatoes—whole trainloads having gone South in past years from Hollandale—597,920 bushels of Canadian seed potatoes found their way.

The question is, has the reciprocal trade been of as great compensating benefit to agriculture and industry of the Northwest? We shall be interested to see those figures when they are made public.

AN UNEMPLOYMENT PARADOX

(Minneapolis Journal)

Despite the prolonged and alarming record of unemployment, some jobs now go unfilled simply for lack of trained persons capable of filling them. Such situations are traceable to the one-sided emphasis that has long marked preparation of youth for self-support, based on the notion that everyone must have a white collar job.

These labor shortages are by no means sizable. But the National Re-employment Service in Minnesota has had to turn down some requests during the past week for lack of availables to fill the jobs. A North Dakota request for bricklayers could not be met last week, Dreng Bjornaraa, State Director of the NRS explained, because skilled Minnesota bricklayers were busy at home. Principal labor shortages are occurring through the scarcity of skilled men capable of handling heavy equipment in road building.

Depression years have seen little recruiting through apprenticeship. With some degree of revival, there are instances where skilled labor is not so easily available. Effects of this trend appear in increased attendance at vocational schools. Enrollments in vocational education classes in the United States last year totaled 1,248,000, an increase of 128,000 over 1934.

The white collar job has been too much glorified. The career of the skilled artisan must be made more attractive, and greater emphasis placed on the cultivation of technical skills, if a better balance is to be achieved.

Reviewing the story of the establishment of rural mail service with one of the old settlers this week, he recalled the opposition there was in certain towns to the establishment of routes for the delivery of mail to farmers. The objection was that if farmers had their mail delivered, they would just about never come to town, and the merchants would have to close up shop for lack of trade. Seems funny today that anyone would ever have thought that, and yet they did. How true it is that most of our troubles never happen.—Morris Tribune.

One of the alluring promises made by the repealists, was that the return of legalized liquor would greatly reduce crime, particularly drunkenness and those evils which are inseparable from the saloon. They were mistaken. The general news columns report that the number of federal prisoners, after two years of legal liquor, is the greatest in all history, and several of the state penitentiaries now have more inmates than room.—Park Rapids Enterprise.

COURT RULES OUT LOOSE LEAF BOOK

A recent court decision that a loose leaf book is not a "book" within the meaning of the British companies act—which prescribes that minutes of directors' meetings must be kept in a "book"—has caused a big flurry in English legal circles, according to a London United Press correspondent.

All the big British banks now use loose-leaf ledgers and account books, but they did not do so until learned and expensive counsel had advised them that such records should be acceptable as evidence in the courts.

Sir John Simons, for example, when practicing at the bar, is understood to have advised clients that the mechanical construction of a book should have nothing to do with its value as evidence. And the courts have tacitly sustained this view by not raising objections to evidence offered in the form of a book with easily detachable pages. However, to be on the safe side and prevent any possibility of abuse, some big companies have their more important loose-leaf books constructed with lock and key.

Sailors More Costly

It is figured by the adjutant general's office in the War department that Uncle Sam's sailors are more expensive by far than his soldiers. It costs approximately $15,000 to educate a midshipman for four years at Annapolis, compared to about $9,715 to school a cadet for the same period at West Point. In actual service it is estimated that it costs $4,300 annually to maintain a naval officer and $1,100 for an enlisted man. In the army, however, maintenance cost falls to $4,420 for officers and $810 for each private.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Darkened Nests Advised to Fool the Egg Eaters

Egg eating is a habit usually brought on by a lack of something in the diet, particularly the lack of shell forming material, says an authority in the Montreal Herald. Egg shells should not be given to hens unless they are dried and broken up fine. They should not resemble an egg in any way, shape or form. To offset this before it becomes a habit, the only thing to do is to arrange that the hens should lay in darkened nests. This can be arranged by having the hens go in at the end of the nest, and entering the laying compartment from the back. If they cannot see the eggs they will be less inclined to eat them, and care should be taken to have the eggs gathered three or four times daily, or oftener if convenient, until such time as the trouble has passed away.

Meat Spots in Eggs

Meat spots in eggs which later may develop into rots, are something over which the poultryman has little, if any, control. It is simply the rupture of a blood vessel somewhere from the time the egg leaves the ovary until it comes down the oviduct. It does not necessarily mean that the hen which laid them will repeat the laying of eggs with meat, or blood spots, and the only method of controlling the output is to have eggs candled before sending them to market.

Feeding Goslings

Use a covered coop—goslings cannot stand cold rain, and especially not the hot glaring sunshine. Sunstroke is a frequent cause of death in summer. Have coops so constructed that fronts close up at night, and open them in the morning if weather is fair. Feed plenty of greens—this is fully 50 per cent of their feed. They'll live on grass alone and grow, but chick starter should be before them exactly same as for chicks. Earthen water fountains keep water cool.

Time to Fight Lice

During warm weather one can easily rid the laying flock of lice by the use of sodium fluoride as a dip. The usual recommendation is to mix one ounce of sodium fluoride in one gallon of water. The dip should be lukewarm. The bird should be held in the solution until the water reaches the skin. Just before releasing the hen the head should be dipped. Allowing the bird to drain conserves the liquid. The solution should not remain in metal containers overnight.

POUND OF IRON DOES FLYING TRAPEZE STUNT

Clara City.—A piece of iron weighing about a pound or two went "astray" at Clara City the other day, traveling through the air about a quarter of a mile and breaking through the roof of the Pat Klingman residence, landing on the floor of an upstairs room. Theim Bros. were blasting apart some old steam engines several blocks away, and did a thorough job on one of the old wrecks. The particular piece of iron was the only piece which is known to have done any traveling on its own, but it certainly started out to see the world, flying through the air "with the greatest of ease" bent on damaging domestic relations of Mr. Klingman. Nothing but the roof of Klingman's home was injured, but a nice hole was left there by which the Klingmans may remember the incident the next time it rains.

The Red Dress

By FREDERICK LAING

© McClure Newspaper Syndicate. WNU Service.

MOLLY O'HARA was singing and whisking a brush over her short brown hair as she flirted slant eyed with herself in the mirror.

For wasn't it the most beautiful world and hadn't Timothy McBride invited her to the Murphy chain store employees' mutual benefit dance, and wouldn't she simply knock them all dead in her new red dress?

She couldn't help noticing that her peaches and cream complexion had come back again—

When he'd asked her to the dance, he hadn't been impudent like most men. He'd told her about how they were all Irish in the Murphy company—the whole two thousand of them! No, he hadn't been impudent, but he hadn't been shy; either. He'd looked her right in the eye and her heart had gone faster and faster.

From that first day when she'd entered his store she'd known she would fall in love with him. And she'd come back that same afternoon for something else and she couldn't remember what it was and he'd smiled. He must have noticed her blushing, but he'd let her shop in his store for three weeks until they were practically old friends before he'd said a word about seeing her some time of an evening.

Yesterday she'd arrived at his store as he was about to close. He'd broken a rule to let her in and had pulled down the shades so every one else in the world would see he was closed for the day. It was then that he had asked her to the dance.

And she'd bought that red dress she'd been saving for, even though money was a bit scarce now that she'd brought her sister over from Ireland, but she'd wanted so terribly to have Timothy proud of her, and Catherine would find work soon, she was sure.

Three weeks ago there'd been only one person she'd loved in the world. That was Catherine, her sister, just two years younger than she, soft and sweet and a little selfish. Timothy had said, "Sure, bring your sister to the dance," and had laughed when she wanted to pay the extra dollar. Timothy would be proud when he saw the two sisters she in her red dress and Catherine in . . .

What would Catherine wear to the dance? There were two suitable dresses, a red one and a white. And Catherine hated white dresses.

• • • • • • •

Let me have the red dress this one night, then I'll give it to you forever, Catherine, you can't have it tonight. It's mine, I worked long hours for it. It's mine, I tell you—mine for tonight, at least, then I'll give it to you forever if you want it, truly I will. You're spoiled, Catherine. It isn't good for you to have your way all the time.

And now Catherine is coming up the stairs. I know her tread, soft and dear, like a white kitten come to pounce on my red dress which she shan't have because I'm going to wear it for Timothy's sake . . .

"Hello, Catherine. (Cheerfulness singing above suspense.) What luck?"

Catherine threw her hat disconsolately on the bed. "No luck at all. I'm discouraged. Why is every one so mean to a girl looking for work?"

Molly's eyes followed the hat in its arched course to the bed. There it lay, brown and limp. If she stopped looking at it she would have to look at the red dress.

She raised her head and their glances met, the one eager, the other nervous.

"A red dress?" with a rising lilt. An anguish of dismay and devotion.

"Of course a red dress, silly. Aren't you going to the dance tonight? I bought it for you to wear."

Swiftly into the hallway. (You try on the red dress while I run down and get some condensed milk for dinner) swiftly up the stairs to the friendly roof where she could cry her heart out to the sky with no one to see and no one to hear . . . No one to hear.

Catherine looked so dazzlingly in the red dress it made Molly's eyes blink to see her. At least that was the excuse Molly gave when Catherine, who wasn't usually very observant, said Molly looked as if she had something in her eye.

They were to meet Timothy in the dance hall. He couldn't call for them because he was on the committee. He said he would be near the door watching for them at eight o'clock.

He came hurrying in their direction, pulling the tickets out of his pocket on his way. Molly watched his eyes nervously as she introduced Catherine.

"We'll find a place so Catherine can sit down," he said, "and then we'll find her a partner." And that was all.

As he led them eagerly into the dance hall Molly gasped. There was hardly a girl in the place who wasn't dressed in red!

"You're a perfect angel in white," Timothy whispered. "Indeed you are. Thank the Lord there's one girl here this evening who didn't decide to wear a red dress!"

A GENEROUS DISPOSITION

"Friend," said Plodding Pete, "I want to ask you a favor."
"I haven't time to listen to you," said the pedestrian.
"I suppose you're expectin' me to ask you for money."
"You needn't—I'm broke."
"Well, jes' to show dat I'm a good feller, an' don't carry no ill-will, jes' wait here till I panhandle up an' down de block a couple o' times an' I'll lend you some."

His Apology

At an agriculture dinner a son of the plow sat beside a woman of title, a friend of the squire, and while discussing turnips and potatoes, he upset a plate of tomato soup on his neighbor's dress. She kept down an impatient exclamation and merely remarked: "What a pity!"

The farm worker looked at the stains and said with a resigned sigh: "Ah, it don't matter, I don't like that stuff, anyway."—Birmingham Post.

That Was Different

The dear old lady smiled at the little girl who had been left in sole charge of the confectioner's shop.

"And don't you feel tempted to eat one of the cream buns, my dear?" she asked.

The little girl was quite shocked. "Oh, dear, no!" she replied. "That would be stealing. I only lick them."

The Elevating Touch

"Don't you think music has a refining influence?"
"It must have," replied Miss Cayenne. "Some of the popular songs contain language that it would be impossible to employ in any other way."

Personal Selection

"I don't believe half the things I read," said the cynical neighbor.
"Well," replied Farmer Corntossel, "maybe you're one of these people who can't enjoy themselves unless they're readin' things that ain't so."

The Genuine

"Do you believe everything you hear?"
"No," said Senator Sorghum. "As I sit before the radio only the tap dancers and the jazz bands seem positively genuine."

Energetic Appeal

"The violent language you use is no argument," said young Mr. Noah Heep.
"No," replied Uncle Rasberry. "Hittin' a mule wif a fence rail ain' no argument, nuther, but it gits action."

SOMETHING WRONG

Dad had been ill for several weeks but was still keenly interested in the way the farm work was being carried on.

"Dave," he said, "'ow are th' cows goin'?"
"Not too bad," Dave vouchsafed "Gettin' about ten gallons a day."
"Ain't so bad," dad agreed, "'ow much skimmilk are we sellin'?"
"Nine gallons a day, dad."
"How much cream?"
"Three gallons and a bit, dad."

The man in the bed did a bit of complicated mental addition. Then his smile vanished. "Wot th' 'ell are you doin' with the rest?" he demanded.—Smith's Weekly.

NEWFOLDEN MAN IS CHARGED WITH AUTO THEFT HERE

Herman Schenke Wrecks Car; Bound Over to District Court

Charged with taking a 1929 model Ford car from the Lund & Tunberg parking lot Monday night and then wrecking the vehicle in the ditch west of the fair grounds, Herman Schenke of the Newfolden community was picked up by police at the Soo Line depot at 2 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Schenke waived examination Wednesday morning when brought before Judge Lincoln Arnold in municipal court, and he was bound over to district court, his bond fixed at $1,000. Authorities suspect him of having been involved in some Marshall county thefts.

Burglars Saturday night entered the Stone-Ordean-Wells office in the Kern Olson building after having broken a window, and left after obtaining only forty cents in cash. The same party that night also entered the Larsen company office after breaking a window, and took $2.68 in cash from the till. The police are working on meager clues obtained on the premises.

Legion Post Sponsors Magic Entertainer at Auditorium Tonight

Under the sponsorship of the local American Legion post, Mel-Roy, widely known magician, and his company of five assistants, will perform a variety of mystifying tricks at the Auditorium this evening. Perhaps his most spectacular feat will be to allow himself to be nailed up in a large and strongly made wooden box and then make his escape unassisted. The box has been on display during the past week at the Times office. Net proceeds of the entertainment will be devoted to the support of the junior baseball program being carried out by the Legion post under the supervision of George Lee, high school athletic coach.

Mr. Novak was born at Highlanding, Wisc. in 1871 and moved several times before he was married to Elizabeth Tucker. They lived in Red Lake Falls from 1911 until 1914 when they made their home on a farm north of Red Lake Falls. Surviving his death are two brothers George and John of Charles City, Iowa; and his sisters, Mrs. Josephine Lucas of Logan, Kansas, Mrs. Adolph Cobb of Wisconsin, Mrs. Margaret Leeper of Arkansas, and Mrs. Emil Racek of Charles City, Iowa. His parents and two brothers and three sisters preceded him in death. R. L. Novak of Red Lake Falls and Mrs. H. Holmes and Mrs. R. B. Swadburgh are the children surviving.

MORE BOYS ASKED TO ENTER JUNIOR BASEBALL LEAGUE

Thirty Candidates Are Now Trying Out, Coach Lee Says

The junior baseball program is well under way in Thief River Falls under the sponsorship of the local American Legion post, and with George Lee, high school athletic instructor, serving as coach.

Mr. Lee announced today that thirty boys are now working out, and that additional young players are invited to attend the practice sessions. The only restriction, he said, is that the boys must not have reached their seventeenth birthday before April 1, 1936.

The Legion post is providing suits, bats and catching equipment, and it is planned to have one regular team to play other towns, as well as several additional teams to keep up interest in the sport. The players are now practicing in two squads, and more will be formed as conditions warrant. Prospective players are invited to consult Mr. Lee for the practice schedule.

But we would like to say this: If you expect to hold your bonds, by all means do so. However, if you are thinking of buying other bonds or stocks, be sure you buy good dependable bonds and stocks.

If you intend to buy an automobile—a radio—a refrigerator—or furniture—be sure to buy names that are dependable, names that have gone "through the wars" and have earned a year-after-year reputation for quality, dependability and value-giving.

If you are going to buy clothing, be sure you buy from a dependable store, one that handles dependable merchandise. And we take pride in inviting you to visit our store where you will find trade names that, through many years of merchandising, have gained recognition as the leaders in their respective fields.

Income Tax Is a Real Replacement Tax, Says State School Official

"The Income Tax is a school Tax" asserted Elgar E. Sharp, Attorney of Moorhead and president of the Minnesota School Board Association, in a radio talk Monday evening, May 25, over WCCO on the Minnesota Education Association's North Star School program.

Mr. Sharp predicated that the income tax will increase from year to year and may be expected to further relieve the tax burden on the local school district. He pointed out that the first distribution of the income tax funds for the year 1933 gave each school district $5.00 per pupil between the ages of eight and sixteen; the 1934 income tax furnished $7.50 per pupil, and that the 1935 funds will probably afford a distribution of $8.60 per pupil to each school.

In answer to queries made by Supt. S. G. Reinertsen, Moorhead, Mr. Sharp stated that the monies thus recieved by the school districts must be used first to pay up any bonded or other indebtedness and that when districts have no such debts, the money may be used to pay current expenses and to reduce and replace levies on real and personal property.

MERCURY SLUMPS TO NEAR FREEZING MARK THIS WEEK

Tuesday Morning Reading Is Reported at 24; 33 at Crookston

After dropping of the mercury to the vicinity of the freezing mark early this week, temperatures today give promise of returning to more normal figures. Fred Prots, local observer, reported that his recording thermometer showed a low mark for the week Tuesday morning of 24 above, but this figure did not coincide with reports from Crookston that morning of 33 above, with 34 at Argyle. No damage from frost was reported locally.

Perhaps one of the most worried men in the county this week was Mike Antonoff, farming eight miles southeast of the city on the angle road, who recently set out 2,300 tomato plants, and who lit smudges to help keep the frost away. His plants escaped injury, he reported Wednesday.

Ideal weather prevailed over the Memorial day week-end and a large part of the local population took advantage of the double holiday to make trips to various points.

U. S. GOVERNMENT SEEKS TO BORROW 2 MORE BILLIONS

Part of New Funds Will be Used for Paying Bonus to Veterans

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau appealed to the American public Sunday for the largest peacetime loan in the history of the nation—$2,050,754,400.

He asked for $600,000,000 secured by 15-18 year bonds bearing interest at the rate of 2¾ per cent and $400,000,000 on five-year notes bearing 1⅜ per cent interest.

At the same time he offered either of these securities in exchange for $686,616,400 of 1½ per cent notes maturing June 15, and for $354,138,000 of 2⅛ per cent notes maturing next August 1. Both new securities will be dated June 15.

The amount of the new loan over and above the amount of maturing securities—$1,000,000,000—constitutes additional cash, and will swell the public debt to $32,643,000,000.

Added to the present cash balance of $2,389,000,000, the new cash, together with incoming revenues, is expected to meet all governmental expenditures, including the forthcoming bonus payments and tide the treasury over until the next financing period September 15.

200 TURKEYS FREED FROM JAIL AFTER REPLEVIN CASE

Rochester.—Two hundred and twenty-nine turkey hens and gobblers that have been in "jail" the past month are going home to roost. By an order filed by District Judge Vernon Gates, the birds are to be returned to E. H. Willmus, turkey rancher near Rochester, from whom they were taken into custody a month ago by Sheriff G. R. Gelatt under a replevin action brought by a seed store. The replevin action was instituted to collect for feed supplied the turkeys which feed bill Willmus was alleged not to have paid in December as provided for in a chattel mortgage which the feed company held against the birds. Willmus argued a verbal agreement with the feed company early this year that superceded the written contract, but in the meantime the sheriff took the birds into custody. Pending a decision in the case, Sheriff Gelatt having no suitable jail accommodations for his charges, and "boarded them out" on a farm with which the feed company had made the necessary arrangements.

Minnesota Ranks High Among Sister States

Though ranking eighteenth among the states in total population and eleventh in land area, Minnesota holds seventh place in the value of its land, sixth in estimated gross income from farm production, and ranks first in the production of two of the nation's most important commodities—butter and iron ore. These are facts gleaned by Dr. R. W. Murchie, head of rural sociology at University Farm, from the 1933 statistical abstract of the United States.

Minnesota's reputation for farm cooperation is upheld in figures showing that the state ranked first in number of farms reporting cooperative selling, 95,639 in 1929, in farms reporting cooperative buying, 39,561 in 1929, and in membership in farmers' business organizations, 209,580 in 1931. The state ranked second in value of farm products sold by cooperatives, $105,966,000 in 1929, being topped only by California. In surfaced rural roads, the state ranked third, with 37,217 miles in 1930. Fourth place was held by Minnesota in potato production, with 22,608,000 bushels, and in value of livestock, $301,263,000.

Capitol News Review

By A. I. Harris

Attorney General Harry H. Peterson will be the principal speaker on June 6 at a conference in Akron, Ohio, held to launch a Farmer-Labor party in that state. The conference is sponsored by the state central labor union of Summit county, Ohio.

Mr. Peterson will trace for the conference a history of the Minnesota Farmer-Labor party and explain its principals and program. The Ohio group asked that a representative of the Minnesota Farmer-Labor association make the principal talk.

The conference will be attended by representatives of workers' and farmers' groups.

In order to improve the efficiency of the Minnesota bureau of criminal apprehension, Melvin Passolt, bureau chief, has announced completion of a plan under which the state is divided into districts, with an operator in charge of each district. O. G. Lee is in charge of the first district, with headquarters at Worthington; Ed Jensen of the second district, with headquarters at Albert Lea; John Burns of the third district, with headquarters at Willmar; Max Reines with headquarters at Fergus Falls, and Clicord Leary of the fifth district, with headquarters at Brainerd.

The bureau radio station at Redwood Falls, Mr. Passolt said, has been of tremendous aid to peace officers of the state in the apprehension of criminals. To date the station has sent out 5,771 calls, which have resulted in a large number of arrests. Complete cooperation with the peace officers of every county has been asked.

Thirteen additional regional fire schools will be held this summer, which virtually completes the 1936 program, according to an announcement made by Dewey W. Johnson, chief fire marshal. These schools, which are for the purpose of giving training to volunteer firemen, will be held at Alden, June 3; Keewatin, June 5 and 6; St. Cloud, June 14; Willmar, June 21; Crookston, June 28; Breckenridge, June 12; Little Falls, June 19; Excelsior, June 26; the State School, August 10 to 14, incl.; Moorhead, Sept. 6 and 7; New Ulm, Sept. 13; Bemidji, Sept. 20; Rush City, date undecided.

"The State Fire Marshal Department," Mr. Johnson said "will give eight hours of training to at least 3,500 volunteer firemen this year in addition to the State School at which an attendance of 500 is expected for a 5-day course in modern firemanship. These schools are jointly sponsored by the State Fire Marshal Department, which department furnishes the instructors and arranges the program, and newly formed regional associations in the various parts of the state."

Schools this year have been held at Roseau, International Falls, Sauk Center, Crosby and Sandstone.

The threat of Fascist dictatorship plotting in Minnesota was revealed last week with the disclosure in St. Paul that the terroristic Black Legion, for which some of its leaders claim a membership of six million throughout the country, is soliciting membership in this state.

Widespread activities of the organization were brought to light with the cold-blooded murder of a young Detroit WPA worker. A member of the Black Legion has confessed that he fired the shots that riddled the body of the victim as he knelt before a gang of the Legion vigilantes, some of whom have confessed, according to the prosecuting attorney at Detroit, that the young worker, Charles A. Poole, was shot because he "knew too much."

Reactionary political implications of the Fascistic organization were emphasized by evidence given to the prosecutor to the effect that the meeting at which Poole's abduction was planned was held at the quarters of the Wolverine Republican League.

Members of the Legion questioned by the authorities have admitted that the hooded vigilantes aimed at suppression of liberals and labor organizations and that the ultimate goal was to seize control of the government and establish a dictatorship. Crimes by Black Legion gangsters in more than 15 states have been reported to investigators.

Resolutions asking congressional investigations of the Fascistic plot have been introduced by Senator Elmer A. Benson, (F.-L., Minn.) and Congressman Samuel Dickstein (Dem., N. Y.)

TWO "RINGS" IN TELEPHONE BOX; ONE WORTH MONEY!

Morton.—A new place for the storage vault of the family jewels was discovered in Morton last week when changes in installation were made by the telephone company. Installer Patrick O'Donovan had been sent to a house to change the telephone because of a change in service. Leaving the house, he tossed the old bell box into his truck. Later that evening, he was summoned to headquarters where he was asked to go through his truck and locate the particular box. This he did, and upon opening it, out fell a diamond ring. It seems the subscriber, fearful of burglars, had been using the bell box as a safe depository for the family jewels. She is not likely to do so again.

Mountain Lake.—Two young men were burned near Mountain Lake recently, both by loosening the radiator cap of a hot tractor, both working on different farms, but only an hour's time separated the two accidents. Jesse Jacobsen, who was driving the tractor at the Fritz Radke home, took the radiator cap off and the steam burned his face, hands and chest. An hour later, while Elmer Fischer was working, he also loosened the radiator cap and results were burns on his hands and arms. Both men experienced a good deal of pain but are recovering nicely with no permanent ill effects.

"252 miles to the gallon is how I figure it with Red Crown"
...crows Lester Longbow

Mr. Lester Longbow, a prominent resident of Dozen Forks, R. R. 6, is known throughout the state for his untiring efforts in behalf of the Tall Stories Club.

"YA see, I was to be speaker o' the evening at the annual Grange dinner over to Dozen Forks. I got all tidied up, sorta late, and then found the dratted car was out o' gas — and Dozen Forks all o' four miles away.

"Well, my wife had an idea. 'Way ti I get that little bottle o' gas I got from the Standard Oil Station to fill the can with,' says she.

"I lowed as how it was foolish, but we'd try it. So she brought out a little 2-ounce bottle and we dumped the Standard Red Crown it held into the gas tank. I started off, figuring mebbe I'd make a hundred rod.

"But I got past the next farm—and the next—'n 'fore I knew it there I was in front o' the Grange with the motor still runnin'. Figure it out for yourself,...four miles worth o' distance on two ounces o' Red Crown. That's 252 miles to the gallon. That's mileage, mister! . . . Eh? . . . Sure, the whole Grange is using Red Crown now."

We think Standard Red Crown is good, too, but we refuse to be taken in by Lester's vivid report. It's not THAT good.

With "more live power per gallon," Standard Red Crown operates with less waste power per gallon. With it you can be sure of at least mileage per gallon as with any regular-priced gasoline you can buy—if not longer. But rather than make claims, Standard prefers to make it easy for motorists to find out the real facts about gasoline mileage for themselves.

Mrs. Nelson was sterilizing fruit jars by placing them in a pressure cooker. HUSBAND FORGIVES, WIFE IS PARDONED

Waseca.—A new high in marital forgiveness was set last week when the State Pardon board commuted a woman's sentence for conspiracy to murder her husband on the plea of that same husband. The woman is Mrs. Lena Schulte, 54 years old of Mankato, who is serving what was a sentence of five to ten years in the woman's reformatory at Shakopee for first degree assault. The board commuted her sentence to 21 years and she was released June 4. Mrs. Schulte pleaded guilty to conspiring with Carl Ballard, hired man on the Schulte farm, to murder her husband. Ballard actually fired two charges from a double-barreled shotgun which wounded Schulte on Nov. 24, 1933. Schulte has visited his wife frequently in the reformatory and attendants reported they appeared "affectionate." He appeared before the Pardon Board on her behalf, asserting he was ready to take her back into his home. Ballard, who also pleaded guilty, is serving a five to ten year sentence at Stillwater.

Tall Tales

As told to: FRANK E. HAGAN — ELMO SCOTT WATSON

Tremendous Turnip

THINGS are done in a big way, down in the Ozarks.

That's what Leo H. Mitchell learned on his journey to the cabin of the hospitable mountaineer.

"I cleared four square acres here when I moved in, built this cabin and an eight-foot fence from the timber," the mountaineer told him. "Then I planted the land to corn that wouldn't grow. Next I tried a field of turnips. The only turnip that came up was exactly in the center of my cleared ground, but the growing it did, more'n made up for the failure of the rest of the crop.

"That turnip grew and grew and nothing would stop it. I just wish those turnips that didn't come up could have seen it. My, but they'd been ashamed.

"Well sir, before I could harvest that lusty vegetable it got so big it pushed down my eight-foot fence on all four sides."

On his return home, Mitch stopped again at the cabin. And he was questioned by the mountaineer.

"What's going on in the city?" asked that worthy. "Any manufacturing?"

"Yes," answered Mitch, "where I went they are building the largest kettle ever known. It's 440 feet across and 70 feet high."

"What in tarnation will they use it for?" asked the Ozarkian.

"They'll cook your turnip in it," replied Mitchell.

HUSBAND, WIFE IN TWO CARS, CRASH HEAD-ON

Forest Lake.—It happens once in a blue moon, and a dark blue one at that! The other day two cars crashed head on at Hugo, near Forest Lake, and after the accident it was discovered that one of the cars was being driven by the wife of one of the occupants of the second car. In one of the cars was Herman Zeiger, who was carrying A. Stolp as a passenger. Mrs. Zeigler was driving the other car, with Mrs. Max Tassler as a passenger, and was the only one who escaped serious injuries and emerged with only a severe shaking-up. Stolp had 13 stitches taken in his forhead, Zeigler had his leg painfully injured and possible internal injuries, and Mrs. Tassler was injured about the legs.

Plummer School Notes

The school year closed formally with the commencement exercises on Friday evening. Twenty-two seniors were awarded their diplomas. The salutatory delivered by Estelle Laniel of Brooks compared life to a hard mountain climb. It brought out the fact that only those who keep on to the end are rewarded by making a success of it. The valedictory stressed the fact that man has only just begun to progress and that there is an indefinite amount still left to do to make this world the place it ought to be. It further stated that the graduating class hopes to have some part in realizing all this.

The principal speaker of the evening was Dr. Breitweiser of the University of North Dakota. He continued along the same lines and impressed very forcibly upon the people of the community that America's civilization can only endure and progress if its citizens all over the land are educated to face and help solve its problems.

The class was presented to N. J. Fallon by Supt Ripple. Mr. Fallon awarded the diplomas. The music for the evening was in charge of Miss Swenseid. She accompanied the senior girls who sang and also played the Processional and recessional. The campfire girls held their first ceremonial meeting this week. The newly arrived charter was displayed and the first nature projects presented by those who had already completed them. Several were awarded their first nature beads. Miss Pauline Shoenauer is assuming the guardianship of the group. Many interesting meetings are being planned for the summer.

The camp for the boy scouts has been moved ahead to close the thirteenth. Mr. Ohnstad, the scoutmaster, has called this to the attention of all scouts.

Monday, June 1, the sophomore class and the 7th and 8th grades are going on a traveling educational tour. The tour embraces visits to 16 places of interest and necessitates 200 miles of travel.

CAR TIRE HURLS STONE THRU DISPLAY GLASS

Willmar.—Traveling with the speed of a bullet, a stone about half an inch in diameter was picked up by the tire of an automobile and sent through a flower shop show window in Willmar the other day. The automobile, traveling north, tossed the stone as it was making a left hand turn. The stone struck the display window about two inches from the bottom, driving a clean hole through the glass considerably surprising the proprietor.

Most of the breaks have been repaired with only minor inconvenience to water users.

PRIMARY VOTE SCHEDULED FOR NEXT MONDAY

Keen Competition in Three Parties Makes Contest Interesting

TWO DISTRICTS HAVE COMMISSIONER RACE

Elimination Is Unnecessary in Many of the Offices

With the primary election scheduled for next Monday, candidates for the various offices are bringing their campaigning to a close this week-end. Limited competition has made the elimination election unnecessary for many offices, which means that ballots are shorter this year than usual, but keen rivalry for important offices on all ballots is stimulating interest in the election.

Absent voter ballots for those who will not be at home Monday are available at the office of county auditor A. M. Senstad. Polls will be open from 6:30 o'clock a. m. to 8:00 o'clock p. m. in the city precincts and from 9:00 o'clock a. m. to 9:00 o'clock p. m. in the rural precincts.

Voters who choose the Democratic ballot will be able to make the most marks on Monday, there being eight offices on the ballot to be voted on. Only five offices have primary contests on the Republican ticket while the number is down to four on the Farmer Labor ticket. Only two candidates for commissioner in the fifth district make the primary fight unnecessary in that field. This is also true of the county Judge of Probate office, and for Clerk of Court Adolph Eklund is without opposition.

Candidates for representative in this district are Ed. C. Baumann, W. E. Day, George P. Jones, J. O. Melby, Andie Peterson and Marius Waldal, Melby and Waldal seeking re-election. Opposing O. O. Lee for commissioner in the first district are J. V. Hoffman, A. H. Mandt, Chris Norbeck, Ole A. Olson, and Frank Race. In the third district Paul Roy, present commissioner, is opposed by Gordon Olson, John Scholin and Ole Fkaar.

Water Polo Battle Red Lake vs. Thief River Fire Dept. Sunday at 1:45

The local Junior Civic and Commerce team will meet the Red Lake Falls baseball team for the second time and for the third game in the Northern Minny league Sunday at 3 p. m.

Before game time the Thief River Fire Department will engage in a water polo battle with the Red Lake Falls Fire Department on LaBree avenue between Third and Fourth streets. It has been some time since local residents have had a chance to witness a water polo fight. The object of the fight is to force a barrel with a stream of water from the middle of the block, into the opponents territory, and over a fixed goal at that end. A purse of $5.00 will be awarded by the Junior Civic and Commerce of this city to the winner.

Shortly after the water polo fight the two rival teams will start their second baseball game of the year. Thief River Falls won the first game by a score of 6-5. Meat Imports Increase While Exports Decline

How other nations must be chuckling over the good market we have opened to them this year, says the Livestock Market Digest issued by the Central Co-operative Association, farmer-owned livestock selling agency of South St. Paul. Imports of foreign meats into this country are rapidly increasing and exports are dropping to almost record low levels.

During the first three months this year, imports of beef and veal amounted to 24,429,000 pounds compared with 18,257,000 pounds for the same period last year. Annual imports of beef and veal prior to 1914 averaged less than 500,000 pounds, or about 125,000 pounds for a three-month period.

Pork imports during the first three months this year totaled 7,132,000 pounds compared with 1,168,000 pounds a year ago. In pre-war years, the annual importations of pork amounted to around 500,000 pounds, or about 125,000 pounds per quarter.

Exports of beef and veal during the first three months this year were 2,733,000 pounds contrasted to annual exports amounting to around 300,000,000 pounds or about 160,000,000 pounds for a three month period. Exports of pork during the same period were 13,203,000 pounds. Prior to the World War, average annual exportations of pork amounted to from 580,000,000 to [illegible] pounds. This is equivalent to about 150,000,000 pounds per quarter.

Growing With Your Child

The Adolescent's Questions

"Don't you think children grow up earlier nowadays than they used to?"

Puzzled by the swiftness with which our babies turn into sophisticated young people, we parents today often ask each other this question. We are uncertain whether our own memories are at fault, or whether it is true that the changed conditions under which our children are growing do have a momentous influence in hastening the oncoming stages of the child experience. Bewildered as we are, it is difficult indeed to take a tolerant and understanding attitude toward the efforts that adolescents are making to find their place in the world.

Many parents are hesitant about trying to discuss with their children the problems these youths may have, because they feel the world in which their children are growing up is such a different one from that which they as adolescents confronted. It is suggested that parents and adolescents too will find the following books and pamphlets of considerable interest.

Growing Up in the World Today, E. Clapp. Mass. Society for Social Hygiene, Boston. 20 cents. A sane, simple interpretation of the facts every older child should know about reproduction.

How Life Goes on, Dr. Thurman B. Rice. 5 pamphlets $1.00. American Medical Association, Dearborn Street, Chicago, Ill.

Straightforward, honest answers to questions about matters of sex.

Understanding the Adolescent Girl, G. L. Elliott. Henry Holt. 1930.

Growing Into Manhood, Roy E. Dickerson, Association Press. $1.00.

So Youth May Know, Roy E. Dickerson. Association Press. $2.00. Ideals, without sentimentality.

New Careers for Youth, Walter B. Pitkin.

She Strives to Conquer, Frances Maule (for the girl entering business).

This Happened to Me, Helen Ferris. Life stories of real people who met problems bravely.

The Sex Life of Youth, Elliott & Bone. Association Press. $1.00. Young people themselves formulated the ideas set down here.

The Technique of Good Manners, Mary P. Barker.

Good Manners for Young Women, Mary P. Barker.

Eighteen, Caroline Miller. Refreshing, sensible and extremely readable.

TAKEN TO JAIL ON OWN SEARCH WARRANT

Little Falls.—A joke can be carried too far—in fact it landed one Little Falls woman in the sheriff's office the other day. Living in a two family house, she missed a couple of small rugs, and it is not surprising that she looked askance at her neighbor. Suspicion piled on suspicion, and she finally got out a search warrant. The rugs were not found in the neighbor's apartment, but they were found in the lady's own rooms, where a member of the family had hidden them under a bureau. But the search warrant specifically stated that in case of disclosure, the articles and the person possessing them must be seized, taken to the sheriff's office, and proper disposition made of the case. So the Mrs. and her rugs were hustled off to court on the basis of her own search warrant! The case was "settled" without difficulty.

VOTE MONDAY

On Monday the voters of Minnesota will go to the polls and decide who the candidates for various state and local offices will be in the final election next November. A small ballot will contain the names of candidates for offices to be filled without party designation. On a larger ballot will be the names of the candidates by parties for the state offices to be filled by party designation. In marking this larger ballot voters must confine themselves to one party.

About the only fight on the Farmer-Labor ticket that is attracting attention is the scrap between Elmer Benson and Magnus Johnson for the governorship nomination. With the backing of the party organization Benson is generally expected to win but there are many who think Johnson has a chance. The fact that he is a veteran campaigner and has many personal contacts thruout the state is in his favor.

That the Republicans will nominate Theodore Christianson and Martin Nelson for Senator and Governor respectively is generally conceded. Arthur Nelson, former St. Paul mayor, has proven himself a good vote getter in former campaigns and should prove a strong contender for the lieutenant governorship. For the attorney generalship the argument seems to be between Venneberg and Youngdahl with campaign experience in favor of Youngdahl. For Congress the veteran Ole Sageng must fight it out with two younger men from his own end of the district, Elmer Haugen and C. J. Wittbecker, both well acquainted thruout the district. Haugen is a nephew of Congressman Haugen of McNary-Haugen bill fame.

The Democratic party ticket is a column of names interesting to Democrats only. It is a fight for patronage control between two party factions. The Joe Wolf faction, consisting of those who have already received federal appointments, is openly allied with Governor Olson and will help him keep control of the state's political plums in exchange for his support of Roosevelt. The other faction of the party may have less selfish motives. At any rate the Democratic primary has only an indirect relation to Minnesota state politics.

For the information of those who wish to support the present associate justices of the Supreme Court seeking re-election, their names are Andrew Holt and Royal A. Stone.

Bringing the election down to the local field, voters will have no difficulty in recognizing the candidates. With the exception of Andie Peterson, all of the candidates for representative are veterans of previous campaigns and need no introduction. Peterson is from Bagley where he is well thought of. Those who know him expect him to make a good run. In the two commissioner districts in which there is a primary fight the neighbors will have no difficulty in making their selections.

WHY THE BANKS BUY GOVERNMENT BONDS

Another billion dollar United States bond offering was oversubscribed six and a half times last week. Several reasons will be advanced in explanation of the ease with which the government is able to raise such a huge sum of money at such low interest rates. Administration spokesmen will say it is because of the government's good credit. Economists, however, tell us it is because banks are loaded down with too much idle cash and bankers invest their funds in government securities for the simple reason that government securities, federal, state and local, are the only investments open to them. Economists look upon this as an unhealthy condition because it indicates that private individuals and corporations are not using their credit. Some maintain that this condition of stagnation in the private capital market is the result of lack of confidence in and fear of the policies of the present administration. And such explanations are not unreasonable. The present administration has not only failed to encourage private enterprise but on the contrary has created such a condition of uncertainty in every field of human activity that everyone is more or less bewildered. Under normal business conditions it takes a stout heart to face the ordinary hazzards of commerce. When to these ordinary hazzards are added an unstable political condition, constantly shifting government policies, a monetary system that is the plaything of an individual and a tariff revision program that at the behest of one man may change the operating conditions of an industry over night, it really isn't to be wondered at if American business is marking time, postponing any new long-term credit obligations until the policies of the government itself become stabilized.

Another unpopular decision was handed down by the Supreme Court recently when five of the judges ruled that the states do not have the right to establish minimum wage schedules because such schedules would violate the constitutionally guaranteed right of freedom of contract. But while the decision was unpopular, perhaps it was right according to the Constitution. Those who framed the Constitution thought a lot of individual rights. They had paid a high price for liberty and in framing the Constitution they sought to protect future generations from such unbearable government as had been inflicted upon them. It is possible that in guaranteeing some of these individual liberties they went a little too far and that present conditions justify a few modifications in the fundamental laws which they established. If that is the case, then the American people have the right to make the necessary adjustments to the Constitution. But whatever changes are made must, and should be, made by the people as the Constitution itself provides, and not by a court through liberal interpretations or by a Congress or by a President.

Highway patrolmen tell us they are going to conduct headlight and brake tests here in the near future and judging from the many complaints we have heard lately about blinding headlights on the highways, such tests are very necessary. For their own safety, as well as for the safety of others, all motor vehicle drivers should cooperate wholeheartedly in this effort to reduce highway hazzards.

With a dozen new homes already under construction and another five or six to be started within the next few weeks, it is not unreasonable to expect a total of between twenty and thirty new dwellings to be built in the city this year. Twenty certainly is a very conservative estimate. Which means that 1936 will be a record year for home construction in the city—a record at least for the past thirty years.

TWO KINDS OF DEBTS

(Sleepy Eye Herald-Dispatch)

President Roosevelt has said, and rightly, that piling up of debt is not the worst thing that could happen to this country, that leaving our children with a heritage of debt is not so bad as leaving them without a country. He is right.

Debt in itself is no disgrace, nor is it an insurmountable difficulty for this or coming generations. Investments—good ones—are the means of plunging individuals into debt. The farmer who buys a farm usually goes into debt, most home owners make use of credit—and usually everything comes out all right.

But there is a difference between the type of debts described above and the kind into which our federal government is plunging. The man who buys a farm, home or business goes into the venture with high hope and with the resolve to pay up his indebtedness as soon as possible. Efforts are redoubled to work his way out. He knows that it is up to himself and himself only. With that kind of courage debt is no handicap.

The difficulty with our mounting national debt is that it is being accumulated without plan or reason. Money is being given outright to counties, cities and other units of government. Still more billions are being loaned them. Recipients are making no plans to pay back, they are hoping, like Mr. Micawber, that "something will turn up" so they will never have to pay—and their hope isn't without reason. States, counties and cities are beginning to look to the federal government as a veritable Santa Claus. They have quit trying to solve their own problems. Shrugging the shoulders to simulate despair, local officers say "We have come to the end of our resources, we must send a governor, a congressman or a senator to Washington for help. And off he goes. State vies with state, city with city, county with county, to see which can get most.

PAROLE SYSTEM AT STAKE

(Murray County Herald)

J. Edgar Hoover has stirred up a lot of discussion by his declaration that every G-man thus far assassinated has met his fate at the hands of a paroled prisoner. He has been accused of unjustly attacking the parole system by such a statement. Inasmuch as he told the truth it is difficult to see why he should be castigated. Of course such a statement is apt to create some prejudice against the parole system,—a system which is needed. But the real effect of Hoover's statement should be a desire to make parole what it was intended to be, and to correct its terrible abuses. In a recent murder case in New York, the defense argued that the defendant should not be punished because he was turned loose against the urgent advice of a prison physician, who claimed he was unfit to be at large. No one objects to men being given a chance to redeem their mistakes. But when gangsters with records of vicious selfish crime are turned loose through political influence, it is time to call a halt. Professional crooks seldom change their ways. We have cases by the thousands of such men being turned loose and committing new crimes within a week of their release. The resentment caused by such folly and crookedness makes it difficult for the deserving to be at large. No one should be paroled until his case has been studied and passed upon by experts. There should be independent boards of physicians and criminologists to advise for or against paroles. As it is, boards made up of men who are candidates for office are influenced by political considerations to grant paroles to those who can muster influencial friends to argue in their behalf. A halt must be called. The public is fed up on this folly of turning dangerous murderers loose without regard for the welfare of the innocent.

NOT THE ROAD TO HAPPINESS

(Long Prairie Leader)

The general trend of social demands today as urged by politicians is for that condition of life in which no one under the age of 16 can engage in useful work and all those over the age of 60 cease work in which they are engaged and retire on a pension.

Sounds well but might not make everybody as happy as prophesied. Richard T. Ely of Wisconsin University, well known economist and famous as a liberal, evidently cannot stomach this trend which goes even too far for him. In a recent comment he says:

> We hear a great deal in these days about pensions, and they play a large role in the social security program of our Federal Government. But a society in which the young people up to sixteen years of age are excluded from useful toil, and all over sixty are to lose their jobs and live on pensions, I do not contemplate as an earthly paradise, but rather as a society that suggests hell and not heaven.

There is food thought in what Professor Ely says. The idea that work is some kind of a curse and the youth of the nation ought not to be taught to labor comes to fruit in a proposed amendment to the federal constitution which would give to congress the power to forbid any person 18 years of age or less to engage in gainful work. What next?

IT WOULD BE HELPFUL IF—

(Long Prairie Leader)

L. P. Zimmerman, state relief administrator, said Saturday it would be helpful if the politicians learned that there are more votes in insisting on common sense handling of public relief than there are in promising liberal and more liberal rules. In other words, the state administrator believes that the relief load has small possibility of reduction if the politicians can cater to the relief vote by extravagant promises and trust to the indifference of the tax paying citizenship to enable them to get away with it. There is a good deal in what the state administrator says.

Good Advice Is Worth Money

I engaged T. M. Herberg and Sons of Gonvick to dig a well on my farm in Hickory township, Pennington County.

Not enough water was found until at a depth of about 296 feet but at about that time they got into some glittering mineral substance, which came up in the water like fish scales and clogged pipes and all kinds of screens that they used. So they continued going down as this vein or layer was about 15 feet in depth. This layer was oily and the water which came up was dirty and black streaks would form on top of the water. When we first got into this mineral we sent a sample to Dreng Bjornaraa for him to take to the right person at the University of Minnesota to have the substance analyzed. It happened that Mr. Bjornaraa was in the East at the time, but his wife was kind enough to take it to Dr. Stauffer and sent us a report in a few days. It read, "The glittering substance is mica and of no value, hardly any water is to be found under such a substance."

When Herberg Bros. heard the report they decided to pull the pipes up to a few feet above the mica and by so doing they found plenty of water and probably saved me some hundreds of dollars. For the good advice obtained I feel indebted to the Bjornaraas and Dr. Stauffer.

News and Comment

By R. W. Hitchcock

The Minnesota permanent school fund is being enriched right now at the rate of about $12,800 per day. Over a million tons of iron ore have been shipped from state-owned mines already this year and the permanent school fund has thereby been increased more than a quarter of a million dollars.

Seventy-five years ago Governor Alexander Ramsey, in one of the most important state papers in Minnesota's history, pointed out to the 1861 legislature the broad lines upon which permanent trust funds might be established in Minnesota. The legislature promptly acted upon Governor Ramsey's recommendations with the result that Minnesota today has the largest permanent school fund of any state in the Union, with the exception of Texas whose vast expanse of territory and great oil development have given it a slight lead over Minnesota.

Twenty-five years ago Samuel G. Iverson, then state auditor, in a noteworthy address, traced the fifty year development of Alexander Ramsey's plans, and in simple, direct language set out the history and the future possibilities of Minnesota's trust funds. At that time the Minnesota school fund had reached $21,000,000 and Sam G. Iverson, surveying the iron mines of the state, thought that the fund might in the following fifty years reach the enormous total of $200,000,000. Twenty-five years have passed since Iverson made this forecast and the Minnesota permanent school fund today is almost $64,000,000. The figure set by Iverson may never be reached; it seems certain that the $100,000,000 mark will be reached; the enormous deposits of low grade iron ore in Minnesota may yet make Sam Iverson's prediction good.

State Treasurer Julius A. Schmahl has compiled Sam Iverson's remarkable address on Minnesota's permanent trust funds in pamphlet form, has had 25,000 of them printed and is distributing them to the public school children of the state. At the conclusion of the pamphlet Mr. Schmahl gives the following summary of the condition of the state permanent funds as of May 16, 1936:

Permanent School Fund
Loans to the state and its subdivisions	$60,796,675.19
U. S. Liberty bonds	150,000.00
Bonds of other states	2,022,000.00
Cash on hand	184,176.56
	$63,152,851.75
Permanent University Fund
Loans to the state and its subdivisions	$6,596,922.39
Bonds of Minn. University	150,000.00
Cash on hand	33,891.89
	$6,780,814.28
Internal Improvement Land Fund
Loans to the state and its subdivisions	$ 238,320.00
Cash on hand	16,345.87
	$254,665.87
Swamp Land Fund
Loans to the state and its subdivisions	$9,275,711.48
Cash on hand	126,504.31
	$9,402,215.79
Grand total	$79,891,547.69

Additions made to these funds since May 16th now bring the total of all Minnesota trust funds to more than $80,000,000.

Herbs Used to Change Taste

Peppermint, pennyroyal and spearmint, among the species of the horticultural genus labiatae, are used extensively in medicine to cover the taste of drugs with their pungent, agreeable flavor. Peppermint is also a great favorite for candy flavoring.

SUMMER IS HERE, BUT CITY WATER MAIN FROZEN

Argyle.—Just as residents of Argyle had a hunch that summer might have arrived, their hopes were disillusioned when it was found that a water line was frozen up tight—late in May! Street Commissioner Lequs Carlson tested the hydrant at the city hall and when water could not be drawn he came to the conclusion that the shut-off valve was out of order. The hydrant was taken out and found to be in good order. Then a test was made of the pipe line from another hydrant and it was found that the dead end water main on which the "dry" hydrant was set was frozen up for it. Two hours work with the electric thawer was required to get the water running through the hydrant. The freeze-up came some time after the end of March, when the hydrant was last used, and recent warm weather [illegible] failed to thaw it.

SO. ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK

South St. Paul, Minn., June 8, 1936 (U.S.D.A.): Monday's hog trade was mostly steady to weak, bulk better 140-240 lbs. clearing at $9.65-9.95, a few choice light lights reaching $10.00, 240-310 lb. $9.20-9.75, packing sows $8.50-8.90, odd lots pigs $10.25-10.50.

Spring lambs were strong to 25c higher, these selling from $8.50-11.50 according to grade, good to choice yearling wethers $9.00-9.25, better grade slaughter ewes $2.50-4.25.

Cattle receipts were lighter than last Monday, and with a fairly broad demand for lighter-weight steers and yearlings these ruled largely steady with heavier-weights draggy and weak. Most lightweights turned at $7.00-7.75, medium to good long yearlings and mediumweight beeves $6.65-7.50. Heifers were steady to strong, medium to good yearlings cashing $6.25-7.50, some up to $7.85. Insect Sprays Create Modern Health Problem

Food poisoning from insect sprays on fruit and vegetables is a modern health problem that will not be solved, probably, until better and safer insecticides are invented.

In the meantime the Committee on Public Health Education of the Minnesota State Medical Association cautions today against eating sprayed fruit and vegetables without thorough washing.

Modern intensive cultivation of fruits and vegetables has made all kinds of fruit and vegetables available, in summertime especially, in every market. This intensive, scientific cultivation carries its penalties with it, however. With the increased production has come an increase in the insect enemies. Insecticides have become absolutely essential. Without them the fruits and vegetables would be wormy or utterly worthless.

The question of just how much arsenic and lead and fluorine can be used in these sprays without danger to human life and how often the sprays may be used is still not definitely determined, according to the bulletin. Neither is it definitely determined just how much chronic illness can be traced to residue of spray taken into the body over a period of time.

That the danger is real was agreed by public health officials who discussed the matter at the last meeting of the American Public Health Association.

The physicians believe that thorough washing will remove most of the spray residue from ordinary fruits and vegetables. They especially warn against eating any unwashed products, however, no matter how clean they may look.

U. Farm Leaflets On Cutworms and Ants

Numerous complaints about cutworms in gardens are being received at University Farm, St. Paul. Ants are also causing a lot of disturbance on lawns, in flower beds and even in houses. To aid gardeners and home owners in handling these pests, the agricultural extension division has a supply of leaflets describing simple methods of control.

Folder 52, by H. L. Parten, extension entomologist, deals with "Vegetable Garden Insects and Their Control." Besides a formula for cutworms, this leaflet tells how to handle cabbage maggots, cabbage worms, cucumber beetles, potato insects and corn ear worms.

"Ants and Their Control" is the subject of Folder 54, written by A. G. Ruggles, professor of entomology and state entomologist of Minnesota. This suggests poison bait formulas and several other methods of control with powders, sprays, oils, and similar preparations.

Copies of these leaflets may be obtained without charge from county extension offices, high school agriculture departments, or the Bulletin Office, University Farm, St. Paul.

CARL WENNBERG SCORES 230 POINTS TO BREAK RECORD

Thief River Rifle Club Opened Big-Bore Range on Sunday

The outdoor shooting season of the Thief River Rifle club opened Sunday with Carl Wennberg scoring 230 points in the Army Course D for qualification, breaking the club high record score for this course of fire made several years ago on the old range. Mr. Wennberg turned in a perfect prone score as did Alf. Berry. Herb Jung was the only one of the group shooting Sunday to turn in a perfect rapid fire prone score. Mr. Jung and Ed Johnstone were tied for second in the scoring at 224 and Leonard Hanson scored third with 22?.

HAIL BIG AS BASEBALLS STRIKES CLAY COUNTY

Moorhead.—Hailstones as big as baseballs fell in the area near Felton not far from Moorhead last week, wrecking windows in farm buildings, injuring livestock and causing considerable damage to crops. Edwin Horn, farmer, stated that many windows in his home were broken, and Herman Horn reported every window in his home was smashed by the large ice balls. L. C. Larson, a third farmer, stated that 35 panes were broken. Estimates varied as to the amount of damage done. The storm apparently traveled a narrow strip in a southwest-northwest direction, missing the village of Felton entirely, but striking at Kragnes, Glen and Georgetown.

Chief Stenberg Arrests Gypsy Women Who Robbed Local Farmer of $950.00

Two gypsy women were arrested Tuesday night at Lengby by Police Chief Stenberg for stealing $950 from the pockets of Anton Anderson a local farmer. The incident happened in Loken's Harness shop when the women came in and told Anderson that he was sick but that they could cure him. When the gypsy women left, all of Anderson's money went with them. The police were notified and a searching party including Christ Larson and Frank Hagan, Immigration agents stationed at Roseau, C. V. Whitchurch, Al Stenberg and Anton Anderson went to work immediately locating the band. Anderson picked the two women out of a group of thirty as the ones that did the work. Several other business men have identified the women as being the ones they saw around town.

The police request that as soon as a gypsy is seen around town that it is reported to the police.

This is the thirtieth year of the existence of the company and a picnic to be held at Cross lake in August will be announced by the committee in charge.

GOOD PHEASANT CROP PREDICTED

Minnesota sportsmen may look forward to an unusually fine crop of pheasants this year in the opinion of Frank Blair, superintendent of game propagation. Mr. Blair says that hatching conditions in the southern part of the state have been nearly perfect and that pheasants are due to stage a real comeback in 1936. The fact that hay is not yet ripe for cutting, Mr. Blair added, means that few nests will be destroyed by mowing machines.

A total of more than 8,000 pheasant eggs are now in incubation at the Madelia Game Farm, Mr. Blair said. Quail eggs are being hatched at the Blair Game Farm at Mound.

LEGS PARALYZED BY LIGHTNING SHOCK

Blooming Prairie.—Sharp lightning and the resultant crashing thunder of a storm caused residents of Blooming Prairie to jump nervously recently, but one bolt had the opposite effect on a brakeman near the C. M. & St. Paul railway depot. During one of the sharpest flashes, the lightning struck near the depot and the brakeman standing nearby had both legs partly paralyzed. Gradually he regained feeling in his limbs, stumbled around for a while and then the paralyzed condition left.

Red River Valley History

By Wm. F. Werking

Early Great Northern Lore

A few days ago the writer visited the general offices of the Great Northern Railway company in St. Paul and in the room of Mr. H. M. Sims, assistant executive, or, in other words, the assistant to President W. P. Kenney, found much interesting material. The fact that Mr. Sims' office is across the hall from that of Mr. Louis W. Hill, son of the Empire Builder and chairman of the board of directors, heightened the suggestion of romance.

"Oh yes," Mr. Sims said, "Our records show when the line was built to Thief River Falls" He gave us a large map showing the route and date.

Recently the writer has been delving into the earlier history of the Great Northern to clear up certain details that have been somewhat obscure. From Mr. Sims we learned the following facts:

"In February, 1864, the First Division of the St Paul and Pacific Railroad company was organized and succeeded to the completed road and rights, through an issuance of special stock, to construct the lines from St. Anthony to Sauk Rapids and to Breckenridge. These were completed, and in 1871, through an issuance of bonds and sale there of to parties in Holland, undertook for the St. Paul & Pacific railroad to construct the lines for St. Cloud to St. Vincent and to Brainerd. Large quantities of rails and fastenings for the track were imported from England These were of iron, weighing 50 pounds per linear yard, and went by lake from Buffalo to Duluth, the cost at the latter point being figured at $90 per ton.

"Construction proceeded with vigor until shortly after the financial collapse in 1872, when inability of the company further to pay estimates due to contractors enforced a complete shut-down. There had been partially constructed four miles of the extension toward Brainerd, 34 miles from East St. Cloud to Melrose, and from Barnesville north toward Crookston about 90 miles. Various stretches in other places had also in whole or in part been graded."

The main point of interest as new material, we believe is the shipment of rails and other materials for the road from England. We knew this, even that some of the rails and even locomotives came by way of the Red river, but the volume of these shipments is greater than the writer had assumed. It is interesting, too, to speculate on the fact that Hill was closely linked to the British railroad interests through his Ontario associations. Of course, since the first railroad in Minnesota was not laid until 1861 and there were no lines in the entire nation of any consequence until a few years before the beginning of the Civil war, the manufacture of rails was not much of an industry in America in the early 70's. Still, it is certain all the materials needed could have been obtained here if that step has been desired, but it is more likely that the British colleagues of the Empire Builder obtained the rails cheaply in their country through their financial associations.

Another matter of importance is that Dutch capital from Holland financed the first steps of the St. Paul & Pacific and the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba that succeeded it. Here is something else of interest learned from the assistant executive:

"Mr. Hill was more than a builder of railroads. Other sections of the west were settled from the ox cart. Mr. Hill's country was settled from the box cart. He laid his rails first, then labored tireless to create traffic for his trains. The success of his plans for rapid extension depended upon quick and sound colonization. He had to sell his country. It was up to him to make it make good after the settler moved in. Only in that way would more settlers come. So he started in showing the farmers how to improve their methods; he advocated diversification, and imported the first purebred stock. From the first he realized that the more cheaply he could haul their products to markets, the better their chances for success, and the better his chances for quick colonization.

"In these days of keen competition in transportation, which is very much in evidence here, it is interesting to study the history of the Great Northern and learn how the dreams and determination of one man were largely responsible for its development. Since this town is intimately linked to the Great Northern system this history has a local appeal. There is much that could be written about James J. Hill, much that would show him to the public as a man far more unselfishly interested in the welfare of the great northwest than most persons are inclined to believe.

"TOUGH GUY" ISO=VIS "D"
HAS YET TO MEET ANOTHER MOTOR OIL THAT CAN OUTLAST HIM!
Standard's premium-quality motor oil keeps your oil level UP and your oil costs DOWN

Endurance—that's the thing you notice first and foremost about this motor oil. No weakening under the punishment of long, steady summer-time driving. No wilting away in the face of searing engine heat.

And the reason is, Standard makes ISO=VIS "D" by a special process that removes those sludge-forming, carbon-forming impurities which cut down the resistance-to-wear of a motor oil.

Every drop of Iso=Vis "D" is clean ...smooth...all oil...long-lasting... plenty "tough"! In the long run it's an engine-saver and a money-saver.

ISO=VIS "D" IS THE LARGEST SELLING PREMIUM-QUALITY MOTOR OIL IN MIDDLE WEST
Only 25¢ a quart!
Plus Federal Tax 1¢ a qt.— total 26¢ a quart.

It's on sale wherever you see that familiar red-white-and-blue sign of Standard Service. A special chart at each station shows exactly what grade you should use in your car for the most economical safe driving.

It will pay you to let the Standard Dealer drain your old oil, flush out the crankcase, and start you out with a fresh filling of ISO=VIS "D". Then, so far as the oil itself is concerned, you wouldn't need to drain for an indefinite length of time. Iso=Vis "D" won't wear out.

But it isn't wear that hurts good motor oil—it's dirt! Road dust and other gritty foreign material gradually sifts into the best-protected engine. So, for safety, drain and change your motor oil every 1,000 miles.

CHECK YOUR CAR FOR SAFE DRIVING AND LUBRICATE EVERY 1,000 MILES!

THE ONLY SMALL THING ABOUT A BUICK

LOOK high and look low throughout this smart and spirited Buick SPECIAL, and you'll find only one thing about it that's anything but big.

It's big in its inches, length and breadth—big in the ample, stretch-out space it supplies to driver and passengers alike.

It's big in its power—it hasn't found a hill it couldn't easily master, or a driver it couldn't thrill by the fervor of its quick response, the smoothness of its stride.

It's big in the measure of its quality, seen and unseen—every nut and bolt and strut and part is eloquent testimony to Buick's insistence that the best alone will do.

It's big in the pleasure it can bring you—pleasure that comes from handling a sparkling and superior performer—pleasure that's yours from owning a car so obviously better than mere transportation requires.

It's big in the satisfactions it yields—from the smartness of its valid streamline style, from the surety of its comfort, and your knowledge that the family couldn't be safer in a car.

It's big in every way, until you reach for the tag that names the price—then you find that it's only a short step up from the lowest-priced field to the Buick of your dreams. $765* and up, list at Flint, the price tag on the Buick SPECIAL, Series 40, reads, and the terms are within anyone's reach.

W. C. T. U. News Notes

"We now proclaim to our country and to the world the intent of the Methodist Episcopal church to continue a relentless fight against the beverage liquor trade," were the ringing words that brought to their feet the applauding ministerial and lay delegates to the quadrennial general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, the first week of May. That Prohibition is "neither a lost cause nor a forlorn hope to the M. E. Church" was noted by the press in reporting the episcopal address of Bishop Edwin H. Hughes where he characterized as "colossal impudence" the bids of political leaders that the church cease to advocate Prohibition.

The address declared that reaction to the "excesses of repeal" was growing steadily in the nation, although "the forces of inebriety will not easily surrender their iniquitous profits."

Asserting that the "revised liquor trade has already outdone its former horrors," the address continued:

"On all sides the disasters increase. The figures of intoxication are enlarged; the institutions for the cure of alcoholism build extensions for the treatment of drunken women.

"Masculine shouting is accompanied in many cases by feminine shrieking; the temporary idiocy made by rum staggers along our streets.

"The records of automobile mishaps and fatalities lead the very journals that helped to reinstate the curse to carry on campaigns for the safety of our highways.

"Amid an amazing reaction that often suggested moral insanity we refuse to retreat from our historic position

"The liquor traffic is inherently immoral. Legalizing it did not change its character. We proclaim to our country and to the world our intent to continue a relentless fight against the beverage liquor trade."

After the first year of a child's life a common mistake is catering too much to his appetite. Variety is unnecessary and undesirable. Adults need variety; young children do not. Until the age of three or four, young children are better off if they do not eat at the family table; it is easier to satisfy them with plain, simple, well-cooked foods. Refusal to eat should be met by termination of the meal.

Capitol News Review

By A. I. Harris

The statewide school patrol training camp to be opened next month by the American Legion, with the co-operation of the state highway department and other governmental agencies, should prove a constructive piece of traffic safety work.

At this camp it is proposed to give a free week of vacation activities to two boys from every school patrol in Minnesota. While enjoying themselves at Big Lake in Beltrami county, the youngsters will also receive a course in traffic safety methods from officers of the state highway patrol. They will be taught uniform, effective methods of helping get thousands of school children back and forth to school with the least hazard from motor vehicles on the highways and streets.

Minnesota's experience with the school patrol system has proved it is successful in saving lives, both in the city and rural districts. The training camp should increase the efficiency of the patrols and at the same time provide vacation reward for boys who win places in the school. Financing will be handled by the Legion and co-operating civic groups. The instruction in patrol work will be supervised by the highway department through its highway patrol.

The proposed constitutional amendment introduced in the Senate by Elmer A. Benson curbing the power of the Supreme Court, declaring unconstitutional legislation of social and economic import, will perhaps now be the rallying point for liberals throughout the nation. With the Supreme Court's decision nullifying New York State's minimum wage law, the reactionaries of that court have thrown down the gauntlet to all those who believe in progressive government.

If the challenge is not accepted now, real progress and democracy in America is dead. The National Administration, which has failed to take a positive stand against the Supreme Court in decision after decision nullified virtually every progressive measure the administration succeeded in putting on the statute books, must now take a stand. If it fails, it will have forgotten "Forgotten Men" that our president talks so much about. From all parts of the country comes evidence that liberals are at last aroused to a fighting pitch over the autocratic powers the Supreme Court has usurped. The battle on the court can no longer be delayed.

The Benson proposal would give Congress power to pass laws without court interference limiting child labor; regulating working conditions in industry, regulating agricultural and industrial production; providing security against old age and unemployment and sickness, and providing for government ownership of monopolistic industries and banking, except independent banks whose stock is locally owned and who are financing independent merchants and farmers. Here is a specific program for liberals to campaign on, a discouraged public will render thanks.

To train Twin Cities trade unionists into more active and more valuable organization men, labor summer schools will be held in both cities this summer for the first time. The schools will be held in St. Paul from June 18 to July 18, and in Minneapolis from August 3 to August 29.

Students will be delegates sent by their respective trade unions, and will study labor history and labor economics with a local slant, how to act as chairmen at meetings, how to take minutes, how to speak effectively, how committees function, how to read communications, and how to make reports. The schools are sponsored by trade union conferences on workers' education, which were called this spring by the educational committees of the St. Paul Trades and Labor Assembly and the Minneapolis Central Labor Union.

The calling of a convention to launch a National Farmer Labor Party in 1936 now rests largely with the Minnesota Farmer Labor Association. The State Central Committee of the association, with the aid of an advisory council of twenty-five liberal leaders from various parts of the country, are given the job of preparing the ground work for such a convention, and calling it if it to them seems feasible.

This, in effect, were conclusions reached and the action taken by the conference of liberals held in Chicago recently. This conference was called by the Minnesota group for the purpose of exploring the possibilities of launching a National Farmer Labor Party in 1936, with limitations, however, that no presidential ticket would be placed in the field to oppose Roosevelt. Such a party, if launched, would confine all its efforts towards developing and strengthening local Farmer-Labor parties, and campaign for local and congressional candidates.

It is rather strange that some of the large news gathering agencies carried a story to the effect that the Chicago conference collapsed because it was determined not to put a presidential ticket in the field in 1936, despite the announced fact that this very limitation was imposed upon the conference before it was called.

The conference was productive of very material contributions towards making possible a 1936 Farmer-Labor Party. The Minnesota group, together with the advisory council named by the convention, will spend the next two months contacting various groups and organizations interested in the establishment of a real peoples' government in America in the hopes that these important groups of liberals will present a united front and join in the calling of a convention.

The chances of success in that direction are very great. If the Chicago conference brought out one thing it was that the liberals throughout the country see in a National Farmer-Labor movement, backed up by a united front of all liberals, an effective barrier to the establishment of a fascist dictatorship in this country. The Black Legion has served as an object lesson; it has very significant political implications. These liberals realize that if nothing is done by way of effecting a united front against the dark forces of reaction and fascism, it may be too late to start in 1940.

Seven Steps Suggested to Chick Producers

Seven simple sensible steps in growing young chicks into productive pullets and profitable broilers are given by W. A. Billings and Cora Cooke of the Minnesota agricultural extension service in a folder just published at University Farm, St. Paul.

The suggestions given will help chick raisers to control tuberculosis, reduce losses from worms and coccidiosis, produce early laying pullets and increase profits from their flocks. Directions are given for making a good home-mixed chick ration, including both scratch feed and mash, and the standard ration for egg production is also included. This folder carries the number 21 and the title, "Healthy Chicks Make Hearty Hens." Copies are free from county agents, high school agriculture instructors or the Bulletin Office, University Farm, St. Paul.

NEW DIVISION HEAD NAMED AT UNIVERSITY

Director of Adult Education Project Will be Dr. Harold Benjamin

A man who has seen all sides of life, done hard work in out of the way places, served in the army, overseas and on the Mexican border, and completed his education after the war before becoming a faculty member of Stanford and then at Minnesota, has been chosen as director of the University of Minnesota's Adult Education project, for which a building is now being erected.

He is Dr. Harold Benjamin, now assistant dean of the College of Education, who in five years at Minnesota has formed wide acquaintances throughout the state and is respected by all groups with whom he has come in contact.

The Adult Education project, which will probably be renamed by then to avoid confusion with other activities of a somewhat similar nature, will be started in the fall when the new building has been completed. In broad outline it will endeavor to carry "continuation" education to professional, vocational and business groups that will be brought to the campus for intensive courses of study in the latest developments in their fields.

At the same meeting at which Benjamin was chosen Dr. Alvin C. Eurich, acting assistant to President Coffman, was named assistant dean of education to succeed Dr. Benjamin.

Four men were named to aid Dean Samuel C. Lind in the administration of the newly concentrated Institute of Technology. In its four major divisions his administrative assistants will be: Architecture, Roy C. Jones, acting head; engineering, Lorenz G. Straub; chemistry, Lee Irvin Smith, and Mines and Metallurgy, Elting F. Comstock. All are present members of the staff. As administrative assistant to Dr. Harold S. Diehl, dean of medical sciences, Dr. Charles D. Creevy was named. He is also on the faculty at present.

Red Lake Falls Liquor Truck Held up in a Daylight Robbery Again

The Municipal Red Lake Falls Liquor Supply truck was held up and robbed of $3,000 worth of liquor for the second time in the past two months. This time the hi-jacking party took place near Big Lake only a short ways from Minneapolis. Usually the liquor laden truck is accompanied by a highway patrolman from the cities to Red Lake Falls, but this time the truck was unattended. The cargo that was hi-jacked was fully covered by insurance. All future shipments, which will be brought up by an armored truck equipped with armed guard, bullet-proof glass, tear gas bombs, automatic sirens and other devices, will also be insured.

101 YEAR OLD CLOCK IS SERVING 4TH GENERATION

Chaska.—The rhythmic tick-tock of what truly might be termed a "great-grandfather's clock" is being heard today in the home of P. T. Robinson at Chaska. The clock, which is still serving efficiently a fourth generation in the Robinson home is 101 years old. It was purchased by a Pennsylvania Dutchman in 1835 and some time later during the opening up of the west was carried by covered wagon to Illinois. After some years in Springfield, Ill., the veteran timepiece was brought to Chaska. Of hand carved design, the clock has no springs. It is operated by weights.

Everyday use of the telephone by American children would seem strange to boys and girls of Europe—where in proportion to population there are only one-sixth as many telephones and one-ninth as many telephone calls.

Americans use telephone service more than the people of any other country. Service in the United States sets the world's standard for high quality at low charges for the service provided.

This Company is better able to meet your needs for telephone service because it has back of it the national resources of the Bell System. One important benefit is the research and development work which is done by the Bell Telephone Laboratories for this Company and other Associated Companies of the Bell System.

Year after year improvements worked out in the Bell Laboratories have made service better without increasing its cost. In helping to make possible the American telephone service you know today, the Laboratories have contributed many times what it costs to operate them.

Research work is done far better and cheaper by the Bell Laboratories for all the Bell Companies than would be possible should each company undertake to do it itself.

RUNNER KNOCKS PLAYER OUT; BALL BREAKS JAW

Howard Lake.—Insult and more injury was added to injury to "Stub" Massey, second baseman on the Howard Lake baseball team, in a game at Darwin recently. A runner coming from first base struck him in the side with his fist, breaking one of his ribs and knocking him out. As "Stub" was falling after being struck, the catcher threw the ball to him and struck him on the chin, breaking the jaw bone, knocking out three teeth and shoving the three molars back under the tongue where the tongue cord was cut. Massey's jaw bone was wired into place, and the next day went back to school for two state board examinations, but the strain was too much for him and he developed a high fever, which forced him to bed for a few days.

—for—
COUNTY COMMISSIONER
Third District, Pennington County
at the Primary Election, on June 15th

If nominated and elected your county commissioner I shall at all times strive for efficient and economical government of county affairs.

I believe in making the required expenditures for necessary improvements, but I am opposed to unnecessary and extravagant spending of public money. I believe we should try to bring the county on a cash basis.

ANDIE PETERSON
For Representative 65th District
Primary Election June 15th

In soliciting your vote at the coming Primary Election, I pledge myself to the following platform:

I take it for granted that you believe taxes are too high and that an effort should be made to decrease them.

I believe that state and local government should be conducted on a "cash-basis."

I believe there should be a uniform accounting system to give definite knowledge of every financial transaction in government so that all citizens will know what becomes of their tax money.

I believe in a local finance plan where local citizens must be given a hearing on all proposed tax levies and all bond issues before they are made.

I believe there should be sufficient debt restraints for all units to guard against financial distress.

I believe that local government should have other tax sources in addition to real estate and personal property; and these two sources be used exclusively for local government support.

I believe that revenue from the State Income Tax should continue to go toward school debts, school costs, and relief of real estate taxes.

I believe a certain amount of money must be raised by taxes for social security, relief of real estate, and emergency legislation.

I believe in the conservation and preservation of our natural resources, which include our forests, lakes, game and fish.

I believe in a legislative program providing better social and economic conditions for the farmer, the laborer and the businessman alike, as each must necessarily hinge upon the other for the best interests of all.

COMMISSIONER RACE FEATURES PRIMARY HERE

A. B. Mandt and Frank Race Eliminate O. G. Lee in First District

SMALL VOTE IS CAST IN THIEF RIVER FALLS

Floyd Olson Leads in County Balloting on the State Ticket

A lack of interest featured the primary election Monday so far as the city of Thief River Falls was concerned, less than half the normal vote being recorded at the polls. In the rural districts, however, particularly in the first commissioner district, the outcome was exceedingly close, the voters in that district eliminating O. G. Lee, incumbent, from the fall election by a small margin.

The leading candidate in the first district was A. B. Mandt with 180 votes. He will fight it out for the office in the fall with Frank Race, former commissioner, who received 161 votes, followed by Chris Norbeck with 154, Mr. Lee, 148; J. V. Hoffman, 140; and Ole A. Olson, 51.

In the third district Paul Roy, incumbent, received 275 votes, more than the total of his three opponents. He will be opposed in the fall by Ole Skaar, who with 114 votes nosed out John Scholin by four votes.

In the contest for representative from the 65th district, J. O. Melby, W. E. Day, Marius Waldal and George P. Jones led both Pennington county and the district in the order named, and all four will be on the ticket in the fall. Andie Peterson and E. C. Baumann, Bagley Communist, having been eliminated.

Of the candidates on the state ticket Floyd B. Olson, aspirant for the United States senatorship, as usual proved to be the best vote getter in this county, piling up 1195 votes, compared to 825 for Theodore Christianson, who defeated Mrs. Thomas D. Schall for the Republican nomination for the senate post. Patrick J. Delaney led for the Democratic nomination for the office with 189 votes to 81 for Beldin Loftsgaarden.

In the governorship race in Pennington county, Elmer A. Benson eliminated Magnus Johnson for the Farmer-Labor nomination by 907 votes to 326, while Martin A. Nelson, seeking the Republican nomination, was given 607 votes to 66 for A. B. Gilbert.

Hjalmer Peterson got a strong endorsement for the Farmer-Labor nomination for railroad and warehouse commissioner with 990 votes to 238 for Charles J. Johnson. On the Republican ticket Arthur E. Nelson was the favored candidate for lieutenant governor, while Oscar F. Youngdahl led by a good margin for attorney general, and Ole O. Sageng led for ninth district congressman with 290 votes to 248 for Elmer A. Haugen and 92 for C. J. Wittbecker.

QUESTIONNAIRE ON TAXES IS TOPIC AT CIVIC GROUP MEET

Sentiment Against Lowering Income Tax Exemption Is Revealed

An informal ballot taken at the Civic and Commerce association luncheon last Thursday in response to a questionnaire from the Minnesota tax commission revealed a majority of sentiment of those present against reducing the present income tax exemption, to $1,000 for married persons and $500 for single persons.

A majority of those voting favored a $3 tax on every person over the age of 21 to be used to reduce other levies, and favored payment of a direct tax by all adults as a means of making them more tax conscious and more careful in voting on bond issues. The ballot followed a report by Dr. Edward Bratrud of the association's legislative committee.

Brief talks were given at the luncheon by Dr. H. W. Froehlich of Minneapolis, Dreng Bjornaraa, Arne Peterson and H. M. Bennett. F. A. Rinkel reported that the highway department had agreed to blade the road leading into the Red Lake narrows twice a week for the remainder of the summer.

160 County Veterans Receive Bonus Bonds

Sixty Men Cash $25,000 in Bonds up to Wednesday Morning

Bonus bonds for 160 veterans, approximately half the number of eligible residents of Pennington county, arrived at the local postoffice Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and most of them were promptly delivered to their happy recipients.

Postmaster Andrew Anderson announced today that a window will remain open at the postoffice Sunday morning, from 9 until 1 o'clock to deliver bonus payments to veterans living in this community but at present working outside the city.

That a majority of the bonds will be promptly cashed is revealed by the fact that up to Wednesday morning 62 veterans had brought into the postoffice $25,000 in bonds to have them certified for payment. A considerable number, however, are cashing only a portion of their bonds at this time.

The average veteran received approximately $550. Individual payments ranged as low as a few dollars and as high as $1,500, depending on length of service and whether the veteran had borrowed on his adjusted service certificate.

A large portion of the tremendous bonus outlay was expected to find its way immediately into the nation's trade channels. Treasury, post office, veterans administration and veterans' organization officials have urged veterans to hold their bonds as investments, but there are back debts to be paid, automobiles to be bought, homes to be furnished and redecorated, and children to be educated.

STATE MEETING OF FARMERS UNION IN THIS CITY MONDAY

Heads of Several Cooperative Groups Will be Speakers

Delegates and other members of the Farmer's Union from all parts of the state will attend the convention of the Minnesota Farmer's Union in this city next Monday, June 22. Among the leaders who will be present and who will speak to the convention are M. W. Thatcher, head of the National Grain Corporation; Charles D. Egley, manager of the Farmer's Union Livestock Exchange at South St. Paul; Robert Miller, president and J. Howard Anderson, secretary, of the Minnesota Farmers Union.

The business session will start at ten o'clock in the forenoon and continue until noon, and from two o'clock to six o'clock. At eight a special junior program will be featured.

The convention is called for the purpose of deciding the matter of changing the name of the organization, or fighting in the courts against an injunction issued to restrain them from using it, brought by the Farmers Cooperative and Educational Union of America, Minnesota Division. The injunction is the culmination of a fight that started several years ago when there was a disagreement in the organization of the cooperative activities which the Farmers Union conducted at South St. Paul and other points.

The Minnesota Farmers Union, although not affiliated or a part of the Farmers Cooperative and Educational Union, are cooperating with the Montana, North Dakota, and Wisconsin divisions of the National Union in the conduct of cooperative enterprises—Farmers Union oil, Livestock, grain and similar associations.

Local members of the organization in charge of arrangements for the meeting here are Otto Rehm, president of the Kratka local; Isaac Wilson, Thomas Bjerke and Gordon Olson.

130 TAKING PART IN TINDOLPH PARK SWIMMING COURSE

New Schedule of Classes Is Announced by Donald Chalmers

A total of 87 beginners and 45 swimmers have enrolled to date in the swimming and life saving classes sponsored at the Tindolph park pool by the local chapter of the American Red Cross, Donald Chalmers, instructor, announced today. He added that classes will be organized to take care of everyone who wishes to enroll.

Beginners' classes, which are held in the afternoon, will go on a new schedule effective today, as follows: 1:30, "Crabs", 2 o'clock, "Tadpoles", 2:30, "Turtles", 3 o'clock, "Bullheads", 3:30, "Mudhens". Lifesaving classes will be conducted at 4 o'clock.

The classes have water safety as their objective, Mr. Chalmers explained. Beginners are classified as "sinkers" until they are able to jump confidently into deep water, swim out 25 feet, turn and swim back. The average person, child or adult, can successfully pass the beginners' test in six or eight lessons, he added, and may thus overcome any fear he may have of the water.

It looks at the present time as though the membership will exceed one hundred. STANTON DAHLEN, VICTORIA EDBERG MARRIED JUNE 12

Ceremony Takes Place at the Rush Lake Lutheran Church

June twelfth, the day chosen by Victoria Edberg for her marriage to Stanton R. Dahlen, was especially significant in that it was also the anniversary of the marriage of the groom's parents.

The Reverend Reuben H. Ford officiated at the ceremony which took place at the Rush Lake Lutheran church at 4 o'clock, before an altar decorated with snowballs, white peonies and iris in tall baskets. The pews were set off by white bands with a bouquet of iris and ferns at each post.

Before the ceremony, Mrs. C. A. Dahlen of Fort Snelling played a program of nuptial music on the piano and also played softly as the vows were being exchanged. Lohengrin's Wedding March and the recessional from "Mid Summer Night's Dream" were played by Mrs. Charles Wilson of Rush City who presided at the organ. As the bridal couple, having exchanged vows, knelt at the altar, Miss Glenys Colin, accompanied by Mrs. Elmer Fredin, sang "I Love You Truly".

Immediately after the bride's mother had been ushered to her place, the bridal procession began, with the flower girl, little Kathryn Marie Yorachek of Thief River Falls, in a beruffled frock of sheer blue over pink, coming first to open the white gates under a bell-hung arch at the front of the church.

Adele Jewell of Duluth, as her aunt's junior bridesmaid, wore a delicate blue embroidered chiffon organdie with a small cape which formed the sleeves and edged the decolletage in back. The ribbon sash was pink and she carried a bouquet of pink and white sweet peas tied with a large pink bow.

Roane Dahlen of Thief River Falls, as bridesmaid wore a gown of deeper blue, with a ruffled cape forming a high neckline. Her flowers were yellow roses and snapdragons with a harmonizing chiffon bow.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Earl Ecklund of St. Peter, was the matron of honor. Fashioned of yellow mousseline de soie, her gown was fitted to below the knees where the skirt flared out softly. The only trimming was the cording on the skirt and short puffed sleeves. She carried talisman roses and salmon colored snapdragons. Each attendant wore a cluster of flowers in her hair.

The bride entered alone in a gown of white mousseline-de soie with a bateau neckline and picturesque puffed sleeves that were tightly buttoned from elbow to wrist. A long train fell from the waistline in back. Her full length veil was part of the finery worn by Mrs. Elmer Fredin at her wedding. Calla lilies formed the bride's arm bouquet.

Lieutenant C. A. Dahlen of Fort Snelling acted as his brother's best man. Messrs. Earl Ecklund and Myron Edberg were the ushers.

In the receiving line at the reception in the church parlors were the bride and groom and the two mothers. The bride's mother was gowned in navy and white net over navy taffeta. The groom's mother wore an ashes of roses crepe. Both had shoulder corsages of pastel [illegible].

For the wedding trip to Canada [illegible] the bride [illegible] with [illegible] violet and purple.

News and Comment
By R. W. Hitchcock

The Minnesota Misleader, official organ of the farmer-labor state administration and organization, in its issue of June 6th explains how the election of farmer-labor endorsed judges in Hennepin County will make for "court reform", will bring about a "judicial new deal", "speed up justice" and will otherwise make everything hunkey dorey in this rather imperfect world. All the changes are rung on that seductive phrase "human rights vs. property rights" which always does duty in the Misleader's arguments, and there is a final deft stirring of prejudice with such shop-worn phrases as, "administering justice for all the people" and "perpetuating special privileges for vested interests."

Charlie Munn, member of the railroad and warehouse commission, who is not quite so smooth spoken, stated it rather more bluntly when, at Slayton, October 8, 1934, he demanded "courts that will render the decisions we ask for."

In April shipments of Canadian beef cattle thru St. Paul had increased 28 per cent under the new reciprocal trade treaty.

In May the prices for beef cattle had substantially increased in Toronto over November, 1935, when the treaty was signed, and substantially decreased in St. Paul for the same period.

From January 1, this year to May 28, the total import of Canadian beef cattle into this country was 93,518 as against 69,955 for the same period last year, an increase of a little more than 33 per cent. The importation of calves for the same period was 13,352 as against 1,529 for the like period of 1935, an increase of 772 per cent.

A good many years ago Alexander Ramsey thought up something that is today paying $12,500 every day into a fund to be used for the education of Minnesota children. An income of $12,500 every day is a nifty income; the man who thought it up is a public benefactor.

Last year a man in Washington thought up schemes which resulted in spending $18,000 of public funds every minute. That's very different but quite a lot of people think this man is a benefactor, too. One sometimes wonders what unborn children who will have to pay for this spending will think of this man.

Congress at its last session appropriated $9,948,270,000, which represents a spending of more than $27,000,000 per day, over $18,000 per minute, $300 every second.

Here in Minnesota and elsewhere thruout the nation, there are candidates for public office who try to get your vote and mine by saying, "What does it matter; we can get it all back by soaking the rich".

If the government should confiscate all the net income of every corporation in this country, the proceeds would not be sufficient to pay one-half of the expenses of the federal government, leaving absolutely nothing that the states could raise from the income tax upon corporations.

The income tax is today paying only 7 per cent of the federal government's expenses, 14 per cent is paid by hidden taxes, and 19 per cent we are leaving to future generations to pay with interest.

The farmer-labor organization in Minnesota is opposing Constitutional Amendment No. 2 which will forbid the levying of a state tax on real and personal property after January 1, 1937, because they say that it means a sales tax. They don't want a sales tax because it would bear heavily upon the poor man—namely $8.40 per year under the Omnibus Bill of 1935, according to the Kansas Research Council for a man whose income is $1,000 per year. Yet the farmer-labor organization in Minnesota is not at all concerned over the fact that the man with a $1,000 income now pays over $90 per year in hidden sales taxes. The sales taxes they can push over on the poor man when he isn't looking do not worry them.

"I know one thing about the sales tax", said Governor Olson. "It isn't popular." The farmer-labor organization in Minnesota is afraid that if the poor man had to pay $8.40 in sales taxes in a year, he might not vote the farmer-labor ticket. If the poor man knew that guys like them were making him pay $90 a year in sales taxes right now the farmer-labor administration would not get enough votes for its hand-picked ticket next November ever again to entitle it to a place on the ballot.

Thirty years ago the Minnesota State Capitol, generally regarded as the most beautiful state capital in America, was completed and occupied. Such a building requires extensive repair maintenance and various legislatures have appropriated considerable sums for that purpose. With the coming of WPA however, Capitol Custodian L. A. Johnson seized the opportunity to completely overhaul the building, the state furnishing a modest amount of materials and WPA supplying several hundred thousan dollars for labor. The work has been under way of two years. The total cost when the work is finished will exceed $400,000.

Among the notable accomplishments for this great expenditure is the stopping of serious leaks for wind and water thereby materially reducing the cost of heating and building, the lowering of floors in the sub-basement which, together with new excavations, afford much needed additional storage space, the construction of several floors of new book stacks in the historical building, the installation of new driveways, etc.

The project completed June 1 after two and a half months of work is the repair and washing of the capitol dome at a cost to the state of materials of $2,500 and to the federal government for labor of $11,400. To wash and repair the inside of the dome required a scaffold 60 feet across and 140 feet high in which 55,000 board feet of lumber were used; the total cost of erecting and dismantling the scaffold was $3300. The actual washing and painting cost $225 for materials and $5,049 for labor.

Much of the success of the extensive two year repair job has been due to the painstaking supervision of the capitol custodian, L. A. Johnson. By dint of good management Mr. Johnson has been able to secure the materials furnished by the state from savings out of his regular appropriations for maintenance.

School Patrol Free Camp Will Be Opened July 19

July 19 has been selected tentatively as the opening date for Minnesota's first state encampment for school patrol boys, according to an announcement by Harold N. Rogers, state commander of the American Legion.

So far as has been ascertained, this will be the first statewide school patrol camp ever held in America. The camp will be managed and financed by the American Legion, while the training course for patrol boys will be given by the state highway department, with members of the highway patrol acting as instructors.

The camp offers a free week of vacation at Big Lake in Beltrami county, in the Bemidji district, for two boys from every school patrol in Minnesota. Public and parochial school authorities have been asked by the Legion to pick two boys from each patrol who will be back in school next fall. The Legion and co-operating organization will pay for the boys' expenses and provide transportation. Schools without patrols may send two boys to camp and form a patrol at the next term. The camp will accommodate 200 boys at a time, and will operate for several weeks. Each group of boys will be in camp for one week.

Capitol News Review

By A. I. Harris

If the plan of certain relief agencies to take war veterans now on relief off relief rolls when they receive their bonus is carried out it will be tantamount to telling war veterans who are out of work that they shall receive no benefit whatever from the bonus the government has given them.

At this writing an effort is being made in Minneapolis to take war veterans off the relief line if they receive adjusted service certificates in excess of $300. Veterans who are receiving a bonus have received notice from the Executive Council, War Veterans Relief Agency, that they will receive no further relief orders because of that fact.

If this is carried out it will be in conflict with the true spirit of the bonus, the benefits of which are to accrue to all veterans regardless of their economic status as a reward for the service they rendered to a thankful government. The bonus for the ex-service man who is out of work then becomes a mere mockery.

While in St. Paul over the last weekend, Senator Benson called attention to the menace the Black Legion and kindred organizations represent not only to liberal and progressive movements, but to the democratic form of government.

The Senator pointed very significantly to the fact that it would have been impossible for the Black Legion to have operated in Michigan over a period of four or five years, carrying on its campaign of pillage and fire and murder, without some sort of acquiescence on the part of the duly constituted authorities.

And he sounded the following warning: "To me the growth of organizations like the Black Legion is a warning to Americans of the impending danger of fascism in this country. The Republican party of Michigan might disclaim the Wolverine Republican Club where the Black Legion held its meetings, but the Black Legion and other kindred organizations will not disclaim the Republican party. Return the government of America back to the reactionary politicians and Black Legions and Silver Shirts and Christian Sentinels and other secret fascists organizations will spring up in this country over night in numbers that will be confounding.

"A united front of all liberals and progressives is needed today more than at any time in our entire history. We must protect human liberty—not the kind of human liberty that the Republican convention keynoter had in mind the other day, but the kind of human liberty that the fathers fought and died for, the human liberty that was made the foundation stone of our American form of government."

Addressing a meeting at Rochester, Attorney General Harry H. Peterson pointed out that the return of the Republican party to power in Minnesota would put an end to telephone rate reductions and regulations of public utilities in this state.

He referred particularly to the 25% reduction in telephone rates ordered by the state Railroad and Warehouse Commission in the St. Paul area, and said that further reduction of telephone rates in other parts of the state could be expected with continuance of a Farmer-Labor program.

Liberals of Minnesota, as liberals elsewhere, undoubtedly received considerable amusement from Herbert Hoover's appeal for a "Holy crusade for liberty," and Senator Frederick Steiwer's clarion call to the assembled Republicans gathered in convention in Cleveland; "There are no party lines when human liberty is at stake."

Are these gentlemen asking the Republican party of today to forsake its principles of the past five decades and assume a role it has held in utter contempt? Are they asking the Republican party to shed the skin of conservatism and to pose as liberals?

That is hardly likely. They have probably discovered that the old catch-words have lost their magnetism, and that they must go into the enemy's camp and steal his thunder. The party is going to continue to be the party of Wall Street, of Mellon, of Harding, Teapot Dome, Coolidge, Hoover, the United States Chamber of Commerce, U. S. Steele Corporation, oil, monopoly, and not return again to the party of Abraham Lincoln. They have vilified the things that Abraham Lincoln has stood for in government to such an extent that a return to the ideals of the Great Emancipator is impossible.

How Far Paint Goes

One gallon of good paint, as it is usually applied to wood, will cover an average area of about 500 square feet with one coat, or 250 to 300 square feet with two coats.

Minnesota Farms Plan Wide Use of Electricity

Here's how Minnesota farmers plan to use the electricity they obtain through the REA program: 95 per cent will do the family wash with electricity, 88 per cent will iron with electricity, and [illegible] per cent will have radios. Other uses to be made of electricity are as follows: electric stoves, 20 per cent; pumping water, 50; cream separators, 60; milking machines, 25; refrigerators, 55; feed grinders, 33 per cent. An average of 24 lights per farm also were indicated in hundreds of survey blanks, according to L. P. Zimmerman, rural electrification specialist of the agricultural extension service, University Farm.

Interest in rural electrification is at a high pitch in Minnesota, 60 cooperative electrical associations having been organized by the State Department of Agriculture, Dairy and Food. Some 40 loan applications have been submitted to the REA at Washington. In four counties, Meeker, Faribault, McLeod, and Aitkin, construction work on lines and wiring of buildings has been started or will be in the next few months.

Middle Class Homes Yield Best Children, Medical Group Says

What kinds of homes do the "superior" children come from? The Public Health Education Committee of the Minnesota State Medical Association cites findings of the Harvard Psycho-Educational Clinic in a study that was begun in 1921 and recently concluded to show that the largest percentage of superior children do not come from the upper classes, so-called.

The best children, on the contrary, come from the middle section of the population and many of them are from that special section that is obliged to worry and contrive and wonder about where the next pair of shoes is coming from.

Some 3200 children from all kinds and conditions of homes were used for the study and the percentage of children to be proud of from homes of luxury was declared to be small.

The physical and mental health of children is not improved by luxury according to the physicians. Every doctor is familiar with the under-nourished, under-developed children of wealth, many of whom are as much in need of help as his poorest patients.

The essentials to good physical and mental development in children are comparatively few and simple. They need plenty of good food, plenty of sleep, medical supervision and considerable judicious letting alone so that they may learn to work out their own problems and stand on their own sturdy feet. Too many luxuries, too little responsibility usually hinder rather than help.

A sound appreciation of the value of a good pair of shoes and of the necessity for earning such expensive extras as a good "bike" is obviously not unwholesome for the growing child.

NOT A DIFFICULT PROBLEM

A personal inspection of Red Lake and the Red Lake River by members of the state planning board and engineers interested in the development of streams in the Red River basin, confirmed the opinion of these visitors to our city Saturday that to provide a dependable flow of water in the Red Lake River is a comparatively simple engineering problem. They seemed to agree that a satisfactory solution would be found by a reasonable agreement with the Indians providing for a steady flow of water at the outlet of Red Lake and a channel that would move the water rapidly through the flat country above Highlanding. They seemed surprised that the people of Thief River Falls and other communities along the river had not been more aggressive in their efforts to obtain such a flow of water, which they were convinced would not materially effect the level of the lake, and the cost of improving the channel, they stated, probably would have been justified from the standpoint of water power alone.

What the result of this effort of the planning board to improve the rivers in this section of the state will be is still uncertain. If their program is favorably received by the authorities of this and neighboring states, early action on a comprehensive development plan can be expected. The preliminary work has already received national recognition. Final disposition of the project probably will depend largely on the interest taken by the people of the communities that would benefit by the development. Once the residents of the Red River Valley realize the importance of united support there should be no difficulty in getting concerted action.

Our previous experience with engineers who have prescribed visionary remedies for the local water situation had left us in a frankly skeptical mood as to the value of the present activities of the state planning board. Our brief contact with the members of the party who visited here Saturday, however, convinced us that the solution to the problem that will be recommended by this board will be a practical one.

TWO BILLION DOLLARS

As a business "pump primer", the two billion dollars that started flowing from the federal treasury this week in final settlement of veterans' adjusted service certificates should have far reaching effects. A large portion of this huge sum will undoubtedly be released immediately into the channels of commerce.

Two billion dollars is a lot of money. Two billion silver dollars, laid side by side, would reach twice around the earth, according to the United States News, which, by way of further comparison, points out that it is more than the total of all wages and salaries paid by the railroads in 1935. Minnesota is one of four states west of the Mississippi that will receive more than fifty million dollars of this money, the other three states being Missouri, Texas and California. The state of New York will receive more than two hundred million.

That the distribution of so much money in so short a time will prove to be an important stimulant to recovery is generally conceded. This money, for a while at least, will circulate rapidly. Eventually it will have to be withdrawn from circulation again in the form of taxes. It is to be hoped that in the meantime it will have helped create sufficient prosperity so that the collection of the inevitable taxes will not prove painful.

THE FIGHT IS ON

Alf Landon and Frank Knox, two Theodore Roosevelt Republicans, will lead the fight against President Franklin D. Roosevelt and the Democratic party in the coming election. The Republicans have chosen wisely. Under the leadership of these westerners the party will poll its maximum party strength. The result of the election will be determined by the independent voters, that large group that classifies neither as Republican nor Democrat. It is to this large group that the campaign appeals will be made during the next four months.

From the standpoint of party harmony the Republicans enjoy a distinct advantage at this time. They will present a united front. In this respect the Democratic leadership is less fortunate. There is dissension in the ranks. Many of the party stalwarts are on the verge of open revolt. The party itself is on the defensive and is openly criticised by many of its own members for the wasteful manner in which public funds have been handled.

Several important factors, however, favor the Democrats. General conditions are improved. While recovery has not been as rapid in this country during the past three years as in other countries of the world, yet there has been recovery and the Democrats will claim credit for what recovery there has been. Another thing in favor of the Democrats is the fact that up to the present time spending has been financed by borrowing. The burden of record breaking expenditures has not yet been shifted to the shoulders of the taxpayer. This will come later, but not until after election.

That the campaign will be a red hot fight is certain. Jim Farley, Democratic whip, is a political ring master of the old school. Trained in the school of New York politics, he has proven himself an able field general. His opponent will be a young fellow, John Hamilton, from down in Kansas, probably lacking in experience, but judging from his nominating speech in the Republican convention he is going to give Farley a few things to worry about. Here is a sample of what he said in that speech:

> Through three and one-half years we have heard much talk of emergency. Emergency has been advanced as an argument for the breaking of campaign pledges, for a reckless spending of public funds, for the creation of a bureaucracy, for the appointment of public officials for reasons of personal loyalty rather than merit, and for a bewildering succession of inconsistent and impracticable measures which have retarded recovery and created uncertainty.
>
> Yet Governor Landon was elected to his office at the same time that the New Deal administration was elected to power. He faced in his capacity as a state executive emergencies of the same kind that confronted the national executive. He faced also the same question of whether he should in that emergency break the pledges he had made in his campaign, or whether he should keep those pledges. The answers given by the new President and the new Governor were different and they were in character. For, as we have seen from the public record of the two of them, their characters were different.
>
> There is nothing easier than to break a contract, once you have convinced yourself that contracts can be broken. There is nothing easier than telling a half-truth to cover that broken contract, once you have decided that truth is out of style. There is nothing easier than to promise all things to all men when your conscience is sufficiently elastic. There is nothing easier than to take any means at hand to secure votes, once you have decided that you value votes more than your own self-respect. There is nothing easier than spending money you do not have to pay, and it is easy and amusing to indict and condemn the motives of your opponents, when you have lost your sense of proportion and have become convinced that you and you alone are indispensable to the people.
>
> Adoption of the policies that have ruled in Washington for the last four years would have been just as easy in Kansas. Except for one thing—that Governor Landon had not seen fit to take the first steps toward unreliability. His answer to emergency was different. He decided that even if citizens were losing confidence in all else around them, at least they would not have cause to lose confidence in their new governor.
>
> He promised economy; he gave economy. He promised co-operation with the legislature, he co-operated with the legislature. He promised appointments on the basis of merit and he made his appointments on that basis. He swore to uphold the Constitution and he upheld it, for to him the Constitution was not an obstacle to be circumvented but a tool to be rightly used. He avoided personal abuse in his campaign, he avoided it in his administration, and in that administration neither deceit nor malice have had a place. In his personality there is neither intolerance nor egotism. He has never been removed from the body of the common people and I predict that no honor will ever so remove him. He has been, and is, simply and plainly, one of the ordinary folk of this country and his conception of his duty in any public place will be to be the servant of all and the master of none.

RUSSIA TO THE RIGHT

Communist Russia continues its drift to the right and now is about to become a "Soviet democracy", operating under a constitution which will provide for a two body parliament which may initiate legislation, universal suffrage, the secret ballot, and guarantees certain protection for private property, freedom of speech, the press and religion. The proposed constitution, prepared under the direction of Dictator Stalin himself, will be presented to the All-Union Congress of Soviets in November. If the present tendency in the two countries continues, Russia will soon be more American than America.

A LOUD VOICED MINORITY
(Minnesota Mascot)

The University of Minnesota has been receiving considerable publicity of late because of efforts of a Communist club to win official recognition from the authorities. The recognition sought has now been refused and those who have been quick to brand all universities and colleges as breeding places of communism can now rest more easily.

The refusal, however, has lost for them none of their vaunted liberties or minority rights. The ruling handed down by the Committee on Student Affairs, which includes both students and faculty members, has rather given a clearer definition of academic freedom. The committee's ruling is as follows:

"Communism is of interest either academically, for which type of consideration classroom discussion may be organized, or to those who hope to gain personally from Communist agitation and political gestures. In the last named objective there is no reason for the University of Minnesota to take an interest. There is a difference worth considering between the classroom analysis and the extra-curricular promotion of a political theory which is both at odds and at war with American governmental policies and ideals."

In this statement the University is attempting no dictatorship of student thought nor suppression of student activity. It is simply making a clear statement of principles and giving publicity needed radical students to understand that it will not be moved by agitation which tries to achieve its end through apparent insistence on freedom.

The University Communist group is very small in proportion to the total enrollment and its bark is decidedly worse than its bite. For the most part, the students who brand themselves as Communists are more interested in the publicity they will receive than in the help they will give the Communist cause. They present no serious threat to the governmental system which is providing them with a free opportunity to study Communism or any other "ism" they choose.

A CREED FOR GOOD AMERICANS
(Morris Tribune)

On April 3, 1918, William Tyler Page, Republican, clerk of the House of Representatives was handed a $1,000 check for writing a piece "American's Creed," which is still a best seller. Mr. Page spent 20 years reading patriotic documents and when a contest was announced for an American Creed, embodying the hopes, aims, ideals of Americanism, he was ready.

Consisting of 100 words, the Creed is as simple, as dignified, as enlightening, as was the Gettysburg address.

"I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people, whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed, a democracy in a republic, a sovereign nation of many sovereign states, a perfect union, one and inseparable, established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice, and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

"I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it, to support its Constitution, to obey its laws, to respect its flag, and to defend it against all enemies."

GASOLINE TIPS INTO FACE, SPARK PLUG IGNITES IT

Wanger—Burned about the head when gas was thrown into his face and ignited when his hand touched the spark plug of a car, Morris Olson, of Wanger, in Polk county, suffered added pain when he accidently drank some lysol solution to alleviate his thirst. Olson was hauling gasoline with Pete Zahl. The truck became stalled, the gas pipe was disconnected in an attempt to get gas into the carburetor, and Olson with a cup of gasoline in his hand, stood on the running board. As the truck started forward, the hand came into contact with one of the spark plugs, the gasoline meanwhile splashing into his face when he was thrown forward. The gasoline ignited with the electrical connection. The fire was extinguished with water from a nearby ditch, but Olson was rather severly burned and was rushed to a hospital at McIntosh. To climax the situation, he accidently drank the lysol solution while in the hospital. He is recovering from his injuries.

The Eyes of Fish

The eyes of fish are like our own in structure and vision, but with adaptive modifications. Eyelids are absent, so that the eye remains always uncovered. The eyeball has little power of movement; the cornea is flatter and the lens more globular than in the eyes of mammals; and it appears that fish are comparatively near sighted. While in most species the eyes are very large as compared with those of the higher animals, a few have small orbits, or none at all that are visible, and live in darkness as parasites, or under stones, or in cave streams, or in the abysses of the ocean.
